

A MIXED ORDER

A can of baking powder, a cake of ice, a furnace, a tent, a necktie, a load of brick, a mirror, a case of beer, a saddle, a package of macaroni, a bed, a packing box, a pound of coffee, a box of chocolates---

The shipping clerk would call that a mixed order. You could have it filled by telephoning to only a few of the firms listed here--the Omaha manufacturers--who hope to get better acquainted with you.

The real, sole and whole purpose of these advertisements is to introduce Omaha products to Omaha people; to let them know what's made here.

If the home article isn't as good, as low in price and as attractive in appearance, then it oughtn't to sell. If it is the equal or better in price, quality and looks, then it should have preference by Omaha people for your own good, for ours and for the good of Omaha.
