PRIEST BRINGS A FORTUNE IN GEMS

Robes Several Centuries Old Covered with Diamonds and Pearls Startle Customs Officials.

FROM CATHEDRAL IN MEXICO

NEW YORK, March 17.—A king's ransom in jewels, blazoned in the royal eagles of Spain at the time of Charles V, the most powerful monarch of the sixteenth century, lies under guard at the customs house here awaiting appraisal.

Customs Inspectors Dazzled

From the depths of a battered suitcase the gems and robes were tumbled out upon the dock for inspection by the customs authorities.

This rich prize, it is said, lay in the cathedral of Mexico City—presumably for centuries—till it slipped through Carranza's fingers in the recent flight from Mexico.

From the double eagle design, the customs officials believe there is truth in the priest's story that the robes were sent to Mexico in the sixteenth century.

Two Gold Crowns. Next in value to the archbishop's robe, are two gold crowns, mounted with diamonds, rubies, emeralds and sapphires.

Several smaller clerical robes in purple and white silk, some of them studded with gems, complete the lot. The priest who carried them from Mexico to New York declared them, it is said, to be worth $50,000.

Under the law providing for admission of antiquities free of duty, it was said the gems might be admitted without charge.

German Assaults on Ossowetz Futile, Says Petrograd

PETROGRAD, March 16.—(Via London.)—The following official dispatch has been received from Ossowetz:

"The enemy has brought some of their batteries closer to the fortress, because of their obvious ineffectiveness at the longer range. The artillery of the fortress effectively shelled a column of the enemy, consisting of motor drawing artillery, provisions and ammunition."

"Fighting at moderate distances continued throughout Sunday and Monday, with the advantage constantly with the defenders. Two German companies endeavored to approach the frozen river, but retired after being shelled from a distance of a mile."

"Close to Ossowetz our scouts carried some of the enemy's packtrains and at nightfall sent prisoners back into the fortress."

"Official reports from other fronts follow: 'Przasnysz: The Germans continue a violent artillery fire, but their infantry is unable to resist our attacks. We are holding the enemy on almost the entire front, with particular success in the wooded sections bordering on the River Orzyc.'

"Baurig: The enemy is active at night, possibly reinforcing their artillery. 'The Carpathians: Conditions are extremely difficult for an offensive. Owing to the deep snow troops can be moved only slowly. The men use beaten paths, moving in Indian file, which involves heavy losses. Troops on both sides are using skis. In spite of the conditions which exist, the Austrians continue their vain attempts to relieve Przasnysz, where our heavy batteries are active.'

Secretary Daniels Says Navy Never Was So Ready and Efficient as Now

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., March 16.—Secretary Daniels, answering critics of the unpreparedness of the navy in an address here today declared that never before in its history was the navy in a better shape to fight.

"There never was a time," said Secretary Daniels, "when the navy was so powerful, so ready, so efficient as now. Nor has there been a year when the fleet has given so much time to target practice, maneuvers, war games and practices as the present year. Skill, modern adaptation, new tactics, are being carried out day and night. The motto of the navy of today is 'training, training, and more training; practice and more practice.' Nothing else keep ships and men fit. Today they are fit and ready."

Secretary Daniels reviewed the progress of building battleships and said the launching of the Pennsylvania was one of many concrete proofs of the strength, effectiveness and steady development of the navy of 1915. He praised congress for providing recently for an increase in the navy, saying it showed its wisdom of the value of submarines when it authorized a big increase of the craft.

"No nation," he said, "has placed such substantial faith in the deadly power of the under sea craft. Within a comparatively short time, when our mighty fleet lies in Hampton Roads, ready to traverse the ocean, it will be accompanied by submarines which can make twenty knots and send hurling through the water torpedoes capable of sinking the leviathan ships any nation can construct."

THAW'S ATTORNEY SWEARS OUT WRIT

Justice Page Denies Motion of Defendant's Attorneys He Be Returned to New Hampshire.

NEXT HEARING WILL BE FRIDAY

NEW YORK, March 16.—Harry K. Thaw will not be sent back to New Hampshire by the state of New York, as his counsel demanded, but must be returned to Matteawan asylum "unless legal papers calling for his detention in New York county are served upon the warden of Tombs prison."

Such was Supreme Court Justice Page's decision today in disposing of the formal motion to have Thaw returned to New England. In the meantime counsel for Thaw, as if in anticipation of just such a decision, had obtained from Supreme Court Justice Bijur a writ of habeas corpus, which will keep Thaw in Tombs prison till next Friday, when he must be produced in court.

It was a close call for Thaw, as plans had been considered by the state for returning him at once to his long time residence in the hospital for the criminal insane. Asylum attendants were in the court room ready to rush him there by automobile the moment the motion for a return to New Hampshire was denied.

But the writ of habeas corpus which had been served half an hour before on Warden Hanley of the Tombs prevented this. Sheriff Griffenhagen of New York county had heard whispering of a plot to abduct Thaw during the brief interval when he should be out of Warden Hanley's custody in going to and from the prison to the court room across the Bridge of Sighs.

Accordingly the sheriff armed twenty deputies with revolvers and scattered them through the crowd that packed the court room. Many more armed deputies were sprinkled among the crowds in the corridors.

"I am taking no chances," the sheriff said. "I am well heeled for an abduction." Thaw entered the court smiling and confident. When the decision was announced his smile changed to a frown.

A moment later two of the sheriff's deputies led him away to the Tombs. Says State Act in Good Faith. Justice Page took occasion to comment in his decision on the good faith displayed by the state of New York toward New Hampshire by placing Thaw on trial on the conspiracy charge. There had been no evidence, the court held, to warrant the charge that Thaw had been brought back simply to be sent again to Matteawan. Nor had there been adequate reason why Thaw should be sent back to New Hampshire after his trial and acquittal.

Thaw was to go back to Matteawan, Justice Page decided, upon the old commitment of Justice Dowling. The next step in the litigation to keep Thaw out of Matteawan will be taken Friday before Justice Bijur upon return of the writ of habeas corpus. It is expected an effort will be made then to have the question as to Thaw's sanity decided by a jury.

Mr. Stanfield, Thaw's counsel, said: "The motion to have Mr. Thaw returned to New Hampshire and its denial are without precedent in law. In a case of this kind where a man's sanity and constitutional rights are involved it seems to me that the matter should be settled by the United States supreme court."

to the family, the incident probably would be closed. Pope's Peace Prayer For Passion Sunday. NEW YORK, March 16.—The text of the peace prayer which Pope Benedict XV has directed shall be offered in Catholic churches on Passion Sunday, March 21, has been received and is being distributed throughout the country. It follows:

"Dismayed by the horrors of a war which is bringing ruin to peoples and nations, we turn, O Jesus, to Thy most loving heart as to our last hope. O God of Mercy, with tears we invoke Thee to end this fearful scourge: O King of Peace, we humbly implore the peace for which we long. From Thy sacred heart Thou didst shed forth over the world divine charity, so that discord might end and love alone might reign among men. During Thy life on earth Thy heart beat with tender compassion for the sorrows of men; in this hour, made terrible with burning hate, with bloodshed and with slaughter, once more may Thy divine heart be moved to pity. Pity the countless mothers in anguish for the fate of their sons; pity the numberless families now bereaved of their fathers; pity Europe over which broods such havoc and disaster. Do Thou inspire rulers and peoples with counsels of meekness; do Thou heal the discords that tear the nations asunder; Thou who didst shed Thy precious blood that they might live as brothers, bring men together once more in loving harmony. And as once before to the city of the Apostle Peter: 'Save us, Lord, or we perish. Thou didst answer with words of mercy, and didst still the raging waves, so now deign to hear our faithful prayer, and give back to the world peace and tranquility.'

"And do Thou, O most Holy Virgin, as in other times of sore distress, be now our help, our protection and our safeguard. Amen." The prayer was composed by his holiness. It is accompanied by a decree from Cardinal Gasparri, secretary of state for the vatican, prescribing in detail the form of services for Passion Sunday.

MEXICO SITUATION BEGINS TO CLEAR

President Wilson is Formally Notified that Blockade of Port of Progress is Lifted.

VERA CRUZ RAILROAD PROBLEM WASHINGTON, March 16.—Official assurances that General Carranza has abandoned his blockade of Progress were received today from two sources.

American Consul Silliman, at Vera Cruz, reported that Carranza "at the request of President Wilson has recalled his order calling at the port of Progress."

Carranza's minister of foreign affairs telegraphed the Carranza agency here: "I beg to advise you that from March 16 the port of Progress will be open."

Conditions in Mexico generally are regarded by President Wilson as much less in a ferment than they were a few days ago. He told callers today that the American representations had been effective.

Keeping open the railroad between Mexico City and Vera Cruz, the president regards as an awkward task, because the Carranza forces hold the Vera Cruz end, while their enemies are in possession at Mexico City. The Vera Cruz line is considered more of a military question now and the president indicated that if the railroad north from Mexico City to the American border were kept open as an avenue of egress for foreigners, the Washington government would be satisfied.

The president said he had no doubt that those guilty of killing John R. McManus, an American citizen, recently, would be punished. With punishment of the offenders and payment of indemnity
