Fatal Illness Takes Fogarty, Whose Vote Won Daylight Fight

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, March 20.—(Special.)—John L. Fogarty, whose vote passed the daylight saloon bill at the 1903 legislative session, died in Arkansas this week. He had been suffering from stomach trouble for over a year. A few weeks ago he went to visit a sister on a cotton plantation in Arkansas, and while there was taken with his fatal illness.

Mr. Fogarty was an unmarried man and lived with his mother, who is over 50 years of age.

Mr. Fogarty represented his district in the house in 1903. When the daylight saloon bill was voted upon it necessitated a call of the house in order to get a constitutional majority.

The call hung on for an hour or more, and finally the bill mustered fifty-one votes. Mr. Fogarty was on the "wet" side of the liquor question, but his vote was recorded by the clerk for the daylight saloon bill.

Although it was claimed at the time that he had actually voted "No," Mr. Fogarty did not ask to have the record changed and his affirmative vote stood. The bill was subsequently signed by Governor Shallenberger, which made it a law.

Bank of Ravenna Registers Protest

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, March 20.—(Special.)—"Stung" was the word printed in large letters upon a card of green that greeted the astounded eyes of State Treasurer Hall as he ran through his mail at the state house this morning.

Yague misgiving flashed to his mind as he thought of the numerous county treasurers out after his scalp since his order requiring monthly remittances of state funds. Closer inspection, however, revealed that it was only the protest of the state bank of Ravenna, pinned to a check for $50, the bank's payment of the examiner's fee.

Many of the banks have always objected to paying this fee, which comes twice a year.

LINCOLN COMMISSIONERS CONSIDER BRIDGE BIDS

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., March 20.—(Special.)—The county commissioners have been in session since Wednesday morning considering the bids for the construction of the steel and concrete bridge to be built over the Platte river, one mile east of this city and along the Lincoln highway.

Eleven bids were submitted, ranging from $26,000 to $50,000, but no action has as yet been taken. The commissioners have adjourned until next Tuesday, when the contract will probably be let.

The lowest bid was that the Canton Bridge company of Canton, O. They bid $26,000 for the bridge, but this did not include the fill on each end, which, it is estimated, will cost about $5,000.
