

Nebraska DEMOS TO CAUCUS TODAY

Will Try to Get Together on Some of the Pledges Made Last Fall.

NO PLAN FOR KNIFING YET

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Feb. 21.—(Special.)—Democrats of the house have found it advisable to call a caucus to get together on some of the platform pledges made the people last fall. One of these is the bill to elect supreme court judges by districts. There is much opposition to the bill and it may take a lot of amending before it meets with the approval of the members. The Lanigan bill, which is the one under controversy, divides the state into nine districts. This, in the minds of some of the members, is too radical a change, and they want to leave the membership on the bench as it is with seven judges and then elect the six associates from each of the six congressional districts, with the chief justice elected by the entire state. This may meet the approval of the majority, provided that Lanigan is willing to accept the amendment.

The Main Thing Discussed

This will be the main thing which will be taken up by the caucus, although other things will be discussed, among them the appropriation bills, which, it is reported, will be ready some time during the week. It is understood that the finance, ways and means committee is not yet clear as to just how much the departments will be cut. It is said that it is not pleased with the system of charging up expenses in the case of examiners of the different departments. One member of the committee, so it is said, favors a plan to discover just how much the average examiner needs for his work and then pay him a salary sufficient to cover those needs, and then it is up to him to spend what he likes.

Make Many Trips

It is said that some examiners have been in the habit of making examinations in some town a short distance out in the state, and, instead of staying there until the examinations are complete, run into Lincoln every night, and the state pays the expense. One round trip is all the committee thinks an examiner is entitled to and if a plan can be arranged it is probable that something will be fixed up which will prevent an examiner from spending his whole appropriation just because he is afraid that if he does not he won't get the same amount for the next biennium.

Large Into Departments

The scare that was put into the state house departments that clerks would be cut out promiscuously has to some extent died out, although there is enough uncertainty hanging about to keep the cold shivers traveling up and down the spinal column whenever the matter is brought up.

Another matter which may be discussed is the difficulty which the university committee is having over the investigation of the methods used in spending money appropriated by the state. However, the war clouds have begun to disappear since the battle of last Thursday, and, as the regents have decided to make an itemized statement of their needs, dividing up the departments about the way Chairman Taylor contended, there may be no more controversy over the matter. It is understood that the caucus may be called some time Monday and an agreement as to future action on legislation taken.

JERRY WANTS COLLECTORS TO TAKE OUT LICENSES

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Feb. 21.—(Special.)—Collection agencies will be compelled to take out a license to do business if a bill introduced by Representative Jerry Howard of Douglas county, known as H. R. 555 is passed and becomes a law. The bill requires a license fee of $5, which shall be paid into the county treasury of the county in which the agency is situated and requiring a bond of $1,000. The law will not apply to attorneys in the regular practice of their profession where the collection of claims is a part. A failure to comply with the law makes the offender subject to a fine of not more than $100.

Nebraska Hearing This Week On Omaha Bills

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Feb. 21.—(Special.)—The legislative measures of interest to Omaha and Douglas county just at this time, both of which happen to be senate files and both having passed that body, are the Howell annexation bill No. 2 and the Saunders water board electric light bill.

Both passed the senate by substantial majorities and will probably come up in the house very soon. The annexation bill will have another hearing before the committee, probably this week before it goes to the mat. It looks as if it might be able to win just now. The Saunders bill is laying dormant in the hands of the committee and no action will be taken probably until the water board boss can leave his arduous duties in Omaha and come down and direct its course through the house. In the meantime Representative Bob Drusedow is doing valiant service sitting on the lid.

Plan for All-Nations Reception to Be Held Monday Night

Little Anna Leaf to Get Her Chance to Develop Talent

Here is little Anna Leaf, 11-year-old daughter of Mrs. C. R. Leaf, who has been charming audiences of the musical elite of Omaha for the last several Sundays at the studio of her instructor, Sigmond Landberg. Arrangements are being made for Anna to give a piano recital for the April meeting of the Tuesday Morning Musical club, since she was "discovered" too late for arrangements to be consummated for the March meeting, which will be held at the new Fontenelle hotel.

A number of prominent Omahans have evinced decided interest in Anna's career. Frank S. Cowgill, president of the Omaha Grain exchange and a liberal patron of the arts, is especially interested in the child, as is Mrs. Cowgill. Mr. Cowgill, who is an amateur violinist of no mean ability, is of the opinion that Anna should devote herself to this instrument as well. He bases his assumption on Anna's success on the fact that she can, with her back turned to the piano, name any note that is struck on the instrument, so true is her sense of tone.

Mr. Cowgill contemplates a brilliant future for this child wonder. "With her ability and temperament, there is no reason why she cannot become a second Fannie Bloomfield-Zelsler," he exclaimed enthusiastically. His interest in Anna's success was first aroused when he heard her play by chance one morning when he dropped in to call at the studio. He became so enthused that he arranged for an opportunity for Mrs. Cowgill to hear the child play. Mrs. Cowgill in turn became so enraptured of the child's playing that a further recital, at which a goodly number of Omaha's musical coterie were represented, was arranged.

Dick Bruun Out With Two New Songs

Dick Bruun, is out with two new songs, words and music by himself. He has made considerable of a hit in the various cabaret entertainments in Omaha in the last few years and for the last six months has been on the road in vaudeville.

"Thelma Waits For Me In Norway by the Sea" is a song that is attracting attention on the Orpheum circuit, where it is being featured by Miss Doris Bruun, his sister. The other new song Mr. Bruun has just published is "In the Smoke of My Old Calash." This is a tale of a pipe and the dreams it brings to its owner.

This makes a wholesome little collection of songs Mr. Bruun has written and published and his admiration in the slogan, "Croon A Bruun Song," is being headed by Omaha people, it is said.

Portray Events in Life of Washington

Nebraska REPUBLICANS SAVE THE DAY

Democratic Party Forced to Call for Help When Something Must Be Done.

NO DEMOCRATIC LEADERS

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Feb. 21.—(Special.)—It is being pointed out that when the house members of the Nebraska legislature really get into their minds that they want to transact business and lots of it they call to the chair either Representative James Nichols of Madison county, the Moses to whom republicans of the Third congressional district are looking two years hence to lead them out of democratic darkness and the desert of despond, or Representative Dennis Cronin of Holt county, the editor-statesman from Tipperary.

There are other good men who have a faculty of pulling off business when the house is in committee of the whole, two of them especially are good men in the chair—Representative Henry Richmond, the editorial journalist from Omaha, and Representative Charles C. Van Dusen, the farmer-statesman from Washington county.

These Two Democrats

These two men are democrats, tried and true, and they have a faculty of getting results, but when things have to be done which will count for real results and give the people of the state an idea that the democratic legislature is doing things, some good democrat awakes from the slumberous condition he is in and moves that the house go into committee of the whole with Nichols of Madison, or Cronin of Holt, in the chair, and the motion goes through with a whoop and the members awake to a realization that there is a chance to do business in a way that will count.

Nichols and Cronin are republicans and the house is democratic, but occasionally it dawns on the minds of the members that they have a mission to perform and a constituency to realize that they have the good sense to realize that they must look to these two republicans to keep them from getting in bad with the people and have to sneak in the back door when they go home some time next spring to meet their constituents.

Lack a Leader

However, there are a lot of good men among the democrats in the house, if they only had a leader. Two years ago they had a half dozen leaders, but this year no man seems to be able to get into the limelight just exactly right. Taylor looked good for a while, but he got in bad when he criticized the university methods of spending the people's money, so many of the members had to pledge themselves to the U. H. C. E. C. (university home campus extension committee) to support downtown extension or he defeated, that it has resulted in Taylor losing his grip on the members and he is a partially discredited leader. However, the mantle might fall upon the shoulders of Norton of Polk, but just now it is fitting around in a sort of undecided manner like a war aeroplane looking for a chance to drop a "bum." Nobody knows just what Taylor is going to pull off on the appropriations bill covering important state institutions and therefore are shying at the thing until Norton shows his hand. Some of the members are for slashing at everything, while others have business ideas that will not permit them to allow state efficiency to suffer, so that it may be some time yet before the real king is crowned.

So that in this chaotic condition the democrats are doing what they have done for the last fifty years in the nation, looking to republicans for relief and succor, and Nichols and Cronin, having the real interests of the state at heart and feeling sorry for their democratic brethren, are helping them in their dire distress and saving the state from calamity.

Forgets War in Paris Pleasures

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.) PARIS, Feb. 16.—So far as the public knows, the military courts have thus far had few sensational cases. In view of the frequency of spy stories, many people are astonished not to hear every day of some of a traitor or a foreign spy being condemned to death. As a rule these cases are handled by drum-head court martial, and the culprit has already been shot before the story of his exploits reaches the public, if the story is true. It is more the routine business with which the regular sittings of the courts martial have to do. Infections, disrespect to superiors, aggressions of all sorts and misdemeanors make up the calendar.

A class of cases that is common is like that of Abdullah ben Said Yahnin, Algerian rifleman, who fell a victim to the warm hospitality of Paris. Recovering from a wound, he was ordered to rejoin his regiment, near Marseilles. He had never seen Paris and so many people showered things upon him he thought it was a pity to leave. He lived like a prince six weeks, without spending a sou; when finally caught he had no defense excepting the weakness of human nature and simply declared: "I bravo man—want fight."

BROKEN VIOLIN STRINGS TELL BRIDE DEATH STORY

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.) PARIS, Feb. 16.—This story is going the rounds of the French papers: One of the most distinguished violinists of France, who was married only one month before the beginning of the war, said to his bride on leaving for the front, that if any misfortune happened to him, he would arrange to let her know it in advance of the official notification. Weeks and months went by, without any bad news, and the bride almost had forgotten the singular statement made by her husband in the emotion of separation, when a Sunday morning, January 24, she felt an irresistible desire to play a certain melody that her husband Remi was particularly fond of. She opened the case, took out the violin and all color left her cheeks. Two of the strings were broken, the "G" and the "D." I understand, she stammered and staggered to a chair. The following day toward noon, an official from the war department came to inform her that the Sergeant Remi had died upon the field of honor.

BIG ADVERTISING CONTRACT FOR THE OAKLAND MOTOR

The Phelps Publishing company and the Orange Judd company have been selected as the mediums. They have a combined circulation, it is claimed, of 1,140,000. This is said to be the largest automobile advertising contract ever made with any one group of papers.

Washington Affairs

The trade balance as shown by excess of exports over imports touched a new high mark in the history of the country last month with a total of $16,536,000, according to complete figures for January given out today by the Department of Commerce. Exports for January were $28,801,270, against $12,265,000 a year ago, and imports were $12,265,000, against $12,265,000 in January, 1914. Gold exports last month were $6,894,200, against $10,422,751 a year ago, while gold imports were $6,911,066 in January, 1914.

The unemployment situation was discussed with Secretaries Houston and Wilson of the Agriculture and Labor departments at a joint meeting by a delegation headed by Mrs. Haviland H. Lund of New York, which presented a plan to be given further consideration next week. The proposal is the creation of a bureau of land information for the purpose of getting city-bred men on farms. Large amounts would be made available for that purpose by philanthropic organizations of citizens, the delegates believe, and under experienced guidance the city men would make good farmers.
