Speaking of dress!
Is it possible, do you think, for the present-day maid to don the essentially feminine garb of the Victorian epoch and the early '30's, which is gaining daily in enthusiasts, and feel modern, progressive and aggressive as we of today are supposed to be?

Just at the point of time when Feminism is stepping forward with her most confident stride and independent hauteur, just at this psychological moment up steps Dame Fashion with her sovereign authority and, presto! frills, ruffles and hoops come forth.

If the men really adore that demure, high-waisted, full-skirted period they are in for a ravishing time of it this year, for such things are to be introduced with eclat.

But can new-fashioned ladies possibly carry out the grace and charm synonymous with former days, which has become somewhat removed in the feminine emancipation?

FOLLOWS PARTNER ON CALL OF DEATH

J. F. Gloe, Manager Gate City Malt Co., Dies Shortly After Hearing of Death of Flamondon.

JETTER ALSO IN THE COMPANY

Grief over the tragic death of his friend and partner, Charles A. Flamondon, who lost his life when the Lusitania was sunk, may have hastened the end of J. F. Gloe.

Mr. Gloe was manager of the Gate City Malt company, with offices in the Brandeis building, and he died Tuesday morning some time before 7 o'clock at his residence, 2227 South Thirty-second street. Dr. Dwyer pronounced the death as the result of heart failure.

Mr. Gloe became ill Monday and evidenced symptoms of dizziness all day. He remained at his office until 5 o'clock, however, and when he went home protested that he was not ill, merely tired. Mrs. Gloe remained up with him until 3 in the morning and at that hour he declared he was feeling fine.

Mr. Gloe had been manager of the Gate City Malt company for the last seven years. He lived the last twenty-five years of his life in Omaha and Manning, Ia. He was 50 years of age.

Among those reported to have lost their lives on the Lusitania was Charles A. Flamondon, who was a heavy stockholder in the Gate City Malt company and a close friend of Mr. Gloe's. Grief over the death of Mr. Flamondon is thought to have hastened Mr. Gloe's death somewhat.

No arrangements for the funeral have yet been made. Baltimore Jetter of South Omaha was a stockholder in the company. He died Sunday. Three members of this company have died within the week.

Supervised Dances for Omaha Parks; No Moving Pictures

Commissioner Hummel of the park and boulevard department states he is ready to co-operate with the new recreation board in the matter of holding supervised dances in Hancock park and perhaps other parks this season. The matter has been put up to him and he said he saw no objection providing the dances were conducted under proper supervision and under the direction of the recreation board which will be announced next week. Mr. Hummel, as provided in the ordinance, will be a member of the new board. He does not favor any of the modern exaggerated dances in the public parks.

The commissioner will not permit moving pictures in the parks this season. He believes sufficient recreational features have been provided without the necessity of movies.

A Fine Family Dinner for 10c—Prepared in 30 Minutes

Here is a meal that is at once nutritious, easy to digest, easy to prepare, satisfies the hunger, and the daintiest of appetites and costs but a trifle.

Cook a whole package of Faust Spaghetti for about 20 minutes with tomatoes and serve piping hot with grated cheese as a spread.

With bread and butter this dish is just about as tasty as you could wish for—there's a fine racy smack to it that is really enjoyable. Made from Durum wheat, Faust Spaghetti is a highly nutritious food—contains the food elements that make for muscle and tissue. Comes in large 10c packages and should be frequently served as a partial substitute for meat and as a whole meal.

The Light Six As It Will Be

Saving of Waste Is In Fashion

Hudson Light Six is popular because it typifies the times. Waste is now poor taste. Today's watchword is efficiency. Hudson owners could afford excess weight and upkeep. But the spirit of the times is against it.

Howard E. Coffin saw this trend years ago. He started then to design this car, the pioneer Light Six. The first model came out in November, 1913. It became at once the most popular class car on the market. All last summer we were thousands of cars behind orders.

Even now, with trebled output, we cannot meet spring demands. Yet 30 other makers now build Light Sixes.

The End of Waste

The Hudson has multiplied the attractions of motoring. It has eliminated nothing but crudity and waste. A Six used to weigh 4500 pounds. It cost three times the Hudson price. Fuel and tire cost was double.

Yet the Hudson seats 7 in comfort. In beauty and luxury it stands with the highest few. And there never was a sturdier car. It weighs 2870 pounds, thus saving the weight of 11 adults.

A High-Grade Car

This change means a higher-grade car. It means special steels—aluminum in place of cast iron. It requires a new-type, high-speed motor, which has proved itself the best type known. It means strength without bulk.

The Hudson Light Six sets a new high mark in quality, class and refinement. It took four years to attain it. It is a better-grade car than any heavy car ever built.

12,000 Endorsers

The Hudson Light Six has proved itself for two seasons. Over 12,000 owners have driven it some 30 million miles. Not a fault has developed.

That is why men are choosing Hudsons in this Light Six type. It has proved itself right. It shows you the Light Six as others may be after working out similar refinements.

It will be your choice. Prove it while we can make prompt delivery.
