MISS PORTIA SWETT, Omaha's well known exponent of the dance art is piling up honors for herself in the east. Miss Swett is to go to New York City, where she will take full charge of the artistic dancing at Castle House this coming summer.

As an added incentive for her to go east, the Castles have through special favoritism from Madame Duncan placed Miss Swett with Miss Duncan as a special pupil.

This is an unusual honor paid Miss Swett, when it is known that Miss Duncan limits her work only to children who will agree to devote their lives to the art.

Miss Swett gives a matinee dance here Saturday, January 30. She will do a great deal of her solo work at this affair and will be assisted by a few of our very good dancers.

A dance for all the guests will follow the program.

REMOVES BRIDGE TO PAWN THE GOLD

Young Chap Has Dr. Foster Take Out $35 Bridge, Which He Pawns for $4.

IS AN ACTOR OUT OF A JOB

"Honest to God, Doc, I'm in my right mind, and I want you to take out that gold bridge so I can sell it and get money to live on a few days." This was the burden of a plaintive appeal made to a dentist—Dr. Harry A. Foster—when a clean cut young man, claiming to be an actor out of a job, came into his office. He pulled his lip back and revealed a splendid gold bridge that he had been carrying for a number of years. "It cost me $5 to have that put in," he continued, "and I ought to be able to sell the gold for something."

Again and again Dr. Foster tried to talk the man out of having the bridge removed, as the doctor told him it was a good piece of work and should be left. As often as the dentist refused to do the work, the actor began his story over again and insisted more and more.

Is Down and Out.

"I am down and out. I'm an actor, but can't get a place," he continued. "I will not beg or steal. The only thing I could think of about me that is of value is this gold bridge and I'm going to sell it. Don't you worry about it. I'll have it put back as soon as I can get work and get some money. This is my affair and I want you to do me this favor."

Seeing the man was in dead earnest and that he was a fellow entirely responsible and sane, Dr. Foster finally consented to take off the bridge.

"Thank you, doc, thank you very much," he said as he got out of the chair and heard that Foster would not charge him for the work.

He carried the gold bridge down to the establishment of H. Eisele and there sold it at 70 cents a pennyweight, which netted him about $4.

Omaha Boosters to Navigation Meeting

Several Omaha men, boosters for river navigation, will likely go to St. Joseph, Mo., Friday to attend a big Missouri river navigation meeting to be held there Friday night. A number of St. Joseph men were in Omaha attending the mass meeting held here some weeks ago when Kansas City men interested in the boat line from Kansas City to St. Joseph were in Omaha speaking on the subject. The St. Joseph Yellowjackets back home and got the city all enthusiastic over the possibilities of a river barge line to connect St. Joseph with the big cities up and down the river. The result is that a meeting has been called for that place, and the Omaha Commercial club has been asked to send some live delegates to the meeting. They have not yet been designated, but several will undoubtedly go.

Experienced Women Advise Mother's Friend

Because it is so perfectly safe to use and has been of such great help to a host of expectant mothers, these women, experienced in this most happy period, advise the use of "Mother's Friend." Applied externally to the abdominal muscles its purpose is to relieve the undue tension upon the cords and ligaments resulting from muscular expansion. Beneath the surface is a network of fine nerve threads and the gentle, soothing embrocation, "Mother's Friend," is designed to so lubricate the muscular fibres as to avoid the unnecessary and continuous nagging upon this myriad of nerves. It is a reflex action.

Benson is Ablaze With Gossip Over Two Black Eyes

How did Brother McCormick get that pair of beautifully blacked eyes? That is the question which is agitating our suburban town of Benson to its depths, and more gossip is revolved about it to the square inch than about anything that has happened there in a long time.

Mr. McCormick is a machinist on the Daily News and was elected member of the city council of Benson last year. The latest is that he has just rented his home and that his resignation as councilman is in prospect. Be that as it may, Brother McCormick made tracks last Wednesday evening from the Moose club to a certain doctor's office, swearing vengeance for certain alleged wrongs, and when he emerged he carried his black eyes with him. Needless to say there is supposed to be a woman in the case, if not more than one, and further developments are eagerly awaited.

FATHER OF TWENTY-ONE CHILDREN IS KILLED

According to the reports to the claim department of the Union Pacific, Joseph H. Moore, who was killed by one of the company passenger trains, was in the yards picking up coal at the time when he was struck. He stepped off one track to avoid a train and onto another, on which a train was coming from an opposite direction. He was so close that the engineer could not slacken the speed of his engine sufficient so that Moore could get off the track. Moore was the father of twenty-one children, the youngest less than a year old.

Thousands Walk to Work When Street Cars Are Tied Up

For forty-five minutes Monday morning from 7:55 to 8:40, right during the busiest portion of the day, there was not a street car in the city that was running. The dead cars were scattered along the several lines, and in every instance they were loaded to capacity with people seeking to get to their work and to their respective lines of business.

The trouble with the street railway company was that it had taken too much water. At the power house on the river, the water rose and flooded the fires in the engines that were in use. The water backed up in the intake and before it could be shut out it had done its work. It had killed the fires and there was nothing doing until steam was gotten up under other boilers. It took just forty-five minutes to do this, and in the meantime some 20,000 people, more or less, sat in the cars, waiting for the power to be turned on, or walked down town.

As a result of things having gone wrong with the street cars, stores were late in opening, shoppers were late in arriving and the schools were far behind in starting the morning session. Then, too, there were a lot of people who had intended going away on early trains and most of them postponed the trips until another time. The cars of the Council Bluffs line were also tied up.
