Bull Terrier Helps This Young Woman Deposit Her Money

It was evidently a case of "love me love my dog" with a well dressed young woman who breezed into the postal savings room of the local postoffice the other day. Her coming was heralded by the rattling of silks and the jingling of a bunch of silver bangles in her hand.

It was further heralded by a Boston bull terrier which entered the room first, tugging at his chain. The young woman's dress "beggars description." At least it was far beyond the knowledge of the masculine scribe. The society editor might have "gotten away with it" or "La Raconteuse." She had on the latest of everything.

"You have no objection to my having Fanchette with me while I deposit some money in the postal savings bank, have you?" she inquired of Miss Louise Grant, the clerk. "I think not," said Miss Grant.

"There, I knew the government wouldn't object," was the triumphant reply. "And those other banks that think they're too fine for my dear little dog to walk on their marble floors will just miss my patronage. 'I'll fasten Fanchette to the leg of this table while I get my money out. Do you know, my dear, I applied at two banks and in each case some horrid person of a woman's name wouldn't let me stay because I had this dear little dog with me. Oh, I was furious. And then I thought of the government bank. And here I am."

The young woman laid down a quart or two of bangles on the table, talking alternately to Fanchette and to Miss Grant, and busy all the time getting her money out. "Fifty dollars was the sum the postal savings bank gained and the sum the other bank lost because it wouldn't 'quit kickin' her dogs aroun'."

"And I'm going to deposit more, my dear," she said as she departed, "and with a fond look at the canine." "Little Fanchette shall come wiz us mummies every time, too."

The Clerk Guaranteed It. "A customer" came into my store the other day and said to one of my clerks, "Have you anything that will cure my diarrhoea?" and my clerk went and got him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and said to him, "If this does not cure you, I will not charge you a cent for it." So he took it home and came back in a day or two and said he was cured. "Writes J. H. Peery & Co., Salt Creek, Va. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

STARTING GREATER OMAHA CAMPAIGN

Arguments Presented Why the City and Its Suburbs Should Consolidate.

MANY MEETINGS THIS WEEK

The Greater Omaha committee points out the necessity of consolidation of Omaha and its suburbs in an authorized statement, as follows: "Here is an argument for consolidation which ought to be kept standing before the people of Omaha, South Omaha and Dundee from now to election day. It will be waged by all those who are making speeches for the cause. The Greater Omaha campaign committee regards it as one of the most conclusive arguments that can be offered. It appeals with equal force to people living in Dundee, South Omaha and Omaha and cannot be refuted.

"We all need consolidation to give us the advantage abroad of the growth of each community. We have been building up beautiful Dundee, South Omaha and other contiguous territories. But neither they nor we get the full commercial and industrial advantage abroad which ought to follow this growth.

Arguments Presented. "Here is the concrete illustration: Eastern industrialists are looking for middle western locations. Naturally they consider population growth, because they have a bearing on transportation costs, as well as other interests. They look, for instance, at the censuses of Omaha, Minneapolis and Kansas City. They note big increases in the latter cities, but a very moderate growth in Omaha. Other things being equal, very naturally they locate one of the other cities.

"Now, as a matter of fact, Omaha's practical, contiguous population has grown largely, but much of the growth has been just over the city's boundary lines and does not show up for Omaha in the census. Both Kansas City and Minneapolis in the meantime have extended their boundaries to include all adjoining or nearby communities. They get the commercial and industrial advantages, therefore, which go with combined population, and Omaha loses them. These advantages would benefit every man, woman and child, regardless of whether they resided in Omaha, South Omaha or Dundee.

Start Speaking Campaign. "It is not true to say that we want the larger population just to gratify a little pride. Even that would be laudable, but we want the larger population for the larger commercial and industrial growth it would make possible."

Beginning Tuesday there are to be meetings every day this week and next Sunday, at which talks will be given in favor of the consolidation movement. The dates, as at present arranged by the Greater Omaha committee, and the speakers engaged are as follows: Tuesday—Bemis Park Improvement club at Franklin school, 8 p. m. Speaker, Judge Lee S. Estelle.

Thursday—Noon day club at Commercial club. Speaker, H. H. Baldrige. Newport, Belvidere Improvement club, Thirty-sixth street and Kansas avenue, 8 p. m. Speaker, John J. Ryder or Ben S. Baker.

ECHOES OF THE ANTE-ROOM

Masons Secure Site for the New Temple that is to Be Erected During the Next Year.

FOURTEEN BODIES TO JOIN

The fourteen Masonic bodies that for more than twenty-five years have had their lodge home in the Masonic temple at Sixteenth and Capitol avenue are to abandon the building and site, and after next year will occupy more palatial quarters in a new building to be erected at Nineteenth and Douglas streets, immediately west of the Hotel Pontenelle.

The proposed change in location of the Masonic bodies was the interesting topic up for discussion in secret society circles during the latter days of last week. Several sites for a new temple had been under consideration, but that at Nineteenth and Douglas streets seemed to be in general favor. There, for $15,000, the Masonic bodies purchased ground 130 feet on Douglas by 132 on Nineteenth street. On this a temple, five to six stories high, will be erected at a cost of $125,000. Construction work will be commenced this summer and the building will be completed early next year. The lower stories will be for business purposes, while the stories above will be for lodge rooms.

An interesting program will be rendered after which the entire building will be thrown open for the enjoyment of the visitors.

German-American camp, No. 104, will entertain its members, June 2, at its hall, 1401 South Thirtieth street. This is one of a series of entertainments given by this live camp. Henry Jensen is chairman of the committee.

Guglielmi Marconi camp, No. 421, will hold a picnic on June 16. The details will be sent each member of the camp by letter. The arrangements are in charge of Samuel Marcuso, Stephen Zarin and August Proia.

The complimentary dance given by Omaha-Seymour camp, Friday evening at the new Castle hotel, proved a most enjoyable affair and a large crowd attended. It is the intention of the camp to give these dances more often in the future.

YOUNG PEOPLE AT RELIGIOUS WORK

Christian Young People's Societies Organize for Summer Campaign on Street Corners.

HAVE MINISTERS' BACKING

A gospel auto campaign is being started in Omaha under the auspices of the practical work department of the Christian Young People's societies of the tricity, in which great interest is being shown.

Fifty-two Christian Endeavor societies, and Edworth leagues, Baptist Young People's unions, and Young Men's Christian association and Young Women's Christian association, in all sixty-five organizations, began their summer campaign Saturday with street meetings on the corners of Fifteenth and Harney and Fifteenth and Farnam. Denton Cleveland, a young man formerly a student at Bellevue college, who has been in training at the Moody Bible institute in Chicago, led these meetings.

The plan is to have these street meetings every night this summer on the principal corners in Omaha. Both mayors have given their consent. Workers will be taken from all the organizations in the union, and a business committee of ten has been formed to manage the movement, with Denton Cleveland as director.

As an inducement to activity a scholarship of two years at the Moody Bible institute, Chicago, is offered to the worker handling in the best report at the end of the summer. The workers have already enlisted, in addition to the pastors of the various churches.

To Meet at Jefferson Square. When the churches close their doors in the summer Sunday evenings, the union expects to have great young people's meetings in Jefferson square, at which the Christian Endeavor union choir of 100 voices will furnish the music.

The campaign has been extended to cover noonday meetings at the South Omaha packing houses on Tuesdays. Twelve ministers have been found to conduct the meetings on the thirteen Tuesdays of the summer. Six autos have been loaned by business men for use on these occasions, and also two jitneys and two stereopticons. The first meeting will be held at Swift's packing house, Tuesday noon from 12 to 12:30.

Twelve ministers have been found to assist Miss Nellie McGee of the Christian Endeavor union in her work at the police station.

The movement is being financed by the Young Men's Christian association and by personal subscriptions.
