By MELLIFLOIA. Tuesday, January 19, 1915.

THE winter exodus always finds a number of the Omaha colony well represented at La Jolla, the slightly coast resort of southern California.

Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond, who was a visitor in Omaha yesterday, related to me the interesting history of this resort.

It was developed by her friend, Mrs. Heinrichs, known as the German Anna Held, who in her saunterings was fascinated with the beauty of the spot and built the very first cottage there, for her retreat.

After a very short time Mrs. Heinrichs and her shelter were discovered by Beatrice Harraden, who while a guest at this retreat wrote her "Ships that Pass in the Night."

Mrs. J. Clark Coff and family are at La Jolla now and have wintered in this alluringly spot for years. It is, likewise, the favored haunt of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Reed and family.

For Carrie Jacobs Bond.
The Omaha Woman's Press club entertained at luncheon Monday at the Rone hotel, in honor of Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond, who gave a song recital last evening. A handsomely illuminated electric table of red roses was used as the table centerpiece.

Tea at the Royal Hotel.
The women of the Seymour Lake Country club gave a tea this afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock at the tea rooms of the Hotel Royal. The women are planning to provide Seymour Country club with a complete playground equipment for the exclusive use of the club children.

Musical and Tea.
Mrs. L. P. Crofoot gave a musical and tea this afternoon in honor of the alumnae of the Sacred Heart. The rooms were adorned with Killarney roses and numbers of the program were given by Mrs. Crofoot, Miss Loretta Dellone and Mrs. Ed Hald. Mrs. Crofoot was assisted by the officers of the alumnae, who are Mrs. Arthur Keelins, Misses Nan Murphy, Marie Woodard, Blanche Kinler.

Hanley-Cullen Wedding.
The wedding of Mrs. Roxana Cullen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Cullen, and Mr. Thomas Hanley, was celebrated this morning at 10 o'clock at St. Peter's church. Rev. Father MacCarthy officiated.

The church was decorated with palms and bride and groom. The bride wore a gown of white crepe de chine, made with court train. The long-sleeved bodice was trimmed with chantilly lace and finished with a De Meid collar. Her train was caught with real orange blossoms sent by a friend for the occasion from Hollywood, Cal. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Margaret Cullen, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid and wore a gown of pink crepe de chine, made very simply in the simple style. She wore a Tippetary tulle of pink tulle and carried an arm bouquet of Killarney roses.

Mr. Dennis Cullen, brother of the bride, was the best man, and Messrs. James Hanley and J. A. Cullen the ushers. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Cullen, for about thirty guests. The rooms were decorated with Killarney fern and Killarney roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanley will be at home after February 15 at Red Oak, Ia.

Debutante Bridge Club.
Miss Marton Kuhn was hostess today at the meeting of the Debutante Bridge club. The members present were: Misses—Eugenia Patterson, Stella Thurmond, Ann Gifford, Lucille Bonon, Eleanor Mackay, Blanche Duell, Helen Clarke.

Rawitzer-Kemp Wedding.
The wedding of Miss Clara Kemp, daughter of Mrs. August Kemp, and Mr. Carl F. Rawitzer, son of the late A. H. Rawitzer, took place Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Oliver D. Hattley of Kountze Memorial church performed the ceremony. The guests were the immediate relatives of the bride and groom.

The bride wore a gown of white satin trimmed with seed pearls and duchess lace and she carried a bouquet of bride's roses. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the groom's aunt, Miss Rose Martin. The rooms were decorated with palms, ferns and bride's roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Rawitzer will go to California on a wedding trip and upon their return Mr. Rawitzer will enter business in Omaha. Mr. and Mrs. Rawitzer are staying at the home of Miss Rose Martin, 1021 South Twenty-second street.

Tuesday Bridge Club.
The Tuesday Bridge club was entertained today at the home of Mrs. John Madden. Two tables of players were present.

MOST OF GRADE GRADUATES GO ON

Eighty-Seven Per Cent Go to High Schools, Which is Far Above the Average for Country.

SOME SCHOOLS OVERFLOWED

Of the 45 boys and girls graduating from the graded schools of Omaha at this midwinter term 37 will continue their course in the Central High school and High School of Commerce, 230 going to the former and 146 to the latter. Superintendent Graff is simply elated at this fact. It is full of significance. Educational statistics have shown that as a rule half of those completing the grade schools in the United States never continue their education. That is to say, as many boys and girls pass out of the schools altogether from the grades as pursue courses in higher education.

And here is an instance where 87 per cent of the grade school graduates go on into high schools. It is remarkable even for Omaha, whose percentage may be a little higher than the average. Yet only last year some of the school authorities were lamenting the fact that so many youths gave up school with the completion of the grades.

Superintendent Graff feels that while this is most gratifying for the Central High, it is quite a vindication for the High School of Commerce, whose total enrollment will continue around 600. The fact that so many boys and girls nationwide that institution is taken as conclusive evidence of its practical appeal.

Grades Crowded.
But far more than 45 boys and girls will enter the grades to succeed those who have gone out at this midwinter season. The excess, in fact, is just now causing a good deal of careful thinking and planning on the superintendent's part. The school plant capacity is already well taxed. Some schools will now be overflowed, particularly Lincoln, at Eleventh and Lincoln boulevard, and Mason, at Twenty-fourth and Mason streets.

"There are three ways of meeting this emergency," says Mr. Graff. "One is the use of portable buildings to carry off the surplus; another by holding half-day sessions, an extremely undesirable expedient; the third is by putting two teachers in the crowded rooms. What we shall do I cannot at present say."

C. J. Ernst, in his inaugural address as president of the Board of Education, dropped this remark: "We must endeavor to do our full duty to the children of our schools and their parents."

Many believe that before this can be fully realized, additional school buildings will be necessary.

For Indigestion.
Never take peppin and preparations containing peppin or other digestive ferment for indigestion, as the more you take the more you will have to take. What is needed is a tonic like Chamberlain's Tablets that will enable the stomach to perform its functions naturally. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

At the University Club.
Mrs. Raymond Hayward and Mrs. Charles Junod entertained at luncheon today at the University club. The guests were seated at small tables, which were decorated with Killarney roses and white narcissus. Covers were placed for thirty.

Personal Mention.
Mrs. J. L. Howard expects to leave in a few days for Galveston, Tex., to visit friends.

Miss Veora Howard returned last week from Chicago and St. Joseph, Mo., where she has been visiting friends and relatives.

UNION PACIFIC REPORTS LESS THEIVING THIS YEAR
Officials of the secret service department of the Union Pacific have no reason to believe that the world is growing better, but they do assert that crime is growing less along the system.

Last month, over the entire system, the officers of the secret service department of the Union Pacific caused the arrest of eighty-four persons. During the corresponding month of the previous year the number was nearly double. Some coal is being stolen from trains and from cars laid in on sidings at stations, but nothing near as much as during former winters.

Thin People Can Increase Weight
Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "meat" fat should try taking a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good and worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. The weight and measure again. If it's a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think, the Sargol and the measure will tell the story, and most any thin man or woman can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction and best of all the new (fresh stars) put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but it mixes with your food, it turns the fat sugars and starches of what you have eaten into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues of the body. It is an easily assimilated form of fat which the blood can readily accept. All this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol stops the waste and does it quickly and makes the fat producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive.

LOVE BLOCKS STREET CARS

Young Woman in Electric Reads Cupid's Missive Though Hungry Suburbanites Wait.

THREE LOADED CARS DELAYED

At, level!!
Words seem weak to apostrophize the tender passion, the raging passion, the storming passion.
Miles of poetry and tons of prose have been written about it.
People sigh for it and lie for it and die for it.
But to our sad tale.
It is the tale of how love, at Twenty-seventh and Farnam streets, Monday evening about 6 o'clock, stopped three big street cars, held up 300 impatient and hungry people, muzzed the feelings of three sturdy motormen and three gentlemanly conductors.

"Twas the witching hour of 5:41 and car No. 811 was hurtling westward, packed to the doors, when at Twenty-seventh and Farnam streets it stopped and did not start again. Directly on the track in front was a dainty electric coupe.

Minutes passed and car No. 811, hurtling westward, packed to the doors, came to a stop behind car No. 811. The sturdy motorman of car No. 814 spoke to the gentlemanly conductor of car No. 811.

"Auto broke down in front," said the e. c. of No. 811.
Huh," responded the s. m. of No. 811. Minutes passed some more. Car No. 821, hurtling westward, packed to the doors, came to a stop behind car No. 814. The sturdy motorman of car No. 821 spoke to the gentlemanly conductor of car No. 814.

"Automobile broke down up ahead," said the e. c. of No. 814.
"Gee," exclaimed the s. m. of No. 821, or words to that effect.

The cars had been at a standstill for some moments when the crews decided to investigate why it was taking so long to repair the dainty little electric. Three motormen bearing controller handles and three conductors bearing ticket punches went forward to see what was the trouble.

Save the Handwriting.
But where were the grimy repair men whom they expected to find? They were not. Instead, through the plate glass door of the electric they beheld a vision of feminine beauty—cheeks like the rose, lips like cherries, a tangle of brown hair curling lovingly over the ear. Her daintily gloved hand held the numerous pages of a voluminous letter, and her eyes devoured the words that were written on those pages, while on her face was a look of surpassing bliss.

The six minutes of the street railway company passed in amaze.
The sturdy motorman of car No. 814 saw the envelope and noted the strong, masculine handwriting.
The gentlemanly conductor of car No. 811 saw the first page, which he does solemnly affirm started with these words:

"My own sweet darling, Tootums."
The sturdy motorman of car No. 821, who is a benedict and expresses contempt for all such foolishness, says he is ashamed to read the silly words he saw. And the gentlemanly conductor of car No. 821, who is a victim of the tender passion himself, clasped his hands and declared the ending of the letter was "poetical."

Sighs for Joy.
The little queen in the electric had nearly finished her letter when the six minutes appeared. She drew a great sigh of joy, pressed the envelope to her lips, and then, with a start, saw the six, without.

A blush mantled her cheeks as she saw the people stopping on the sidewalks and the three trolley cars held up behind her. She said words which seemed to be, "Oh, I beg your pardon." Then she threw over a clutch and sped away at full speed.

And soon the three trolleys, packed to the doors, were again hurtling westward, while three sturdy motormen and three gentlemanly conductors ruminated on the wonders of love.

Police Asked to Help Protect Public Library
The constant presence of suspicious characters in the rooms of the public library, combined with the theft of a valuable carved ivory cane from the library, Tuesday morning has caused Mrs. Edith Tobitt, the librarian, to call upon the police department to help her rid the institution of suspects. A detective warned one young man to stay away from the building on threat of arrest.
