Speculators Who Went Limit in Buying at Start of War Losing as Wheat Goes Down.

LONGS IN CORN HOLD TIGHT

OMAHA, March 29, 1915. OMAHA, March 29, 1915.

Wail street speculators who made the limit in the matter of buying when the war started, have lost all the early earnings and in addition have been driven out of the wheat pit As a result many of the big speculators were unable to dispose of the many millions of bushels of May and July wheat except at a loss, which they have been obliged to do.

Speculation in wheat has narrowed fown to small proportions and this dullness may be accounted for at least partly by the uncertainty surrounding the conflict abroad.

Improved transatiantic demand was reported, the scaboard sending word that export sales included 100,000 barrels of flour. On the other hand, the decrease of 1,613,000 bushels in the United States visible supply total was somewhat of a disappointment to the wheat bulls. The effect, though, seemed to be more than offset by scattered complaints of crop damage from dryness and hessian fly and from alternate freezing and thawing westher.

Shorts covered at a lively rate in the corn market. It was estimated their transactions amounted alone to several million bushels. The chief incentive to purchase came from the smallness of arrivals and from a big decrease in the visible supply. Oats reflected the strength of other ceresis. Advices on the progress of seeding were too mixed to have any influence.

Provisions were sustained by the action of hors and grain. Buying, however, lacked volume.

in some cases possibly strong prices for the best grades. Medium kinds were slow and dull, but stock cows and helfers were fully steady and free sellers.

Heef steers were slow and dull and they were the last cattle in the yards to sell. Buyers generally started out bidding prices that were loc or more lower and as salesmen were backward about making the concession the trade held on so that it was well along toward middsy before very much business had been transacted.

HOGS-Supplies were very fair for a Monday, about 115 cars, or $,000 head, being received. This is almost twice as large as a week ago and nearly 3,000 heavier than the corresponding day last

The market opened with shipping grades The market opened with shipping grades selling at prices that were steady to strong, and in a few cases as much as a nickel higher. The demand was good, but was confined almost entirely to light and light mixed kinds. Packers made their early offers at steady figures, and although salesmen made a hard fight for at least a nickel advance the bulk of the packing hogs finally moved on a seady to shade higher basis. The killing request was rather indifferent, and in splic of the fact that shippers took a pretty fair share of the offerings out of the trade the market closed dull at no better than steady prices.

Bulk of the shipping purchases was made at $6.5566.50, with a sprinkling up to $6.65 and a top of $6.70. Most of the killing hogs sold at $6.506.52½. The general market was no more than strong at Saturday's average Representative sales well along toward noon. Then they started in and filled their orders at prices not materially different from last briday's general market. There was a stronger feeling to the trade compared with the bad close Friday but prices looked a little easier compared with Friday's opening market. A feature was the sale of two cars of lightweight lambs ordered in especially for the Easter trade at $10.00, the highest price for the season to date. Aged sheep were steady with last week's close.

IT ADVANCES TO EIGHTY-NINE LONG A TERROR TO BAD MEN

Officer Jacob Small, for many years the terror of South Omaha toughs, han resigned from the police force following some trouble with the Fire and Police Board it is said. He handed his badge to Captain Henry Carey Saturday night, after he had heard that the board was to file charges and try him.

Some days ago Small arrested Charles Remer and later a saloonman named King. King runs a saloon at Twentyfourth and Q streets and Small is said to have charged him with keeping a disorderly house. The arrests seemed to cause dissatisfaction and Small was to have been tried by the board. He is said to have handed his star to Carey with the remark that he intended to do a little work on his own account.

Small has been considered one of the best officers on the South Omaha police force. He was the terror of Q street when that thoroughfare was more or less of a terror to most policemen. He played no favorites in his arrests. When he thought the law was being violated he , acted. No pulls went with him. He has repeatedly been detailed to clean up corpers and localities infeated by toughs and hoodlums. Always he has gotten results. It is probable that when an investigation has been made; Small will be restored to duty, if he wishes to be restored.

Waiting the Next Move. Watchful waiting is the policy adopted by the Nebraska live stock dealers in view of the late moves of western states in forming quarantine combines against any state not having quarantine laws to auit them. Although Nebraska has been clean of the foot and mouth disease at all times, many of the western states. including Colorado, are said to be discriminating against Nebraska stuff. Late advices Saturday indicated that Idaho and Wyoming would be added to the list of those in the western organization. None of these states can hurt South Omahs. as the local market's business with them is incoming, rather than outgoing shipments. Many of the stockmen say, however, that the moves of the extreme western states are to be regretted in so far as they develop a spirit of discrimination.

Merge on Boosting Trip. Greater Omaha will be represented when the local stockmen make their annual trip to the northwest within the pext fortnight. Secretary Manley of the Omaha Commercial club has sent out letters of invitation to all Omaha merchants and business men to join the party. This is probably the first of the moves for drawing together the business men of Omaha and the business men of South Omaha. Later the South Omaha retailers will co-operate with the Omaha men in pushing forward the big city's business prospects.

Lawauit Against Merger. City Attorney Henry C. Murphy and Assistant City Attorney Samuel Winters are said to be prepared to attack the consolidation bill in court as soon as it has been passed and signed. A few of the antis still nourish faint hopes of defeating the bill, but the new hope is in court proceedings. Injunctions will be sued out to restrain the election commissioner from calling an election in pursuance of the terms of the bill. These court proceedings will at least have the effect of nullifying the emergency clause on the bill, it is hoped.

The report of the conference committee will be ready Monday and action on the bill may be finally taken on Monday bill may be linking to county members of Tuesday the Douglas county members of the senate said yesterday. House members dropped into South Omaha yesterday and visited around. It is said that two of the county who formerly voted these legislators, who formerly voted against the bill, intimated that they OMAHA, March 29.—Bank clearings for Omaha today were $2.773.941.29 and for the corresponding day last year $2.647,490.21. would be glad to change their votes had

Work on Junter Fair. Work on the junior fair, which will be given April 17 at the auditorium of the high school, is steadily progressing. The junior fair is a time-honored custom at Upon Bosphorus the high school, the proceeds being used for the senior banquet.

Besides the usual booths and side show concessions, the entertainments staged in the auditorium are clever and original.
