

Acid in Stomach Sours the Food

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion.

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion is nearly always due to acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash, or nausea.

"Cure Your Rupture Like I Cured Mine"

Old Sea Captain Cured His Own Rupture After Doctors Said "Operate or Die."

His Remedy and Book Sent Free. Captain Collins sailed the seas for many years. Then he sustained a bad double rupture that soon forced him to not only remain ashore, but to seek his bedridden for years. He tried doctor after doctor and trust after trust. No result! Finally, he was assured that he must either submit to a dangerous and abortive operation or die. He did neither! He cured himself instead.

"Follow Men and Women, You Don't Have To Be Cut Up, and You Don't Have To Be Tortured By Trusses."

Captain Collins made a study of himself, of his condition—and at last he was rewarded by the finding of the method that so quickly made him a well, strong, vigorous and happy man. Anyone can use this simple method. It's simple, easy, safe and inexpensive. Every ruptured person in the world should have the Captain Collins book, telling all about how he cured himself, and how anyone may follow the same treatment in their own home without any trouble. The book and medicine are FREE. They will be sent prepaid to any ruptured sufferer who will fill out the below coupon. But send it right away—now—before you put down this paper.

Mrs. Esther Wilson, Pioneer Woman, Dead

Mrs. Esther Wilson, aged 84 years, died Monday, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Bryans, 1911 Emmet street. She had not been in good health for some time, but was critically ill only a week.

Mrs. Wilson had been a resident of Omaha since 1871, when she came from Prince Edward Island with her husband, John T. Wilson, who died shortly afterward. Almost from the time she came to Omaha she was an active worker in the United Presbyterian church, being the oldest member in point of membership at the time of her death. She had made her home with her daughter for several years past.

Mrs. Wilson was born at Cornwall, Prince Edward Island, June 2, 1832. Four children, seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren survive her, the former being Mrs. J. A. Bryans, Mrs. L. W. Davalon, Miss Maria Wilson and James A. Wilson, all of Omaha.

Funeral services will be held from the home of her daughter at 1911 Emmet street at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Services at the house will be open for friends, but interment at Prospect Hill cemetery will be private.

SECTION HAND IS SMOOTH CHARACTER

Beats Two Con Men at Their Own Game and Comes Out of Meeting with Roll of Bills.

Is John Cantolia a slicker or a financier? The above question is a problem that various members of the police department are arguing pro and con among themselves. You can figure it out for yourself after perusing the following details:

John is a section hand living at Fifth and Marek streets, who during the course of much pick-welding has saved the sum of $100 in $1 bills. John has heard, so he relates, that there are certain harsh individuals in our midst, who take other people's money by various unslightly means. So John to be safe decided to put his $100 in a bank.

On his way to the depository John paused in several places and while awaiting the activities of the man with the white jacket and copper lined breath, vigorously waved said bills in the faces of parched strangers.

Meets Countrymen. Two fellow countrymen, after conversing in low, soft tones, approached and made John's acquaintance. One could speak only a few words in English, such as "idiosyncrasy, hypothetical, etc." and was further handicapped with large amounts of money, which he wished to deposit for safe keeping to the account of some good, kind friend like John.

As the conversation proceeded, John thought deep thoughts, he excused himself for a moment and hastened from the emporium. A short time elapsed—John returned and negotiations were resumed.

John grew enthusiastic over the trustful simplicity of his acquaintance and once more displayed his 100 dollar bills.

John grew skeptical, did up the bills in his bandanna handkerchief and put it in his inside coat pocket.

John again waxed enthusiastic and drew the kerchief from his pocket (get this, now!), but did not display the bills.

Tied in Another Bandanna. He gave the little bundle to his "friends," at their request, who wrapped the notes belonging to the wealthy gent with the limited vocabulary, around John's waist. This they tied tightly in a new bandanna and gave to John.

John received the package, bade them farewell and started to leave—when suddenly a startling idea struck him—he paused, and turning informed the pair he had forgotten, but would have to have $25 in the bundle for immediate use.

He started to undo it, but was excitedly begged not to take the trouble, his newly made partner offering to lend him the amount as a token of gratitude. John accepted the loan and disappeared.

Several blocks up the street John undid the bundle—torn newspapers fluttered to the ground. John laughed, wearily and from the inside pocket of his coat drew forth the bandanna in which reposed his one hundred dollar bills, while from his outer pocket he brought forth the $25 loan.

In some secluded corner two harsh individuals who take other people's money by various unslightly means, opened their bundle—torn newspapers fluttered to the ground. It is rumored the harsh individuals did not laugh, cleverly.

"Where did you get your education?" inquired the chief of detectives of John. "My kid, he read-a me da pap—" replied John coyly.

Moral: "All is not dough that crackles."

Omaha Thirteenth City in Number of Soldiers Enlisted

Although Omaha has a population smaller than Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Boston, New Orleans, Kansas City, Buffalo, Baltimore, Los Angeles, Seattle and many other large cities, the Great City exceeded all these and many other big cities during the last quarter of 1914 in the number of men enlisted for the army.

Omaha ranks thirteenth largest as an army recruiting station for that period, according to figures just received here from the War department. It ranked in the same class with Minneapolis, Detroit and Pittsburgh and signed up 211 recruits for Uncle Sam's soldier. Although thirteenth in the list, Omaha is no larger than Scranton, Pa., which was listed forty-second. Omaha is much smaller than Baltimore, which ranked only fourth. Salt Lake City had the poorest recruiting record, only fifty-seven men, while San Francisco ranked first, with 1,882, New York and Chicago coming next.

First Lieutenant F. A. Buell, coast artillery corps, is in charge of the Omaha recruiting station, with Recruiting Sergeant Fred M. Hansen and three men under him.
