

DIOPHANTUS used a lantern but the up-to-date business man in Omaha uses the advertising columns of The Bee.

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE

THE WEATHER
Fair

VOL. XLIV—NO. 207

OMAHA, MONDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 15, 1915.

On Trains and at Hotel News Stands, 5c. SINGLE COPY TWO CENTS.

CLOSE CALL FOR FRED DUFRENE ON LEDGE OF HOTEL

Mind Unbalanced by Sickness, He Tries to Jump from the Roof of the Farnam Hotel.

FIREMEN COME TO RESCUE

Rush Up Ladder Just in Time to Stop Him as He Attempts to Leap to the Pavement.

TROUBLE MAY BE TEMPORARY

Hundreds of horrified passersby gazed with sickening sensations at Fred DuFrene, whose mother owns the Farnam and Rivard hotels, Ninth and Farnam streets, as he clung, garbed only in a nightgown, to the narrow ledge that crowns the top of the three-story Farnam hotel building yesterday afternoon. While firemen and police officers worked madly to rescue him, DuFrene, who was mentally irresponsible, moved dizzily about, and every moment it seemed as though he was about to be dashed to the pavement below.

Stealing Copy of Bee Proves to Be Rather Expensive

Ten dollars and a quarter for one copy of The Omaha Bee? That is not the subscription price. It can be had for less than that from any of the authorized agents. But a fine of $5 and costs, which were $3.50, besides, is what George Saunders had to pay in police court in Hastings the other day for stealing one copy of The Bee from a doorstep of a subscriber.

Hold Up State Bank

WILLISTON, N. D., Feb. 14.—Entering the Medicine Lake State bank at Medicine Lake, Mont., early today, two youths, hands forced the cashier to hand over $3,000 in currency and escaped. A woman overtook them as they were riding towards the North Dakota line, and in a running battle one of the bandits was wounded and captured. His companion escaped, riding toward the Canadian border.

The Weather

For Nebraska—Fair. For Iowa—Cloudy. Temperature at Omaha Yesterday.

Hour	Temp.
5 a. m.	29
6 a. m.	29
7 a. m.	29
8 a. m.	29
9 a. m.	29
10 a. m.	29
11 a. m.	29
12 m.	29
1 p. m.	29
2 p. m.	29
3 p. m.	29
4 p. m.	29
5 p. m.	29
6 p. m.	29
7 p. m.	29
8 p. m.	29
9 p. m.	29
10 p. m.	29
11 p. m.	29
12 m.	29

SUNDAY WILL COME HERE IN SEPTEMBER

Committee Returns from Philadelphia to Find Evangelist Must Continue Work There.

TELL OF INTEREST IN EAST

"Billy" Sunday will not come to Omaha in May. He will come to Omaha next September instead, and open his campaign here, Sunday, September 5 and continue through that month and October.

Felt Religious Spell

"And we feel now that we have for several days this last week been under the spell of the most marvelous religious drama. Last Thursday we entered with Mr. and Mrs. Sunday, the handsome limousine which John Wanamaker placed at the disposal of the Sundays and were taken to the palatial home of Edward T. Powell, manager of the show. All the morning and afternoon of Thursday, these in addition to the ordinary crowds that besiege the tabernacle hours before every meeting.

TENTH OMAHA AUTO SHOW OPENS TODAY

By Working All Day Sunday Auditorium is Completely Decorated and Cars Installed.

TO BE BIGGEST OF OMAHA SHOWS

With a larger exhibit of handsome touring cars, and twice as large an exhibit of heavy trucks as was ever shown in an Omaha automobile show in the past, the tenth annual Automobile show is ready to open its doors at the Auditorium formally at 2 p. m. today.

New Are Enthusiastic

Rev. Mr. Hoffman told his skeptical charges to enthusiasm regarding Mr. Sunday. He was formerly pastor of a church at Youngstown, O. "A campaign was about to be inaugurated by Mr. Sunday there," he asserted. "One day the superintendent of schools said to me, 'It is a great mistake to bring Sunday here.' And I thoroughly agreed with him."

TODAY IS ANNIVERSARY OF BLOWING UP OF MAINE

Seventeen years ago tonight, at 8:24, the battleship, Maine, was blown up in an explosion in Havana harbor. Today is the seventeenth anniversary of that terrible catastrophe, when 261 loyal American citizens, stanch sailor boys on the Maine, lost their lives without a chance to protect themselves; when mines, planted in every corner of the harbor, were exploded underneath the battleship. It was the blowing up of the Maine that excited the United States to action with regard to Spain and its colony, Cuba, and which resulted in a war between Spain and this country. Following investigations of the exploding of the Maine, President McKinley on April 29 sent an ultimatum to Spain which prompted that country to hand General Woodford-American minister at Madrid, his passports. Following that, President McKinley on April 25 asked congress to declare war, and on that same day congress did so.

MILITANT SUFF AIDS COUNTRY INSTEAD OF FIGHTING IT—Mrs. Pankhurst talking to a woman street car conductor in Paris. For some time Mrs. Pankhurst has been in Paris working in hospitals and otherwise aiding in relief.

GERMANS CAPTURE TOWN OF NORROY

Also Take Hill 365 to Southwest of Norroy and Take 151 Men as Prisoners.

FRENCH REPORT MOVEMENT

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—(Via Wireless to London.)—The official statement issued today by the German army headquarters says:

"To the north of Pont-A-Mousson we took the village of Norroy from the French and we also captured Hill 365, to the southwest of that village. Two officers and 151 men were taken prisoners. In the Vosges we stormed Wilson and Obersengern, where we took 15 prisoners. In the eastern theater, on the other side of the East Prussian frontier, our operations are taking the course we anticipated.

Design is English Garden

The general design of the booth arrangement, the decoration, the palms and smilax is that of an English garden. White picket fences are used in the boundaries of the booths so that the whole floor space has an artistic and classy appearance. The entrance to the white picket enclosure is made in a pergola effect, with palms all around and a veritable hedge on either side. George Lahr has just finished the decorations. Not a patch of the wall of the Auditorium is visible anywhere in the building. The entire surface has been covered with green and white sheeting, which are the Automobile show colors. Over 15,000 yards of the sheeting were used in the decorations. Beautiful lighting effects have been prepared by the circular arrangement of a species of Japanese lanterns enclosed in the green and white sheeting, thus artistically maintaining the color scheme. These lights, ten in each group, are arranged on the top of great white pillars.

All Late Models on View

All the latest 1915 models of automobiles are on exhibit at this show. Touring cars run from $600 machines down. The exhibits at this show are valued at over $200,000. There are nearly fifty exhibitors, with 200 cars on exhibit. Monday night is to be observed as opening night. Tuesday night is to be musical night. Wednesday night is to be dealers' night. Thursday is to be society night. Friday is to be cabaret night and Saturday night, closing night. Oleon's orchestra is to furnish music throughout the week. Singers and dancers of strictly class style are to give performances Friday evening, which is set apart as cabaret night. They will all be professionals of recognized ability.

PORTLAND CITY CAR PUT IN JITNEY BUS BUSINESS

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 14.—In order to learn for himself whether a 5-cent fare automobile service could be made to pay, Mayor H. R. Albee placed the city council's seven-passenger car in service for a day and a half this week on a route in the most populous part of Portland. The results, made public today, satisfied the mayor and commissioners that such a service could not be made to pay. The mayor's chauffeur operated the car. He collected during the twelve-hour period of the test a total of $1.75. Total expenses of furnishing the service, including estimated depreciation of the car, were $4.00, leaving as wages for the operator $2.75, which is at the rate of $1.17 for a day of eight hours.

VON HINDENBURG'S STRATEGY OUT OF NAPOLEON'S BOOK

German General Who Has Won So Many Victories Over Russ Always Strikes Where Least Expected.

GRAND DUKE MISCALCULATES

Crafty Teuton Makes Muscovites Look for Blow in One Place and Delivers it in Another.

CREDIT TO THE GENERAL STAFF

BERLIN (via London), Feb. 14.—The success of the Germans in East Prussia emphasizes, according to the view held here, the quiet strategy of Field Marshal von Hindenburg, which is designed to strike an enemy when and where the blow is least expected.

After the Russian strength on the Warsaw front proved too great, and a flanking movement became necessary, Field Marshal von Hindenburg decided to choose the left wing, owing to the better equipment of East Prussia with railways and because the colder weather offered better prospects for successful operations, the snow being no hindrance.

Veils His Plans

Von Hindenburg veiled his plans by reinforcing the Austrians in the Carpathians in order to make a strong diversion and misled the Russians into thinking that the real flanking movement was to be carried out there. Meanwhile he assembled a strong army above the Masurian lakes; composed for the most part of fresh recruits.

A Real Defeat

This, he adds, was "a defeat in the fullest sense of the word," as evidenced by the immense booty and the hasty evacuation of the position mentioned in the official bulletin.

Major Morath thinks that one of the first effects of this success will be seen in the region north of the Vistula, eastward of Thorn, where the Russians some time ago, advanced westward across the Rawa river.

No One Man Supreme

"These successes in the eastern arena prove the superiority of the German talent for organization, which causes painful astonishment for the Russians. This talent is not connected with any one name, so far as it is now understood, it is not the work of any individual and prominent leader, like Napoleon, a century ago. These great German achievements in creating new armies will perhaps be attributed later to the genius of a single great organizer. At any rate, our capacity for creating armies and putting them in the right spot proves that the German general staff is continually utilizing the experiences gained in the Franco-Prussian war."

Dynamite Laden Car Demolishes Wagon

An automobile being driven without lights and laden with a large quantity of dynamite, to be used in blasting near South Omaha, struck a delivery wagon last night at Nineteenth and Charles streets, but caused no serious injury. The machine was slightly damaged and the wagon was demolished. Joe Kolnick, 232 North Nineteenth street, and Harry Marston, 184 North Twentieth, were in the wagon and both received painful bruises when they were thrown out. The auto was driven by Guy P. Dorsey of the county surveyor's staff, and he was accompanied by Charles Peterson, 160 South Thirteenth street.

Kaiser Lets Captive Go to Dying Mother

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—(Via London.)—Raoul Davidot, a French prisoner of war, returned to Germany today from a visit to his home in France, where he was permitted to go by order of Emperor William, to see his dying mother. The Frenchman wrote direct to the emperor his request to be allowed to visit his mother, pledging his word of honor to return by March 1. The emperor immediately granted the request and Davidot made the trip to France by way of Switzerland. After the death of his mother he returned to the detention camp in Germany.

Wilson and Party Chiefs Talk Plans For Stump Speeches

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—President Wilson discussed his plans for political speeches during spring and summer tonight at a White House conference with members of the executive campaign committee, which outlined during the day its preparations for the 1916 campaign. The president, it was said, undoubtedly will make a number of political addresses on the way to and from the Pan-American exposition at San Francisco. Even should he be kept from attending the exposition in March, as now planned, by an extra session of congress, it was said that he would make the trip later.

Eight Men Killed in Battle at Panama

PANAMA, Feb. 14.—A fight between soldiers and native policemen here late tonight resulted, according to first reports of the conflict, in the deaths of five policemen and three soldiers and the wounding of many of the combatants. A carnival is in progress and many soldiers were on leave to attend the festivity. The Southern and Western Pacific are indicted.

LONDON AND BERLIN ARE BOTH JUBILANT

Success of Air Raid Tickers Britons, While Defeat of Russians Gives Germans Pleasure.

WORLD AWAITS REPLIES TO U. S.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—Berlin is celebrating the evacuation of east Prussia by the Russians, which is hailed in the German capital as another great victory for Field Marshal von Hindenburg. England is not attempting to hide its elation at the success of its airmen's raid on the German positions in Belgium, and all Europe is eagerly discussing the American notes to Great Britain and Germany and contemplating what the replies will be.

Just in Emergencies

Great Britain has already intimated that British merchant ships have been advised to use neutral flags only in case of emergency, and no general use of such flags is anticipated.

Russ Making Stand

So far as the east Prussian situation is concerned the Russian official reports indicate that the Russians, having evacuated the greater part of the German (Continued on Page Four, Col. Three) province, are making a stand on or near their frontier—whether for a pitched battle or only to delay the German advance it will take a few days to tell.

Continue Attacks

Throughout Poland, where fierce fighting has occurred during the last week, the battles now consist of artillery engagements, while in the Carpathians fighting of more or less severity continues. The Germans are making repeated attempts in an effort to capture the heights of Kozlowka, in Tulkowa, Pass, which they won and lost twice since last Sunday. They are now entrenched within forty paces of the Russian positions, and despite their heavy losses are apparently hopeful of capturing them.

Air Raid Tickers Britons

In the view of British experts the air raid on Belgium proves that the British airmen are superior to the Germans and have a great advantage in the possession of a base on the continent as well as in England, for while the British, if they are unable to return, can land in France, the Germans must make the round trip across the sea.

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

KAISER INVITES U. S. AMBASSADOR TO A CONFERENCE

James W. Gerard Asked to Meet Emperor William on the Eastern Battle Front.

GERMAN EDITORS OBJECT

Tone of Some of Papers is One of Complaint Against American Note.

CALL ITS TONE BLUSTERING

LONDON, Feb. 14.—The German emperor, according to an Eschance Telegraph dispatch from The Hague, has invited the American ambassador to Germany, James W. Gerard to a conference at eastern headquarters.

BERLIN (Via London), Feb. 14.

The American Ambassador James W. Gerard conferred last evening with the German Foreign Secretary Herr von Jagow, regarding the American note, at the latter's request. Nothing has been made public regarding the conference, but it is learned that the foreign office is now preparing an answer to the American note and the idea is entertained in certain quarters that Germany may suggest that the United States send an American warship to convoy American merchantmen through the danger zone, thus guaranteeing the neutrality of the vessels.

BERLIN (Via London), Feb. 14.

The Berlin newspapers continue their comment on the American government's note to Germany concerning the provisions of the German admiralty's sea war zone proclamation. The tone of the editorials while generally of a determined nature, is friendly. Conspicuous exceptions to the rule, however, are furnished by Die Post and the Tager Zeitung, the former employing rather sharp phrases.

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that the request of the United States that ships be searched before further action is taken against them shows "that the people in Washington do not or will not comprehend the meaning of the German measure."

Count Ernst Reventlow, the naval expert in an article in the Tageszeitung says the full text of the note gives further ground for his criticisms of Saturday. He declares that