QUESTION that is being much discussed today among the Omaha bachelors at club and grill is the old, old perplexing problem, "What is a man to do with his dance partner after the dance is finished?" Few women are so attractive and entertaining as to be able to interest their partner a whole or half of an evening (this thought is a blow, isn't it?), but alas, allurements vary and some women, in the matter of partners, have an embarrassment of riches, while others suffer a more embarrassing poverty. But must a man be a George Glue because the fair one he just danced with is estimable and a friend of the family Here is how an exterienced old-timer expressed himself the other day:

"If the foolish dread of sitting, standing or walking in a ball room without an escort or companion could be lifted from the average girl, the question would be easier answered. Let both dance partners be accorded more freedom of action. Let the girl casually say, 'Those were delightful dances, now go and get someone else,' and the harasaing notion which exists in every man's mind of getting stuck would vanish and the girl would the more likely see him again, or have other heroes in his place. Let me emphasize this-'The stuck man dreads the sticker.' "

Plans for Glee Club Concert.

Keen interest is being taken in the coming concert of the Creighton Glee club, which is dated for Tuesday evening, February 9, at the Brandels theater. This is the fifth annual concert to be given by the club. In previous years the club has introduced musical lights from abroad, but in the spirit of a change this year club songs, and college vim will be featured. Those who have accepted to serve as patronesses for this affair are:

Irresistible Purse Emptiers Saturday

Now Follows Some Quotations From Our Bedding and Linen Sections at Kilpatrick's

Which cannot fail to attract a crowd and get the money. When making the final accounting and finishing up our inventory we found odd pieces, odd pairs, odd numbers left over from the BIGGEST OF JANUARY SALES. On the opening day of this wonderful sale more than 4,000 persons broke bread with us and bade us Godspeed for the new year. And then what buying, and the beauty of it all has been the continuation. Saturday should be a close second to the first day's business. Come in the morn—we'll be ready and trim; come back at noon we'll be selling with vim; come after lunch and you'll still find us hustling. Come morn noon or even' you'll still find us hustling you is still tind us nustring. Come morn, no	on or even'—you'll still find us bustling.

We Thought of High, Low, Jack and the Game

When Mr. Tuttle approached us to talk shoes-Says he, we have over 200 pairs of High; says he, we have about 200 pairs of low. I said I have the Jack, and if you are game, we will sell them out Saturday. I suggested 2' trump cards, 89c a pair for the Low; $1.59 per pair for the High. Mr. Tuttle said I think that will do the trick. I have an abiding faith that the game is ours-Two lots, then, for Saturday-89c for Low Shoes; $1.59 for High Shoes. The Kilpatrick kind-Baker was the maker of most of them, and they were $4.00 and $5.00 and even $6.00. Is it necessary to warn you to get yours early-Even Lauder justifies early rising if you have something particular to do.
