Flood Feared by Residents Along Bank of Missouri

Residents of the Missouri river bottoms and persons interested in business enterprises there are making numerous inguiries of the weather bureau as to the possibility of serious floods this spring. The beavy snow and thick ice have alarmed some of them.

People living on the lowlands want to know, so they may be prepared to move to higher ground. Stock feeders owning the several hog fattening establishments are worried for fear their animals may be endangered by high water. The farmers would have to plant their crops late in case of floods, and immbermen would have their yards and trackage flooded shed away if the Missouri got very sch out of its banks.

We can make no prediction now as to an make no prediction now as to captain HAZE WOULD "There is much snow and ice throughout the valley, but we don't expect any unusual high water, unless the upper valley gets a heavy thaw before the lower valley clears out. ELLIS BACK AFTER TWO WEEKS AT STATE HOUSE

W. A. Ellis, assistant commissioner of the Commercial club, has returned from Lincoln, where for some two weeks he has been busy around the state house looking after the legislation favored by the Commercial club of Omaha. The club endorsed a lot of bills now pending and, in fact, had a number of bills drafted and introduced on their own initiative. It was all this cluster of material that Ellis was supposed to be pushing, notably the Greater Omaha bill. Ellis says he is not particularly fond of the job at Lincoln, but he got along nicely at any rate.

BRIEF CITY NEWS | MERCHANTS FAYOR Mayo Boot Frint It—New Beacon Press MARKET WEEK HERE

Declare it is Another Indication of Progressiveness of City as Jobbing Center.

SAY OMAHA IS BOUND TO GROW

J. J. Collins of Greeley, Neb., is one of the visiting merchants who is enthusiastic about the merchants' market week and about the future of Omaha. "Omaha is a great city," he said, "a great metropo lis of the state. It is a wonderful market for grain, live stock and mercantile lines, and should have the co-operation of all the producers of grain and live stock in the territory as well as of all the merchants. The city is progressing rapidly, and this is largely due to the spiendia market it affords. We feel that Omaha should and must go ahead and presper There is no reason why Omaha should not have the co-operation of the grain dealers, live stock shippers and mercantila interests.

"As for this market week feature, we feel it is a benefit in many ways. It is educational and entertaining. The manufacturing industries of Omaha are growing and improving each year, mainly through the support received from the best merchants of the state. We can't say too much in support of merchants' market week and of Omaha assa progressive market city. It is up to us all at police headquarters earlier in the to put our shoulders to the wheel and boost for Omaha and co-operate with her Prosperity in State. As to conditions out in the state Mr. Collins says: "Conditions have not been more prosperous in Greeley county in the last ten years. There have been better prices and more grain marketed than at any time in the last ten years. The ment which saved the government county stands second in the state in the production of corn for 1914.

F. Mulholland of Malvern, Ia., engaged in the general merchandise business at buty in the revenue service, to assit in the that place, gives the Iowa view of mersollection of taxes and investigation of chants' market week: "There are a lot violations under the new federal dope law, of us Iowa fellows here," he said, "and known as the Harrison act. At present we think it is a great thing. Conditions he is assigned to clerical work in the are good in Iowa, and we expect a big office of E. W. North, acting collector of year of business. Crop prospects are Internal revenue. Later he will do field good and the farmers from the marketing work under Revenue Agent J. J. Drake- of their big 1914 crop have a lot of money. There is more money in the banks there than there has been in many years. Great Wholesale Center.

"There is no question but that Omaha is a great wholesale and jobbing center. It is the greatest west of Chicago. These merchants' market weeks conducted here are not only a benefit to the jobbers in Omaha, but are in fact a great benefit to the retailers from all parts of the trade territory, who take advantage of the opportunity to come in here at this time. While the entertainment the Omaha fellows furnish is splendid and is appreclated, the meeting here with brother merchants from all parts of the trade territory is a great belp to the merchant in working out the problems of his bust-

Malvern is well represented during the merchants' market week activities. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Mulholland and daughter there are William Fisher, Henry Boyer and wife, H. R. Landis and several others from that place. They declare that Iowa looks more and more to Omaha as its jobbing center.

Deal Has Been Made Against the Merger Bill.

ANNEXATIONISTS BUSY AS EVER

Special messages from anti leaders in Lincoln to South Omaha officeholders yesterday afternoon conveyed the intelligence that the consolidation bill was "kfiled." There was great jubilation over the news among certain officeholders Whispers of a deal that was to kill the bill are rumored. Just what is the cause of the assurance of the officeholders that they have "killed" the bill is being investigated by friends of the measure.

Anti-leaders and officeholders are taking great joy in the rumor that Representative Taylor of Custer county is to lead their fight. Those on the inside any that Taylor has always been opposed to certain South Omaha interests and that it is not likely he would actively assist in defeating a bill that they are so anxious to see go by the boards.

Business Men for It. With a very few exceptions practically every business man in South Omaha has openly announced his support of the consolidation measure to be finally passed upon in committee of the whole house at Lincoln Thursday afternoon.
