Farmers from the Middle States Are After Western Farms

Tuesday was homeseekers' day with the railroads and a large number of men from farther east passed through the city, going into western Nebraska, eastern Colorado and Wyoming, looking for cheap land which they expect to buy. The Burlington sent out a party of ten into the Scott's Bluff country and about the same number into the Big Horn basin of Wyoming.

The Northwestern had nearly enough landseekers to fill an extra coach on its westbound morning train, nearly all of them going to northwest Nebraska. The Union Pacific sent out some thirty, ticketed to western Nebraska and just over the state line in Wyoming and Colorado.

CANDIDATES BUSY OILING MACHINERY

Anti-Administrationists to Perfect Ward Organization—Each to Hand In Names.

"INS" ALSO ON THE ALERT

Anti-administration slate candidates are busy organizing their campaign machinery. One of their plans is for each candidate to hand in three names for each ward, a total of 216, of personal friends, from which an executive committee of fifteen will be chosen today. These candidates held a conference yesterday morning and will meet once or twice every day until May 4.

Chairman A. L. Sutton, chosen to head the anti's committee, gave out this statement: "I did not ask for the job, nor did I really want it, but when urged to take it I saw it was my duty and I accepted because I am in sympathy with the movement to elect a new city administration."

An office secretary will be chosen and regular headquarters opened on the eleventh floor of the City National bank building, near the business office of Candidate Metcalfe.

Reconciled to Sutton. The administration politicians say they are reconciled to Judge Sutton as leader of the opposing forces. Some have the temerity to say that this will draw a sharper line between the liberal and conservative elements.

Speaking for the city hall combination, with Edward Simon the seventh man, Mayor Dahlman states that headquarters will be maintained in the Dahlman club rooms, upstairs at 1320 Farnam street, with Tom Flynn as campaign manager. Mr. Flynn explains that the club rooms will be used because the administration people are not so fortunate as to have private offices offered them and does not feel like going to heavy expense for elaborate campaign headquarters.

The "ins" spoke last evening at 5158 Ames avenue, under the auspices of the Twelfth Ward Political Improvement club. Yesterday they talked at the Swedish auditorium on Chicago street, to a meeting arranged by an organization working in behalf of Simon.

Joslyn Buys Lot for His New Plant

After scouting around for a year or more for a good location for a new home for the plant of the Western Newspaper Union, George A. Joslyn, head of that concern, has just purchased the northeast corner of Fifteenth and Jones street. This property belongs to the estate of the late Judge Charles Powell. The price paid is said to have been approximately $15,000. Five stories and basement is the size of the structure contemplated, to be of reinforced concrete and brick. The lot is 96 by 132 feet. The Union Pacific spur is to be extended through the alley between Jackson and Jones streets from Fourteenth to Fifteenth streets, which is to furnish Mr. Joslyn the trackage he has long sought.

Withnell Agrees to Change in the Slate

Upon his return after two weeks' absence from the city, City Commissioner Withnell said he is in accord with the action of his associates in the matter of substituting Edward Simon for J. J. Ryder on the city hall slate for the election May 4. Regarding the new electric light and power rate ordinance he remarked: "I believe the light rates should have been made even lower—seven and five for the primary and secondary rates, for instance."

During his absence it is hinted that Mr. Withnell prepared a new speech which he will deliver during the forthcoming city campaign, but the time and place have not been determined.

Wolf Leases Schlitz Corner from Joslyn

Harry Wolf has practically closed a deal for a ninety-nine-year lease on the Schlitz corner, Sixteenth and Harney streets, which George A. There is a well grounded rumor that a large building is to be erected there by a syndicate to be headed or represented by Wolf. Mr. Wolf refused to give out details on the deal, but announcements will come later.

GOVERNOR NOT CONDEMNED

Parliamentary Battle Fought Out on the Floor of the Real Estate Exchange.

SOME WOULD COMMEND HIM

Another parliamentary battle of the Omaha Real Estate exchange, in which encounter C. F. Harrison and J. H. Dumont almost obliterated their speaking acquaintance, was fought at noon, with the result that Governor Morehead is not to be condemned at all by the exchange for vetoing the Saunders electric light bill. The resolutions introduced by Harrison a week ago bitterly condemning the governor for this veto had been referred to the electric light committee. The committee trimmed and trimmed until they had fed the waste basket on about 80 per cent of Harrison's verbosity in the original resolution, and then introduced a milder resolution of disapproval of the governor's action.

Governor's Reason Sufficient. On this revised resolution the fight was made. W. P. Graham, J. H. Robbins, C. F. Harrison and C. G. Carlberg, the same lineup that fought for the bill when it first went into the legislature, stood for the resolution. Byron Hastings said he had favored the bill, but saw no reason why the governor should now be condemned because he used his executive authority to veto a bill. Harry Christie thought it was out of place to condemn the executive for the action of the legislature. The governor's reasons for vetoing and declaring they should be sufficient.

Here Harrison asked him if he would have been in favor of the bill, under any circumstances. Dumont told him he had stood for about all the insinuations he expected to stand for from him, and that that would do. "You have continually insinuated that I am not honest in my convictions in this matter," he said, "simply because I dare differ with your opinions, and I don't propose to stand for much more of it." Later Harrison apologized from the floor for any misunderstanding he might have created.

World Commend Governor. D. C. Patterson thought it would be no more than right for the exchange to incorporate in the resolutions a clause commending the governor for signing the annexation bill and the hospital bill. He thought it no more than right that the governor should be commended for the good things he had done for Omaha, even if in one instance he had not done what some people wanted him to do. Then Harry Tukey moved to table the whole matter. A vocal vote was taken and the matter declared tabled. Senator Charles Saunders called for a roll call. When tellers were appointed and the call was about to begin, the resolution forces saw they were lost and withdrew the resolution before letting it go to a roll call.

Men Pay Homage to Mother's Friend

"I am not surprised to observe the number of men who come into the store to purchase 'Mother's Friend,'" remarked a leading druggist. "I expect another if she hasn't heard of this splendid embrocation is probably not reading the papers to much extent. And if she does it is a happy mother indeed. 'Mother's Friend' is applied externally over the abdominal muscles. It is a gentle, soothing lubricant, penetrates to the fine network of nerves beneath the skin and has a marked tendency to relieve the muscular strain to which these broad, flat abdominal muscles are subjected by the cords, tendons and ligaments are thus permitted to stretch without the corresponding surface strain so often involved during the period of expectation. And particularly to young mothers is this remedial application of inestimable value since in thus keeping the muscles firm but pliant it enables them to go through the great strain of lactation of the epidermis often the case when this gentle attention is neglected. 'Mother's Friend' is the name recommended by a host of women. Write Bradfield Regulator Co., 408 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and we will send you a valuable little book to expectant mothers."

CHICKENS BOTHER YOUNG GARDENERS

Frantic Appeals Are Made to the Head of the Movement to Keep Fowls Locked Up.

ONE GARDEN IS RUINED TWICE

Frantic appeals for protection from neighbors' chickens are being made to the school garden headquarters by boys and girls who have started their backyard patches and are now threatened with failure by the enterprise of stray hens.

"I've made my garden twice, and both times the neighbor's chickens have spoiled it," 14-year-old Rhea Hartmeyer, 3222 Manderson street, telephoned to Secretary R. S. Flower, Expert E. E. Dale, the instructor and overseer for the school garden movement, is going to see what can be done to guard Rhea's garden from the invading army of clucking birds. The little girl is almost in despair, but is going to try again. She attends Monmouth Park school.

Chickens a Nuisance. Hugh Poore, 1721 South Twenty-eighth street, also had an experience with neighborhood chickens. Although only 12 years of age, he has "gardened" four years, but says the chickens have made his efforts a failure the last three seasons. He appealed to Expert Dale to go and discipline the owners of the fowls, but Dale failed to exhibit a belligerent spirit and suggested arbitration. Hugh says he can't afford to fence in his plot, but will try piling brush on it.

But Auto Was Broken. Expert Dale almost thought he had "fallen into" something good Tuesday when the mother of one of the school garden club members offered her auto to use in getting around to visit the gardens. "You ought to have a car," she said, "and might just as well use mine—but it's broken down now."

Dale plans to get a bicycle to save shoe leather. Out of the sixteen schools already organized in the movement 217 children have enrolled in the clubs. There are seventy-seven girls and 140 boys.

They are to visit the Alamito dairy and the Iken Hiscuit company plants, where they are to be shown through and entertained.

This is to be the first of a series of home trade excursions in which the wives of manufacturers are to participate. An effort is to be made to get the wives of the city more interested in what is manufactured locally, especially in the way of food stuffs.

Gedrick made the chief address. Tom S. Kelly, secretary emeritus, who has been sick and operated upon at a hospital, was present.
