BORAH FIERCELY ATTACKS WILSON

(Continued from Page One.) government," said he. "No such statement has been made since the days of Andrew Johnson. I will not say that the spirit which actuated the president in calling for serious consideration of every man. I quoted the president's statement as follows: "If any group of men should dare to break the solidarity of the democratic team for any purpose or from any motive, theirs will be a most unenviable notoriety and a responsibility which will bring deep bitterness to them." "The president did not say for any evil purpose or any unwise principle, but for any purpose or any reason. Such is the sole and central principle upon which any corrupt political machine was ever organized or put into existence. There is no difference between what he said and what Tom Taggart said to his Indiana followers, eighty of whom pleaded guilty yesterday to the crime of corruption. There is no difference between it and the orders issued by Murphy of Ramsey hall to his satellites to follow the dictates of the captain regardless of the dictates of conscience or judgment." Mexican Policy Wrong. Attacking the president's Mexican policy at length, Mr. Borah declared that one result of the taking of Vera Cruz was notification to foreign powers to keep hands off, which, he insisted, would bring trouble in the future, because this government had assumed moral, if not legal responsibility for foreign citizens in Mexico. Senator Borah insisted that the United States had not let Mexico alone, and that conditions today were as bad as they could possibly be in a civilized or semi-civilized country. The only interruption Senator Borah encountered was from Senator Robinson, democrat, who asked what action Senator Borah would now take if he were charged with executive responsibility, "or will talk when he gets to be president." "I believe," Senator Borah replied, "that had we exerted the same influence against the other factions in Mexico that we did against Huerta, we would have restored order." Senator Robinson insisted he wanted to know whether Senator Borah now was urging that the United States send an armed force into Mexico to protect American citizens. Does Not Respect Americans. "If I were president," Senator Borah replied, "I would say to the Mexican people, we want you to settle your own internal affairs and we will never interfere for the purpose of acquiring territory, and secondly, I would say to them, 'You will respect American lives and property, or the United States will see to it that they are protected.' If it were necessary to send a battleship to Vera Cruz again, I would send it with the message, 'The Mexican mind is firm in the belief that we will not protect our citizens. The flag that will not protect its citizens is a rag that contaminates the air in which it floats.'" To refute the president's statement that the republican party had not had a new idea in thirty years, Senator Borah insisted the Sherman anti-trust law, the Interstate Commerce commission, parcel post, postal savings, pure food and direct election of senators acts. The cost of living on August 1, 1914, he said, was higher than at any time in the country's history, yet, he declared an emergency war tax will have exacted $100,000,000 addition from the people.

NEBRASKANS VOTE AGAINST SUFFRAGE

Kinkaid Only Member of Delegation from This State Who Supports Mondell Resolution.

SLOAN GIVES HIS REASONS

(From a Staff Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(Special Telegram.)—The national house of representatives yesterday by substantial majority went on record against submitting a constitutional amendment to the people of the several states in favor of woman suffrage. For this vote were secured a hundred men in the galleries during the consideration of the measure, which extended over ten hours, and in which time nearly 200 speeches were delivered. Throughout the day the galleries were crowded by the partisans for and against the proposed legislation. And by this means women, for there were scarce a hundred men in the galleries during the consideration of the measure, which extended over ten hours, and in which time nearly 200 speeches were delivered.

House Flashes with Color.

Red robes and white and yellow hands, distinguishing colors of the two factions, the suffragists and the "antis," made a memorable picture. An admonition from Speaker Clark early in the session put a stop to applause, and when the vote was announced there was an impressive silence. Both factions realized that work was still ahead.

The Nebraska delegation stood four against the Mondell resolution and one for, with Congressman Barton not voting on account of illness. Those voting against were Lebeck, Maguire, Stephens and Sloan. Kinkaid voted in favor. Representative Sloan of the Fourth district during the debate in a speech of less than five minutes in length held the attention of the house when he said he could not vote for the amendment because his district had registered its opposition to the constitutional amendment proposed. The woman suffrage amendment in Nebraska has not been considered as a partisan question, Mr. Sloan said.

Twice Rejected.

"In our constitutional convention, it was debated at length, but it was rejected and the constitution from which it was excluded was in 1875 adopted by the people of the state. In 1887 it was submitted to the people and defeated by a decisive vote as follows: for suffrage, 25,756, against 50,933. Recently Nebraska adopted the initiative and referendum system of submitting questions directly to the people. The friends of woman's suffrage appealed to the referendum system during the last year, and had the question submitted to the Nebraska electorate. The vote cast November 5, 1914, was: For, 90,738, against 100,842. Majority against 10,104. In the Fourth congressional district which I represent, ten counties out of eleven cast majorities against the proposition.

State is Unit.

"While unwarranted objections should not be placed in the way of amending our national constitution, we must recall that the unit for amending the constitution is the state itself, and where the state itself through its recognized system of expression has recently published at the polls its sentiment upon that subject that should be controlling upon the representatives of the state."

Congressman Barton, who was taken suddenly ill yesterday, while in the house, is reported very greatly improved tonight. It is thought he was suffering from an acute attack of indigestion which the physicians have now under control.

STATE'S PLACE IN HISTORY

John Lee Webster Recounts Some of the Romance of Nebraska's Long Descent.

PLEA FOR PIONEER'S MEMORY

LINCOLN, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—At the meeting of the Nebraska State Historical society tonight, John Lee Webster of Omaha gave his annual address, his subject being "The Romance of Nebraska History." Mr. Webster's paper was an unusual treatment of a very fascinating topic. In his opening sentences he said: "There were many incidents in the early history of Nebraska that are as romantic as the stories of the Arabian Nights. There were adventures as thrilling as anything written by Cervantes or Rabelais. And there were scenes as interesting and pathetic as the daring and tragic happenings recited in the history of the Crusaders."

Indian Treaty with Spain.

In fancy then he painted prehistoric conditions, and followed with a scholarly review of what is known about the history of Nebraska and the great Louisiana Purchase region, from the days of Marquette and La Salle to the present. Referring to the signing of a treaty between Andrew Lopez Arnestro, Baron de Carondelet and governor of Louisiana for the king of Spain, and Washington Sabe, chief of the Omahas, at New Orleans in May, 1766, Mr. Webster said: "What other incident in American history is as significant as this? It is the only treaty in this apparent league of peace and friendship between the Spanish governor of the south and the Indian chieftain of the north, neither of whom could speak the language of the other, and neither of whom ever expected to cultivate the tastes and habits, nor to adopt the civilization of the other. But both of these rulers represent a power and influential people; they both represented a kingdom or territory almost unlimited in extent. They were daring and intrepid men; both had a spirit of leadership, both were prepared to engage in warfare if necessary, and both of whom possessed something of the commercial spirit. But Washington Sabe subjected himself and his people to a state of vassalage to Baron de Carondelet, and through him to the great rulers of Spain and the Indies, and the Spanish government had established its right to float the flag of Spain upon the prairies that are now Nebraska."

Part of Past Glory.

"From the land which belonged to the children of the forests, of the prairies, and of the deserts, from primitive America to the sovereignty of the king of France and Navarre; and from thence in time to the jeweled crown of Spain, soon to be given back again at the request of an unscrupulous diplomat and at the urgency of a popular military genius, and later to become a part of freedom's wide home for the Anglo-Saxon race, what a marvel in history, and yet it is a part of the chronology of Nebraska." Incidents in Nebraska history, such as the foundation of Omaha, the passage by the territorial legislature of a resolution that resulted in the building of the Union Pacific railroad and similar events were referred to. To the late A. J. Poppleton, J. Sterling Morton and John M. Thayer Mr. Webster referred in warm eloquence. Of one of General Thayer's great acts he told in these words: "Thayer and Sumner. He did more than any other man to have Nebraska admitted into the union as a state. He personally took the constitution to Washington and presented it to the senators. Charles Sumner, a champion of civil rights of the colored man, almost to the degree of a fanatic, said the people of Nebraska were 'idiotic' in presenting a constitution that had the word 'white' in it."

Officers of the Historical Society.

This evening the session at the Temple theater was presided over by the president, John L. Webster, and addresses were made by John T. Sutton on the "Eighteenth Infantry," A. A. Reed, "The Nebraska National Guard during a Strike," Mrs. Cora A. Beals of Norfolk, "Early Days."

Officers of the Historical Society.

"Tomorrow the different societies will hold a conference and in the evening the annual banquet will be held at the Lincoln hotel. Officers of the historical society were all re-elected except Frank Haller of Blair, G. W. Wattle of Omaha being selected in his place as trustee. Other officers are John Lee Webster of Omaha, president; Robert Harvey, Lincoln, vice president; S. C. Bassett of Gibbon, second vice president; C. S. Paine of Lincoln, secretary; P. L. Hall of Lincoln, treasurer.

FRENCH FORCED TO ABANDON POINTS

Paris War Office Reports Defeats at Some Positions Along Central Part of Line in France.

ARTILLERY FIGHTS IN BELGIUM

PARIS, Jan. 13.—Severe winter weather from one end to the other of the battle line in France hindered military operations yesterday, according to the announcement given out this afternoon by the French war office. The French artillery showed some activity, notably near Soissons and between Rheims and the Argonne, but no decisive results were obtained. The fighting northeast of Soissons continues with severity. It is evident that large forces of infantry have been engaged. The French retain some of their positions, but were compelled to relinquish others. The statement follows: "The unfavorable weather conditions which have persisted along almost the entire front have hindered operations. In Belgium there has been a sand storm in the dunes along the coast. In the region of Neuport and near Ypres the French artillery directed an effective fire on the earthworks of the enemy."

Weather Conditions Unfavorable.

The unfavorable weather conditions which have persisted along almost the entire front have hindered operations. In Belgium there has been a sand storm in the dunes along the coast. In the region of Neuport and near Ypres the French artillery directed an effective fire on the earthworks of the enemy. "On the Aisne to the northeast of Soissons the fighting around 'spur 132' continued with great severity during all the day of January 12. The Germans brought considerable forces into this engagement. We maintained our position on the crest of the hill to the west of 'spur 132.' To the east our troops were obliged to give up ground. The fighting here continues. "Between Soissons and Berry-Aux-Bac shells from our artillery caused explosions at several points in the midst of batteries of the enemy. "In Champagne from Rheims to the Argonne there were yesterday exceedingly violent artillery exchanges. "In the region of Souvain the advance position covering the block house located to the north of the Besancon farm is still in our possession and we here have set up a trench distant sixty yards from the German trench. "In the Argonne there have been rain

Double Nuptials Celebrated by Big Wedding Reception

What is said to be one of the most brilliant social affairs ever given by the local Italian colony was the reception and dances last night at Mackie's hall in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Tedesco and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Caravello, popular young Italian folks, who were married earlier in the day. The hall was beautifully decorated and was filled to capacity all evening by a magnificent company of guests, many of whom came from other cities to attend. Bernard Caravello, who took Angiolino Tedesco for his wife, is connected with the Union Pacific, and Michael Tedesco, who married Carolina Marino, is in the shoe business in Benson. The quarter of lovers were married at St. Philomena's by Father Stagno at 10 o'clock in the morning, and in the afternoon the wedding banquet was served at the hall. In the evening the reception was held.

Washington Affairs

A resolution to amend the senate rules to permit a vote on prohibition for the District of Columbia was reported favorably to the senate. President Wilson told callers that he hoped the Philippine bill would be passed during the present session of congress, but that he could not speak with certainty on the subject because of the peculiar rules of the senate allowing unlimited debate. The Federal Reserve board has completed the draft of its first report to congress and expects to send it to the cabinet next week. The report will contain full information on everything the board has done or in which it has participated since its organization. Mandamus proceedings were begun in Washington courts against Postmaster General Burleson and Secretary Daniels by civil war veterans. The president from the civil service, who contends the law forbids their discharge while their records are good. President Wilson is understood to be counting on the support of several republican senators for the government ship purchase bill. At the president's request Senator La Follette visited the White House and Senator Kenyon has been asked to call.

WOE TO ANY "NEPOT." IS WRIT IN MISSOURI LAW

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 13.—Automatic removal from office, a fine of $100 and a jail sentence of one year is the penalty provided for any member of the state administration who appoints any relative within the sixth degree to a state, county, city or school district office in the house of the Missouri legislature today. The bill makes special reference to the offices of governor, auditor, secretary of state and treasurer, but while it is directed at the state administration, it is believed the measure if passed would cause great changes at the city hall of St. Louis and other cities.

Big Eaters Get Kidney Trouble

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your back hurts or bladder bothers you. The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health. When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizziness, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Advertisement.
