light will be with us in so short a time now-a nice, quiet little interval to devote to hair treatments, chiropodists and people like that. I know one dear little person in a near by state who has her face skinned every Lent and comes out with a wonderful gorgeous complexion at Easter time "Blushing and sweet each Easter morn." It must be an awful proess she goes through swathed in woolen shawls for weeks and she admits it is most painful.

Society is anticipating the sack and ashes days and taking on a plous turn of mind this week, to the extent that almost all affairs with the exception of the Subscription club's dance are for the benefit of something or other or some church sewing or Belgian relief gathering. Next Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of Miss Jessie Millard the musicale for the benefit of the Social Settlement will be given. The program is to be particularly attractive, with Mrs. A. I. Root and Miss Harriet Mets as vocal sololats, Mrs. Crofoot at the plane and Miss Heren Somers as violinist. Mrs. Edgar Scott, Mrs. W. F. Baxter and Mrs. Harold Gifford has charge, with Mine Harriet Metz, Miss Eugenie Patterson, Miss Kuhn, Miss Gretchen Mc-Connell and Miss Lewland assisting them. Mine Patterson is chairman of the committee of arrangements and has not left s stone unturned for its success.

Mr. W. R. Burbank, manager of the Fontenelle, announces that the opening will consist of a banquet for the stockders and directors of the Douglas Hotel company and their families. there are something over 300 stockholders and directors, most of whom live in Omaha, it will be necessary to limit the dining room service that evening to them, but the rest of the hotsi will be open to inspection by the public then and during the rest of the week.

Society Night at Auto Show. Without the usual unction attending the management of the Omaha Auto show has quietly announced that Thurs-day, February 18, will be society night

Last year society night was procialme with heralding accompaniment and it was asserted that society was synonymous with tango, as far as automobile shows Whereupon several members of the association put in liberal complaints and dissension ensued. Thus the manage ment abandoned tango and this year the officials answer all queries as to society night in a meek and modest tone.

THE Woods Worm Gear Drive is different from all others. The worm is located below the gear wheel so it always runs in a bath of oil.

The hour-glass shape of the worm keeps three teeth always in contact with the wheel. This reduces tooth pressure, allowing a thicker film of oil between teeth, and thus insures perfect lubrication. That is the secret of the efficiency of the Woods Worm Gear Drive. The oil drains away from the motor by gravity. Large bearings assure perfect alignment with practically no friction. Call or write for our new catalog just issued. It shows our new models, gives full descriptions, and tells about many other mechanical refinements which make the Woods the easiest running, most enduring electric car.
