ASK THAT BRADY'S BODY BE EXHUMED

Dr. Mullen Says There is No Doubt About Kenny Being Nephew of Wealthy Recluse.

COURT ORDER MUST ISSUE

Henry Kenny, alleged nephew of the late James Brady, aged recluse who died April 21, leaving an estate of $28,000 in first mortgages on lands, has asked permission of County Judge Crawford to exhume the body of the dead man. It is buried in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Judge Crawford stated that before issuing such an order he would require a showing of evidence that Kenny is Brady's nephew. This will be made, according to Kenny. No date for the hearing has yet been set.

There is no question but that Kenny is Brady's nephew," said Dr. Mullen. "Brady told me that such was the case and asked another friend to secure employment for him."

Omaha Woman Gets Letter of Thanks for Aid to Belgium

Mrs. S. D. Barklow received a letter from Gertrude Forbes-Robertson thanking her and other Omaha women for money collected and sent to the Belgian and French war sufferers several weeks ago. The letter is written from London and is profuse in expressions of thanks and explanations of the acceptability of the donations.

The contribution was sent to Mrs. Forbes-Robertson, who in turn forwarded it to her sister, Maxine Elliott, for distribution from the latter's barge, 'The Julia,' in which Miss Elliott, with two other women and a crew, have been rendering assistance to the stricken Belgians.

Mrs. Barklow and about twenty of the older women knitted mufflers, wristlets and other articles during the winter and sent them abroad, in addition to the money contribution.

Modern Merchandising

A few days ago we read a story of failures in the New York Commercial, which should have been copied in every newspaper in America as a warning and a lesson. It has been argued that present day methods contribute to economy and are of advantage to the buying public. Occasionally that may be true but in the end whenever methods are extravagant or uncommercial somebody must pay for it.

Now for a little D. M. C. HISTORY. This make of embroidery cotton has become the standard—made in France. Since the European trouble, supply has been erratic and difficult to obtain. Prices, as a consequence, have advanced materially. We have been able to maintain a stock and a good assortment and our prices have been as low as conditions have warranted. It seems that there is a disposition to play ball with this well known article. Gentlemen—we now serve notice on you—we will join you in the game and as an evidence or as a defi, if you will; we will sell D. M. C. on Monday, white and ecru, at 9 Cents per ball up to No. 60. Come on in—we can stand the water as well as you.
