

WAREHOUSE BILL FOR THIRD READING

Senators Bring Platform Measure Out and Order it Advanced a Peg.

AMENDED BY THE REPUBLICANS

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, March 26.—(Special.)—Although labeled senate file No. 1, the first bill introduced in the senate this session, the public warehouse bill reached the place where it was reported for third reading only this morning. The bill has had and up and down in and out existence so far in the session and today was the subject of a two-hour discussion.

The warehouse measure is a platform pledge of the democratic party, but the original bill was so plainly a substitute introduced simply to meet the pledge, according to Senator Sandall, that it was appointed to draw up another bill as a substitute. The substitute, according to the report, was not much better than the original bill and he offered some amendments which he said would make the bill presentable and assist the democrats to do something for the farmers.

Shumway of Dixon, chairman of the substitute committee, drew up the substitute and was one of the two republicans who voted for the bill this morning, the other being Mallory of Box Butte.

The vote on the motion to advance to third reading was nineteen for and twelve against.

Insurance Not Provided. The chief objection that Sandall urged against the bill was that it failed to provide for insurance by the warehouse man storing the grain for the farmer.

Shumway of Dixon, author of the substitute, pointed out that the bill provided for a bond for the delivery of the grain upon demand and that in the opinion of the committee this bond answered for insurance. It would be safe, as it must have the approval of whom is entrusted the administration of the law.

All Elevators Included. The bill as passed was amended in one important particular. The original substitute excepted from the provisions of the act all elevators at terminal points.

This exception was stricken out and now the elevator holding grain for private parties for a period of longer than fifteen days must file an application with the railway commission to become a public warehouse.

Another amendment makes the warehouse receipts negotiable. Another allows co-operative farmer's companies to secure sites on railroads at a "reasonable" price.

Act is Optional. The act as it stands is optional. The objection entertained by some was that it was merely a "tax" on a warehouse law that would give the farmers no warehouses.

Shumway of Dixon read a letter from J. W. Shorthill of Hampton, secretary of the Farmers' Co-operative Grain and Live-Stock Association, endorsing the law.

Charges Imposed. The charge imposed is as follows: "For the storage of grain for the first fifteen days, when received in carload lots, 1 cent a bushel; when received in wagon lots, 1 1/2 cents a bushel for the first fifteen days; 1-30 of 1 cent per day a bushel for the next thirty days; 1-16 of 1-cent a day per bushel for time thereafter."

As to State Platforms. Just before the vote was taken on the bill Sandall suggested that the next time the democratic party attempted to draw up a platform that it be made like Mother Hubbard's are constructed.

Senator Spink said that he was the president of a farmers' elevator with a membership of 20. He said the bill would force disaster upon his company as at present constructed. "The agricultural committee," said Mr. Spink, "voted down, once, twice, thrice, attempts at a public warehouse bill and then the committee brought out this illegitimate child. A man by the name of Corey, a lawyer and another man said to be the secretary of the democratic state convention appeared before the committee and tried to get the bill through because it was a democratic party pledge."

Deal of Politicians. That plank was slipped into the platform at the midnight hour, when the rank and file of the democratic party knew nothing about it and did not want it. Politicians of the party put it in and now they want it made into a law simply to keep a party together.

Shumway wanted the senate to know what the substitute bill whose letter Shumway had read, did not know what the substitute bill contained and that there was nothing in the substitute bill which Shorthill advocated.

EUGENIC MARRIAGE BILL FINDS FAVOR

House Committee of Whole Takes Favorable Action Upon Such Measure.

SOME TREAT IT AS A JOKE

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Neb., March 26.—(Special Telegram.)—The house went on record just before adjournment this afternoon in favor of eugenic marriages, a fee for examinations of $5, a laboratory fee of $15 in case of a test. The bill will apply to men only, although an amendment was voted to apply to both sexes, but later killed on a motion to reconsider.

Nichols of Madison made a fight to have the fee cut out entirely and when the house refused to do this fought against the bill as not being in the interests of morality. He cited the Wisconsin law, which is similar, and said that it had resulted in common law marriages and in trips to other states which had no such law in order to have the marriage ceremony performed.

Some of the members treated it as a joke, Anderson of Boyd speaking of a fee as a fine for getting married and sending up a motion to cut the fee to 30 cents. The doctors appeared to be for the bill strongly and were able to muster enough votes to have the bill recommended for passage, sixty-nine voting for it and thirty-two voting against it. But the house has shown itself to be a fickle body in some instances, and a resolution for passage does not necessarily mean that it will pass on third reading.

The senate favored a bill of this kind two years ago, but the house was opposed and killed it.

House Kills Bill for New Hog Barn

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Neb., March 26.—(Special Telegram.)—A big change in the vote from committee of the whole when it received 63 votes, was shown on House Roll 183. The bill for $50,000 for a hog barn at the state fair this morning only received 35 favorable votes and was in definitely postponed. This may mean the defeat of the Omaha hospital bill also. Drusedow, Hunter and Negley voted against the bill.

First Conference on Annexation Bill is Without Result

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, March 26.—(Special.)—Members of the Omaha annexation conference committee will take the matter under consideration until Monday, having been unable to agree on anything in the three meetings held, the one this afternoon being just as far from the mark as those held previously.

CHARLES STRADER NAMED ON BOARD OF AGRICULTURE

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, March 26.—(Special Telegram.)—Charles Strader of Lincoln has been appointed by the State Board of Agriculture to take the place made vacant by the resignation of C. M. Rudge of Lincoln last month. Mr. Rudge withdrew because he feared he might not always be able to be in the city during fair week.
