

PAKES THE STOCK IN TRADE

Files of Przemysl Newspaper Begs Its Readers with Stories Manufactured for Occasion.

LURID STORIES OF THE WAR

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.) PETROGRAD, May 3.—Among the relics of Przemysl there has been discovered a complete file of the Kreis Nachrichtztung, a local paper issued daily during the entire time of the siege and under the supervision of the Austrian commandant, General Kusmanik.

The paper shows how the spirits of the men were blown up by deceit and false hopes to the very day of the surrender. There is not in a single issue of the paper any mention made of the falling condition of the garrison or shortage of provisions, nor of any inference that surrender was imminent or even possible.

Fake Artist Busy

Early issues of the Kreis Nachrichtztung reproduced telegrams from Orsovo, which tell of the "final collapse of the Russian advance in Galicia." An issue of a later date commented on the loss of three English cruisers, stating "it is improbable now that the whole English fleet will soon be sunk in the open sea."

A paper of October 3 stated that Russia had withdrawn its offer of autonomy to Poland and conveyed the remarkable intelligence that the Russian war minister had resigned and was to be replaced by General Ljanevitch, who had died some time before.

Reports Encouraging According to these accounts, driven to desperation by lack of food and clothing and by the intense cold, many Russian soldiers were contemplating suicide. Further encouragement was derived from the letter of an Austrian deserter, who wrote that the general opinion was that Przemysl had been "erected by the devil and could only be taken by the devil."

Second Trial of Mrs. Carman Begins

MINNEOLA, N. Y., May 3.—Mrs. Corinne Conklin Carman was placed on trial in the supreme court here today before Justice Blackmar for the second time in the indictment charging her with the murder of Mrs. Louis D. Bailey at Freeport on the night of June 29 last.

District Attorney Smith intimated that the trial would last longer than the first one, which was over in a week. Several new witnesses, it is reported, will be called to support that state's contention that Mrs. Carman was the woman assailant who shot Mrs. Bailey to death in Dr. Carman's office through a window.

GIRLS ADVISED TO FLIRT IN BEHALF OF THE KING

LONDON, May 3.—Flirting can be made an effective recruiting expedient. At a recent recruiting rally, a girl held up her hand and announced that she had sent five young men to the front. At the end of the meeting she indicated the young man by her side and declared: "Here's the sixth!" This caused the speaker to say, "Flirting of that kind is the right sort of patriotism." And he advised the young girls of the audience to use their wiles in behalf of king and country.

CHILDREN KEPT IN SCHOOL AND NOT PUT OUT TO WORK

LONDON, May 3.—The suggestion recently made in some quarters that children be taken from the public schools and allowed to assist in farm work, has apparently not met with any very general adoption. The returns made to the National Board of Education under the compulsory education laws, show that only 1,600 children of school age have been excused from school attendance for this reason. The average pay of children employed in farm labor is given as $1.50 a week, although in many cases board and lodging are supplied in addition.

Owners Will Collect Insurance. PITTSBURGH, May 3.—It is not the purpose of the Gulf Refining company, owners of the Gulf-light, to press any claim through the United States government at this time, according to George S. Davidson, president of the company.

Labor Leader Says Contractors, Not Drink, Are to Blame

LONDON, May 3.—Will Crooks, labor leader in the House of Commons, declares in a newspaper article that there is less drinking in England than before the war, and that Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George is mistaken in the statements he made regarding the subject. Crooks asserts that if less work is being done at private shipyards some cause other than drink must be sought, and that this accusation has been spread broadcast by employers to cover up their own shortcomings. In his interview he said: "I have not the slightest hesitation in saying that the Woolwich arsenal could turn out a third more work than it is doing now. The men have insufficient work to do because of lack of organization. Moreover, although the war has lasted nine months, no accommodations yet have been provided for the men to get their meals."
