Another of the suffrage campaigners is Mrs. Lydia B. Johnson, who will be in Omaha Monday. Mrs. Johnson comes from Pierre, S. D., and is a well known lawyer and editor of that city.

The regular meeting of the Methodist Deaconesses' Aid society, which was to be held Tuesday, is postponed until the first Tuesday in September because of the absence from the city of many of the members and Miss Ethel Grapden, who is in charge of the settlement work at the Oak Street mission.

The propaganda committee of the Omaha Suffrage association is placing suffrage speakers as often as they can and in as many different parts of the city and circles as can be arranged. Mrs. George Covell and Mrs. M. B. Munson will speak on "Woman Suffrage" at the socialist picnic, which will be held this afternoon at Bohemian hall, Thirteenth and Dorcas streets.

At the regular weekly tea of the association Wednesday afternoon Rev. J. A. A. of the Central Park Congregational church will speak on "Suffrage," and Mrs. W. C. Among those who will endeavor to enlist the young people's societies in the work are Mrs. Covell, Mrs. D. G. Craighead, Mrs. G. F. Copper and Mrs. Munson. Mrs. N. H. T. Lindsay Friday.

"Suffrage was the dominant feature of the convention," said Mrs. Nelson, "although it was not intentionally so, but everyone was interested in it." Mrs. H. H. H. and Mrs. G. W. Hendage sang suffrage songs at this meeting, which was very largely attended. Several new members were added to the society.

An all-day meeting of the Woman's Baptist Missionary quarterly of Omaha, South Omaha, Council Bluffs and Benson was held Friday at the Immanuel Baptist church. Devotional services were held in the morning, following which luncheon was served by the women of the church. Mrs. J. B. Mrs. Long is treasurer of the West Central district. Mrs. F. A. Howard gave a little talk of acceptance of her office as associational director of home work. Miss Martha Grim gave musical numbers at both the morning and afternoon sessions.

The officers of this organization, who were elected at a recent meeting, are Mrs. F. W. Foster, who has filled the office of president for the last twenty-five years; Mrs. Edward Johnson, vice president; Mrs. Carrie Ballinger of Council Bluffs, recording secretary; Mrs. A. D. Northrup, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. B. Myers of South Omaha, treasurer, and Mrs. W. B. Howard, press correspondent. The annual state Baptist convention will be held in Omaha in October at the Calvary Baptist church.

Mrs. Nelson was formerly Miss Lizzie Campion and has kept up her membership in Chapter M since she left this city.

U. S. Grant Woman's Relief Corps No. 104 will meet Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at Memorial hall. The business of raising funds to erect a memorial to the soldiers of the civil war will be taken up. It is planned to place this monument in Forest Lawn cemetery.

A regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Old People's Home will be held Tuesday morning at the Young Women's Christian association building. It is thought that definite plans will be laid for a campaign to secure funds for a new building on the ground donated by Mr. and Mrs. George A. Joslyn. The campaign will be opened in September or October.

Mrs. W. A. Wilcox entertained the program committee of the Benson Woman's club Tuesday, when the program for next season was planned. Those present were Mesdames W. S. Wright, V. R. Shelley, C. Haffke and J. Y. Hooper.

Dealer Warned Not to Substitute Any B. V. D. Underwear

In a court decision handed down by Judge Learned Hand in the United States district court of New York, Ludent J. Freud was warned to refrain from substituting other underwear for B. V. D. underwear when B. V. D. is specified, from advertising B. V. D. underwear unless fortified with sufficient stock on the shelves, and from using the trade mark similar to B. V. D. in advertising and selling goods. The B. V. D. company has secured a new line of correction against dealers in this decision. It provides that dealers shall not prominently advertise and display a stock of such nationally known goods as B. V. D. and then carry on their shelves but a short stock out of the ordinary sizes and then sell imitations to customers.

H. J. McKenna moves with his family to Denver. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. McKenna, son and daughter, are leaving for Denver, where Mr. McKenna has been transferred to fill the position of assistant general agent of the Denver branch of the International Harvester Company of America. Mr. McKenna has been in the employ of the Omaha branch of that company for about seventeen years. He started with the company at 14 years of age as an office boy, and has held practically every position from office boy to assistant to the general agent, which position he held at the time of his transfer. Mr. McKenna was presented with a stockpin by the members of the sales force.

Mrs. McKenna was formerly Miss Margaret Kelly of this city, and both she and Mr. McKenna have lived in Omaha all their lives. They will be missed by the young married set of Omaha. Mr. F. W. Lewis of Denver fills the vacancy in the Omaha office left by Mr. McKenna's promotion.

The Exchange Suggested. One evening, as he sat gloomily reading the paper, having stumbled at the dinner table, the dog, the cat and everything else that came along, his wife made a suggestion. "Bertie," she said, "would it not be a good thing to rearrange your business?" "Yes," he replied, "I would probably pay better. But I don't quite see how to do it," he answered, with concentrated sarcasm. "It didn't mean that exactly," she answered, sweetly. "But could you not manage to be a bear at the office instead of at home?"

HOME CARE FOR THE BABIES

University of Nebraska College of Medicine Gives Advice. NURSED BABIES ARE BEST Milk Must Be Kept on Ice During the Hot Weather—Cleanliness is Also Most Essential.

University of Nebraska's college of medicine, situated in Omaha, has prepared a statement on the conservation of the health of babies. The title of the pamphlet is "Hints on Home Nursing for Babies." The advice follows: Nurse the baby. Mother's milk is the best of all foods. Do not wean the baby in hot weather. Remember that ten bottle babies die to one that is breast-fed. One-third of the deaths of infants and young children occur chiefly by giving them spoiled milk.

Milk. Nurse the baby regularly, not often than every two hours during the day and every four hours during the night. After three months of age do not nurse often than every three hours. No night feedings are necessary after five months. Do not nurse the baby every time it cries.

If you cannot nurse your baby, consult your doctor before giving it the bottle. Cow's milk is the only good substitute for mother's milk.

It should come from healthy, consumption-free, clean-kept cows and be promptly cooled.

It must be kept continually on ice until used for the best milk for the baby. Get only the best milk for the baby. Better pay more for the milk and save doctor's bills and possibly funeral expenses. It costs less to buy a baby good milk for a year than to bury it.

The best milk is bottled at the dairy and delivered in bottles. Common store or milkmen's milk is not safe food for the baby even though it tastes and looks good.

Milk from an open can in a shop is never fit to give to a baby. Milk from a herd is better than milk from a single cow.

If you cannot afford to get the best milk get the best you can from a milkman whom you know to be clean.

Place this milk in a clean dish and boil from five to ten minutes. Cool as quickly as possible by placing the dish in another filled with ice water.

As soon as the milk is cooled, prepare the food as directed by the doctor, using only clean bottles and clean dishes. The food is then poured into the nursing bottles and clean cotton batting is used for stoppers. The bottles should be kept on ice.

Have as many bottles as there are to be feedings in twenty-four hours. Keep the things for the babies' milk separate.

Bottles. Use a common round-bottomed bottle; boil or scald it with water to which has been added a teaspoonful of baking soda. Use plain black rubber nipples. Boil them once a day in soda water. Wash the nipples in clean water before and after each feeding. When not in use keep the nipples in a covered glass of water to which is added baking soda.

Always keep two or three nipples at hand ready for use. Never use a nipple with a tube.

Water. In hot weather the baby needs more water and not so much food. Boil the water before using and always see that it is cooled but not ice-cold.

If the baby vomits or has loose bowels, stop all food and give plain boiled water until you have seen the doctor.

Fresh Air. Give the baby, whether sick or well, fresh air, day and night. Keep the windows open all day and all night.

Keep the baby out of doors as much as possible. The outdoor air is better for the baby than that of the house. The air in the squares and parks is better than that of the streets.

If the baby must be indoors, keep it in the largest and coolest room during the hot weather. Keep the rooms clean. Do not let the baby gather up and eat trash from the floor. Do not let garbage, slop or dirty clothes stand about the room.

Sleep. Do not let the baby sleep in the same bed with any other person. Keep the baby quiet and let it sleep as much as it will.

Lay it on a firm bed and not on feather pillows. Change the bed clothes or diaper as soon as soiled, and sponge the baby with a soft cloth and cool water. If this is done the baby will not be so restless and will sleep better.

Do not give soothing syrup to make the baby quiet and do not let the baby hang on the nipple or suck a baby "comforter."

Bathing. Bathe the baby every day. In very hot weather sponge the baby several times a day to keep it clean and cool.

Wash the baby whenever changing it. Always use a clean wash cloth and towel. If the baby has a fever, sponge it with cool water every two or three hours and place cool, wet cloths on its head.

Clothing. The baby feels the heat as much as older people. In hot weather take off most of the baby's clothing. A muslin slip or gauze shirt is enough. If the weather becomes cold the clothing can easily be put on again.

If the baby has a fever take off extra of the clothing. Do not put cold clothes on.

A baby with fever will not catch cold. Diapers. Wash the napkins or diaper as soon as soiled. Boil, rinse well and dry in the open air.

Do not use any diaper a second time after it has been soiled, before washing it. Keep plenty of clean diapers on hand. To keep your baby fever, protect it from spoiled milk, bad air, dirt, too much clothing, too much handling, too little sleep and too little water. Protect it from flies, mosquitoes and other vermin.

WILL BE A BRIDE IN SEPTEMBER

Miss Opal S. M. Cartney

German Church is Likely to Choose Rev. H. W. Siebert

At a congregational meeting of the First German Presbyterian church, Twentieth and Spruce streets, following the morning service today, a vote will be taken on the question of calling Rev. Henry W. Siebert of Newark, N. J., to become pastor of the church. If elected, he will succeed Rev. John F. Miller, who left to become pastor of the Second German Presbyterian church of St. Louis.

Rev. Julius F. Schwarz, superintendent of the presbytery of Omaha, will preach the sermon this morning, after which he will officially declare the pulpit vacant and call the congregational meeting for the purpose of choosing a new minister.

Rev. Dr. Siebert, who is the only preacher now being considered for the pulpit, is 35 years old, a doctor of philosophy and a prominent German Presbyterian minister. It is expected that he will be called to the local church and if so, that he will accept. It is said by members of the church here that his coming would be a strong addition to the ministers of the city.

He headed the Deaconesses' home and hospital at Cincinnati while pastor there, and later organized the Bethany Old People's home at Newark, of which he is now honorary president. He has been pastor of the Newark church for fifteen years. An associate editorship of the American Tract society is also held by him. If he comes here the University of Omaha will offer him a professorship, it is said.

"Wet" at a Disadvantage. "I see that local option is likely to win out your way." "Yes," replied Uncle Billy Bottletop. "But the fight ain't fair. A man who never uses alcohol generally looks like a good argument while a regular rum-puncher's liable to be only a horrible example."—Washington Star.

NORTHERN LAKES BEAUTIFUL

William H. Gould, Jr., Home from 1,200-Mile Motor Trip.

MINNESOTA FARMERS PROSPER

Roads Through Northern States Are Kept in Excellent Condition, Showing Pride of People in Good Highways.

William H. Gould, Jr., the general secretary of the National Live Stock Commission company of South Omaha, accompanied by Mrs. Gould and Miss Louise M. Walsh, have just returned from a 1,200-mile auto tour through Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota. During the trip they visited Spirit Lake, Mankato, Minneapolis, St. Paul and the surrounding pleasure resorts and came home via Mason City, Des Moines, etc. Mr. Gould speaks in glowing terms of the signs of prosperity that were everywhere evident and especially so as regards Minnesota. He states that the farmers there are even better situated than those of Iowa, which has been supposed to be the premier state. Up there, he says, they have from one to three acres each that their farm houses are really mansions, brick, cement blocks and frame and that many of the barns and out-buildings compare favorably in size with our Auditorium and also that the automobile now was as conspicuous as the family chaise of former generations. The oat crop was enormous and their corn, while a couple of weeks later than Iowa's, was not suffering from lack of rain as was the case with certain districts of Iowa.

Gould reports mile after mile of red clover fields as well as timothy and in many cases they were mixed, this crop being used in lieu of our alfalfa. This silage corn was at least four feet high, a splendid stand and color, and will probably be ready to put away in a couple of weeks. The system of public parks and boulevards in Minnesota would be hard to surpass and is about the finest in the country and it is certainly to be regretted that Omaha does not have the beautiful lakes within its confines so that it could duplicate the same.

In Iowa Mr. Gould found conditions as reported, quite dry, although some sections had recently had rain and the corn so benefited will certainly yield a crop ahead of anything of previous years. He speaks the highest praise for the treatment accorded automobilists who are touring the states. He says that both states evidently take a great deal of pleasure and pride in keeping up their country roads; they are continually being worked and rolled, being sloped and drained, so that even in the hardest rain storms it only requires a few hours for them to be thoroughly dry, and last, but not least, that the causes of the tourists' grief, that is, broken glass, nails, sticks, stones, etc., are absolutely missing. He had no punctures, engine trouble or accidents of any kind.

FFAST OF TISHA B'AB TODAY

Most Mournful of Jewish Celebrations to Be Observed.

MARKS NOTABLE EVENTS

The Fall of Judea on Two Separate Occasions and the Destruction of the Temple in Jerusalem.

Tisha B'Ab, the ninth day of the month of Ab, which this year came today, will be commemorated by all Jewish orthodox congregations in a mournful manner. This is the saddest day in the Jewish calendar year. Twice did Judea fall and the destruction of the temple in Jerusalem also took place on that day. The first time it was destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Babylon, 586 B. C., as told in the book of Jeremiah, but was, however, rebuilt by Ezra and Nehemiah after seventy years, when 50,000 Israelites returned from captivity and resettled the land. The second time it was destroyed by the Romans under the leadership of the famous Roman emperor, Titus. In 70 C. E., Titus had a very hard struggle before he overcame that small, but desperate, nation of Palestine. The siege lasted three years around the wall of the capital, Jerusalem, where Titus lost more men than in all his wars put together. Only after the fighting garrisons within were all worn out from lack of food and water did Titus succeed in storming the walls and entering the city, to find all survivors assembled around the temple walls, trying to defend that magnificent building from the fury of the Romans. The Romans, not being able to come near the building, began to throw burning brands into the interior through its numerous windows. A great number of the survivors preferred to lose their lives in the flames than fall as captives into the hands of the Romans and be sold as slaves.

Victory for Titus. Titus considered it the greatest victory he ever won and perpetuated its memory by building a magnificent triumphal arch in the city of Rome, which may be yet seen there. The relief on this arch represents a procession of Jewish captives carrying the golden candelstick and other holy vessels used in the temple. The memory of this event is, however, kept alive not only on stone, but in the hearts of a whole nation. A great number of Jews still cling to the old custom not to take any food or drink on that day. Mourning services take place in all orthodox synagogues, where the lamentation of Jeremiah or the book of Lamentations is read along with another number of lamentations.

The Jewish people, however, are still cherishing the old hope of rebuilding of the Jewish land. This has now become the aim of the Zionist movement, the organizer of which was the famous Dr. Theodore Herzl, and its present leaders are such men as Max Nordau, David Wolfson and Nathan Straus. This movement is making good headway in its efforts to carry out this great ideal.

Vanity of Vanities; All Is Vanity

There came to our desk this morning a well written article on the Vanity with which people are wont to tell of their magnificent emporiums, marble staircases, immense establishments, gorgeous embellishments, etc., and the writer refers to Thackeray's ending of one of his novels with the words "All Is Vanity."

A greater than Thackeray uttered the words centuries ago, but the world is just as full of Vanity as ever in its history. Tango Teas, Living Models, Theatres, Concerts, Nurseries, Playhouses—all appealing to the Vanity of people in the hope that they can be made to believe that all these things are done out of consideration for them.

And ever and always JONES pays the freight. All these things add to the cost of doing business. Nothing of this kind at KILPATRICK'S to pay for. A clean, wholesome, well lighted, well ventilated, convenient trading place, without frills or furbelows—except where they should properly be
