Railway Men Expect Kansas Wheat Crop 150,000,000 Bushels. Traveling Passenger Agents McNutt and Cundiff of the Katy and the Union Pacific, respectively, are in town from Kansas and they bring glowing reports of the outlook for a bumper wheat crop all through Kansas and Oklahoma. Said Mr. McNutt: "Never but once has there been such a prospect for a wheat crop as now. I have traveled over the state constantly during the last two weeks and the lowest estimate placed by farmers, grain men and others is 150,000,000 bushels. Wheat is a bit late, but in the southern part of the state they will be cutting about the middle of June. In Oklahoma they will begin a week sooner. "The Hessian fly game has been overplayed for a purpose, but it has not had the desired effect. The long in wheat could not boost the prices simply because the fly was not apparent as reported. Some few fields early in the season were slightly injured, but this injury extended over only a limited area. "Corn is coming on fine and every indication is for one of the best and biggest crops raised. Mr. Cundiff, discussing the crop question, said: "After traveling over all Kansas and getting in touch with every section of the wheat belt, I find that the yield by the most conservative farmers and grain men is placed at 150,000,000 bushels, with many of the opinion that it will exceed this estimate. The crop is perfect and is rapidly maturing. The Hessian fly damage has not amounted to anything except in a few isolated cases. If prices continue high as now farmers are going to have more money than they will know what to do with."

Thomas S. Ingersoll of Minneapolis, executive secretary of the National Association of Real Estate exchanges, was in Omaha most of the day on his way to Los Angeles, where the convention of the national body is to be held in June. He talked briefly before the Real Estate exchange at morning. Mr. Ingersoll says there is much talk of Omaha in his part of the country and through the east. He declares that he has seen the Omaha key sticking around in the offices of real estate and other business men in all parts of the country. A delegation of some fifty Minneapolis real estate men are to go to the Los Angeles convention, according to Mr. Ingersoll, and are to stop in Omaha June 15. The Chicago delegation is to be here on the same day.

Ingersoll Says Omaha is the Talk of Entire Country

While very busy on the hatchet murder and other crimes, the police are also finding time to put several alleged burglars on the road to speedy trials in district court. Walter Szewazyk and Steve Malolepsy, arrested by detectives shortly after the robbery of the Goldman Myerson grocery at 21st and Broadway, were arraigned Monday morning, and William Irving, caught in the act of stealing plumbing from the house at 210 North Twenty-fourth street, owned by R. B. Busch, waived preliminary examinations in police court and were bound over to the district court under bonds of $70 each. Edward Madison, arrested in a pawnshop while wearing a pin and trying to sell a watch stolen from the home of G. T. Epeneter, 512 North Fortieth street, was arraigned on the charge of burglary. When he pleaded not guilty and demanded a preliminary hearing, the case was set for Wednesday morning. Jesse and Ed Dunn are held on burglary charges, having been arrested by Detectives Sullivan and Lahey, who secured evidence that is expected to warrant prosecutions.

NEBRASKA RATE CASE HEARING SET FOR JUNE 28

June 28 has been set for the argument of the Nebraska rate case before the Interstate Commerce commission. This is the case in which the Nebraska Railway commission is to show the Interstate Commerce commission the reasons why the Nebraska rate body made its schedule of rates for Nebraska. They will endeavor to show that their schedule is good and adequate, and will argue that if this schedule seems in any way to discriminate against other towns just across the river in other states it is no reason why the Nebraska rates should be changed, but rather the rates that the railroads should lower the rates to the other points to meet the Nebraska schedule.

URE TO PUT DEPUTY TREASURER AT S. O.

South Omaha People Not to Be Inconvenienced in That Particular.

COMMITTEE FEELS HOPEFUL

South Omaha people need no longer fear that under a Greater Omaha they will have to spend valuable time in the middle of the day to come to Omaha and pay taxes. This is a scare that has been held up to them in the past by those who are opposed to consolidation. "You may say for me," said City Treasurer William G. Ure, "that I will, in accordance with the law, establish a sub-treasury in South Omaha when the cities are consolidated. We will have a deputy treasurer in charge, so that South Omaha people may pay their taxes there without coming to Omaha. "This statement is made to clear up any misapprehension in the minds of South Omaha people."

All Meet Vote.

Gould Dietz, chairman of the Greater Omaha campaign committee, issues this statement: "Our campaign for a Greater Omaha, thus far warrants just one conclusion—that Omaha, South Omaha and Dundee will be consolidated Tuesday, June 1, provided all who favor consolidation go to the polls and vote. There is no sort of doubt about it. But we ought to remember that no vote counts until it is cast. So here is our slogan: "We can't pull together till we get together." "We are all for a Greater Omaha, therefore this campaign committee, made up from all the citizens, is urging every body to vote. The Selby-Murphy affair is boosting our cause every day, so far as its offensive influence goes, it is as flat as a pancake. "We have the most reliable information from authoritative sources that union labor is strong for consolidation. Labor leaders predict their boys will turn out proportionately larger than the business men will. All Reports Encouraging. "Our organization is hearing systematically from all parts of the community, keeping tab on the movement daily every report is encouraging. The argument which the newspapers published for us, calling attention to the commercial and industrial advantage to the city of consolidation, is proving to be about the strongest card. It impresses every intelligent person. "The Rotary club at its meeting Wednesday noon at the Henshaw hotel is to have a consolidation talk by H. H. Baldrige.

Safe Blowing Job Still a Mystery to Police Department

An inventory of the valuables stolen from the T. J. Bruner company, whose headquarters at 84 Brandeis building, were visited by expert safe robbers Sunday, shows a total of $3,573.45 as the value of the goods stolen from the one safe rifled. Most of the haul consisted of loose diamonds and other precious stones, with a few rings, pins and watches. Among them was a $100 diamond ring belonging to Mrs. Bruner, which had just been cleaned. Absolutely no clue to the crooks has been found so far, Mr. Bruner says, except that they were evidently skilled safe workers, having worked a combination by touch and then blown a lock with nitro-glycerine with practically no noise. A reward of $100 is offered for their arrest. Police and private detectives also are "up against it" so far on the recent burglary jobs at the homes of F. H. Davis, president of the First National bank, and Henry Hillier, Thirty-fifth and Farm streets, at each of which clever burglars worked noiselessly and stole about $1,000 worth of jewelry.

Maloney Halts Big Coin Matching Game and Arrests Three

While strolling leisurely through his flower garden at his town residence, 913 Forest avenue, about 8 Monday evening, Steve Maloney, head of the city detective force, discerned three men matching coins for money. The trio observed the movements of Omaha's famous sleuth and then started south, with Maloney in pursuit. The chief detective picked up his feet with alacrity and after a chase of nine blocks closed the breach between himself and the fugitives. During the chase the coin matchers passed through the Brownell Hall yard and frightened men, women and children of the neighborhood. On the north side of the yard two of the three men stumbled over an obscure wire fence which gave Maloney an opportunity to make a charge with his right fist which he placed against the face of one of the men. He drew his revolver and scared the trio, who gave their names at the police station as Harvey Ellis of Denver, John Berger of St. Joe, Mich., and Rastus Jones of Keokuk. Mr. Jones had $20 in a pocket when searched. He told the captain at police headquarters that he went to the river with Ellis and Berger to view the fleet of battleships and while waiting for the ships to appear indulged in a coin matching game.

Make Plans for Big Methodist Meeting

T. F. Sturges, W. H. Indoo and C. H. Walrath, the local committee on arrangements for the State Methodist Episcopal conference, went over the preliminary plans with Manager Parrish of the bureau of publicity in order to get ready for the big delegation of ministers and laymen that is to be in Omaha September 21 to 28. Practically 1,000 delegates are expected. There are exactly 47 ministers as accredited delegates, besides a layman from each Methodist church. Thus there are to be 90 delegates, besides the many visitors that will attend.

Wants to Go to Pen as Soon as Possible

"I want to go to the pen as soon as possible," William Irving told Police Judge Foster when arraigned for stealing plumbing. "Maybe the prison doctors can cure me of the dope habit, so the sooner I get there the better." The man was bound over and assured of an early trial in district court. He said he would plead guilty in the higher court.

South Omaha Cream is Poor

State Food Inspector Surprised at the Scarcity of Butterfat in Some Samples. SOUTH OMAHA IS THE WORST. E. C. Kemble, deputy state food inspector making investigations here, made this statement in the city health office, following a conference with Health Commissioner Connell and Dairy Inspector Bossett: "I am at a loss to know of any excuse for milk dealers offering for sale in this city bottles of cream which test as low as 13 per cent butter-fat, when the state and local laws require a minimum of 18 per cent." This inspector recently gathered fifty samples of milk and cream from wagons operating in Omaha and South Omaha. One of every four of the samples tested low enough to warrant filing complaints. Some samples showed narrow margins below the legal limit, while a few were slightly over the requirement.

SOUTH OMAHA CREAM IS POOR

Inspector Kemble regards 13 per cent of butter fat in cream as a gross violation of the law and he expressed surprise that such a condition existed in this city. One of the South Omaha samples of cream tested 12 1/2 per cent butter fat. These samples were taken from wagons serving the household trade and in each case the inspector bought a bottle which was tested at the state laboratory. Some of the milk samples tested as low as 33 per cent butter fat, the Omaha ordinance requiring a minimum of 32 per cent butter fat. "I wish to state that there is no special significance in my visit at this time to Omaha. Our department is making an effort to enforce the state laws and we wish to co-operate insofar as possible with the local authorities. We gather our samples at random, with no thought as to who may be selling the product," stated Mr. Kemble. Gets No Support. During the conference in the health office Dr. Connell told the state inspector that the chief trouble here has been a lack of support in the police court. "We have taken our evidence to the police court, have even taken the police judge to our laboratory to show him how the samples are tested, and yet in most cases no fines are imposed or the fines are suspended. I have recently sent letters to the dairymen, stating that I intend to start revoking licenses instead of arresting them for violations. I intend to see how this method will work out," was a statement given by the health commissioner. The state authorities intend to continue their work here. Several assistants are working with Mr. Kemble.
