

MISSOURI PACIFIC OFFICIALS COMING

Nearly All the Operating Heads to Be in Omaha Thursday to Look Over Belt Line.

TO CONSIDER DODGE STREET

Practically all of the head officials of the operating department of the Missouri Pacific will be in Omaha this morning, coming from Kansas City during the forenoon on a special train, remaining here during the day and returning in the evening. In the party there will be:

Alexander Robinson, first vice president, in charge of operation; J. W. Higgins, general manager; J. R. Stephens, chief engineer; C. A. How, general purchasing agent; W. P. Hopkins, supply agent, St. Louis; A. DeBernardi, general superintendent, Kansas City; J. F. Russ, superintendent, and J. R. Leighty, maintenance engineer, Falls City, Neb.

Arriving here, the Missouri Pacific party will go to the Pontonelle for lunch, after which, piloted by A. R. Malcolm, assistant general freight agent, in automobiles, the members will go out to the company's Dodge street crossing, and thence go to the Thirteenth and Locust street viaducts, under construction.

Look Over Dodge Street. While it is not known just why Missouri Pacific operating officials and engineers are visiting the city at this time, it is taken that it is for the purpose of looking the ground over and determining just what is to be done in the way of improvements on Dodge street. At the crossing there two plans have been under consideration, but neither has been decided upon. One contemplates building a viaduct over the tracks, wide enough for street railway and wagon traffic, and the other contemplates the elevation of the railroad tracks, leaving the roadway undisturbed underneath.

It is asserted that while the matter has not been gone into thoroughly, the Missouri Pacific officials favor the elevation of the tracks, though they are a little loath about putting as much money into the project as would be required. It is asserted that the elevation of the tracks would necessitate an elevation of all tracks from pretty nearly as far south as Leavenworth to Cass street on the north, with steel and concrete crossings provided for at all of the intersecting streets.

No close estimates have been made on the expense of the elevated tracks, but a rough estimate places the expenditure at at least $1,000,000 and perhaps considerable more.

JAMES' "INTELLECT" IS NOT UP TO THE NAVY STANDARD

James Montgomery presented himself at the local navy recruiting office and made the fact known that he desired to qualify to wear a blue jacket and a pair of them there inverted-funnel pants.

From the physical standpoint James was found to be all right. But his intellect, as Mr. Dingbat would say—ah, his intellect—

Chief Yeoman High read him the following sentence:

"A man was walking through the park, when he looked up in a big tree and saw something hanging from a limb. His hair stood on end, he uttered a shriek of terror and rushed to the nearest police station. What was it that he saw hanging from the limb?"

James Montgomery thought deeply for a moment and then replied:

"A squirrel."

The navy will struggle along without the services of James Montgomery.

TO CONSIDER BRINGING G. A. R. CONVENTION HERE

A committee of five members of the Omaha Real Estate Exchange is to report in two weeks as to the advisability of making a campaign to obtain for Omaha the 1916 encampment of the National Grand Army of the Republic. President Thomas is to appoint the committee.

At the meeting of the Real Estate exchange Wednesday noon, W. H. Green, former president of the exchange and veteran of the civil war presided. Captain C. E. Adams, A. Traynor, Dr. S. K. Spaulding, Jonathan Edwards and others spoke in favor of the encampment for Omaha. It was pointed out that the Grand Army of the Republic men themselves all over the country would like to have the encampment held at a location so central as is Omaha, as they are getting to an age when they do not like to travel clear across the continent to attend the encampment.

BLIND TENOR TO GIVE SACRED CONCERT TONIGHT

David W. Reed of Chicago, the blind tenor singer, will give a sacred concert this evening at 8:30 o'clock at St. John's African Methodist Episcopal church, Eighteenth and Webster streets.

Mr. Reed was formerly organist and choirmaster at St. John's church and comes under the auspices of the choir of the church. The following local artists will assist Mr. Reed in rendering the program: Mrs. Cecelia W. Jewell, contralto; Mrs. Stella Douglas-McCoy, pianist; Miss Ruth Seay, violinist, and St. John's chorus choir of twenty-five voices.

EVERETT DEAN MARTIN TO TALK THURSDAY EVENING

The first lecture of a course on "The Meaning of Evolution" will be given this evening in the City National bank assembly room by Everett Dean Martin, author and lecturer of the middle west. His theme, Thursday evening will be, "The Evolution of Evolution; from Rationalism to the New Idealism." Other lectures will be given on Thursday evening of next week and the week following at the same place.

Making Good Work Possible.

As long as one is on his feet, he can work after a fashion, no matter how badly he feels. But you cannot do good work—have ambition and energy, feel that life is worth living—with sluggish bowels or torpid liver. Foley's Cathartic Tablets do away with that drowsy, dull, tired feeling. They never grip or cause nausea. They're wholesome, cleansing and healthful. Most satisfactory for stout persons. Sold everywhere—Advertisement.

NEW PROBATE RATE IS MADE

Law Passed by Legislature for Charges for Probating Estates Goes Into Effect.

INCREASES EXCESS OF FEES

A law passed by the last legislature and effective now, establishing a flat rate for charges for probating estates in Nebraska will cost heirs to estates of more than $2,000 in Douglas county at least $10,000 a year, according to Clyde Sundblad, clerk of the county court, who has just received a copy of the act.

"Under this measure the charge for probating an estate worth $2,000 will be the same as one valued at $100,000 or any sum," said Mr. Sundblad. "For instance, under the old law the county received $1,000 fees for probate of a wealthy man's estate and about $30 from the average small estate in excess of $2,000. But under the new law each will pay the same, about $35, including the flat rate charges and additional fees.

"Where in the past this office has shown a net excess of fees of from $4,000 to $5,000 a year, the new law will double or treble this amount. The additional revenue will be paid by increased cost to heirs of men and women in moderate circumstances."

The rate as now established places all estates in three classes, which with the charges to be paid by them follow:

$1,000 or less.....$10

$1,000 to $2,000.....25

More than $2,000.....35

These charges apply to gross valuations of estates, no reduction being made for debts which are paid. Fees in addition to the flat rate charge are also provided. Each small estate of more than $2,000 must pay about $35 more under the new law than under the old.

In the event the deceased owned only a homestead, eliminating necessity of probate proceedings, the new law provides for a fee of $10, which is three times the charge formerly paid. Other increases follow: Guardianship and trustee matters, $6.25 to $8, with increase of annual fee from 50 cents to $1.50. Adoption cases, $4 to $8.

Seattle Editor Stops in Omaha

Editor Scott C. Bone of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer stopped off in Omaha yesterday, while returning from New York and Washington, where he has been attending the Associated Press meeting, to visit with relatives here. Mr. Bone is a veteran newspaper man, and before locating in Seattle one of the leaders of the corps of Washington correspondents.

REAL ESTATE DEALER IS BITTEN BY CHAINED DOG

John Rowley, 1909 Douglas street, real estate dealer, was bitten on the right ankle by a dog chained to the porch of a house at 1112 Davenport street, Tuesday afternoon. A considerable swelling resulted from the wound and the dog may be shot. Dr. C. B. Folts, who attended the man, asserts that he thinks nothing serious will result from the bite, although he thinks the animal should be looked after by the authorities.

MANY PRIZES FOR THE BEST GARDENS

Backers of Garden Club to Give a Grand Trophy Shield and Three Hundred Cash Prizes.

DIVIDE CHILDREN INTO GROUPS

Over 300 cash prizes of from 50 cents to $2.50 each, a grand prize of a handsome trophy shield and certificates of proficiency to all contestants will be awarded to the boys and girls enrolled in the School Garden club contests.

The prizes were decided Tuesday night at a conference between Prof. C. W. Pugsley, head of the agricultural extension work of the University of Nebraska, and the local workers and backers of the movement. Total enrollment in the clubs now exceeds 400, of whom about one-third are girls.

For purposes of competition, it was decided to divide the children into groups, according to residence, there being thirty-two districts already organized. In each district the best child gardener will receive a prize of $2.50 cash, with second, third and fourth prizes of $2, $1.50 and $1, and six other prizes of 50 cents each. Money for the prizes and expenses is subscribed by the Rotary club, members of the Board of Education and other prominent citizens.

At Tuesday's conference with Prof. Pugsley were Superintendent of Schools E. U. Graf, Thomas A. Fry, N. B. Updike, Secretaries E. F. Denison and R. S. Flower of the Young Men's Christian association, and Ernest E. Dale, garden club supervisor.

Every child who completes the summer's work in a school garden club will receive a certificate authorized by the garden club organization, which is conducted under the auspices of the city

Ryder Opens Up a Publicity Bureau in His Own Behalf

Commissioner Ryder has opened his own publicity bureau with a statement taking exceptions to some of his fellow commissioners on the electric light ordinance. Mr. Ryder contends that the matter should be gone into thoroughly, rather than rushed just to make political capital. In conclusion he says:

"I presume at this time my best bet would be wild ballyhoo that I am 'agin' the corporations and all moneyed interests, since they all appear to be against me. But as I view my duty in the council it is to endeavor to hold the balance even without fear or favor, since the council is both judge and jury in its own sphere. Certainty of defeat or election would not swerve me from that belief. Every wind that blows may turn weather vane, but men who have seen storms of sentiment come and go could not be mere straws in the wind. Even though for a second time made a 'political orphan,' I can yet stand where a councilman can stand—for fair treatment of every question, casting a vote based upon knowledge."

P. J. BARR NOW WITH THE BURLINGTON LAND DEPT.

P. J. Barr, for a time connected with the colonization department of the Union Pacific, has signed with the immigration department of the Burlington and will enter upon the discharge of his new duties May 1. Mr. Barr will first go to the Big Horn basin country, where he will become familiar with conditions there, after which he will go to Chicago, where he will have charge of the Burlington's agricultural exhibit room.

Mr. Barr has been a resident of Omaha for many years and during a large portion of the time has been in the real estate business. He resides in Dundee.

POLITICAL BOSSES ISSUE BULLETINS

Flynn Says it is a Real Pleasure to Be in Campaign Associated with Such High Class Men.

SUTTON ISSUES A STATEMENT

Favorable weather conditions must be stimulating interest in the campaign, both sides showing more unctious in their respective camps. Judging by the daily output of publicity fodder.

The latest from Chairman Flynn of the administration forces is: "This time it is a real pleasure to have a part in the campaign, as it brings me in contact daily with some of the best and most public-spirited citizens, whose interests are in Omaha and who have done much to make Omaha what it is today." Mr. Flynn announced a list of men serving on his advisory committee.

An excerpt from Chairman Sutton's just-from-the-typewriter bulletin reads: "One of the present city commissioners admits the violations of law in Omaha and the granting of special privileges to some that are denied to others. Does he know where the violations are? His excuse for his lax administration is that his hands are tied. How did he allow his hands to be tied? Did he hold them out for the hand-uffs? Did he resist when they sought to place the manacles on his hands?"

Chairman Sutton also gives out a copy of a letter from L. J. Quimby offering support for the people's ticket. Another statement is an attack upon the mayor and his electric light and power rate ordinance in imaginative dialogue form.

ENGER HERE IT IS

A Truly Wonderful Motor Car at a Remarkable Price

Judge the Enger Six from any angle and you will be forced to admit that it is a truly wonderful motor car at a remarkable price. It combines all the high-grade appointments and equipment of cars that cost twice the money.

Durability

Sturdiness of construction is the strong feature of the Enger Six. It is built to give you years of service under all conditions. It stands supreme in motor car construction. It is built down to the smallest detail, with the utmost care in the selection of materials and in the assembling and finishing.

Luxury - Economy

You cannot often combine luxury and economy, as is possible in this great car. Compare the Enger with any other Six on the market, compare its appointments and equipment, then look again at the price—$1,495, complete—and you will realize that here is an exceptional automobile value. A ride in this car will convince you that nothing has been left undone to give you the maximum of motor car worth and the utmost in comfort and ease of operation. There's power aplenty, too. There never was a better car built at such a price.

The Enger Six is built by one of the soundest companies in the United States, the Enger Motor Car company of Cincinnati, O. If you hear the question raised as to the responsibility of this concern, just investigate and you will find it has the highest credit rating that can be given. It is one of the oldest manufacturing concerns in the country and has built up its reputation on its policy of giving the utmost in value.
