

SALT PORK TAKES BIG JUMP

Goes Up Two Dollars Per Hundred—Other Meats Advance.

WAR PRICES FOR OTHER FOODS

Sugar and Beans at Highest Level in Quotations They Have Been in Long Time—Fruits Somewhat Cheaper.

Dry salt pork made the biggest jump in price in the last week. It rose $2 a hundred wholesale. It will retail at 17 1/2 cents, while a week ago it sold at 15 cents. Lamb is higher by $1 a hundred than they were a week ago. All sausages are up 50 cents a hundred, or 1/2 cent a pound. Boiled pork loins advanced 5 cents a pound. They are now selling at 45 cents a pound, while they sold at 40 cents a week ago. Boiled hams have advanced 1/2 cent a pound, although some of the larger retailers have not made the corresponding advance in the retail price. Beef has been fairly steady for a week, although some substantial advances were made last week. Beef chucks are scarce and rounds are plentiful. For a time rounds went so high that they forced consumers to call for beef chucks. This demand upon chucks and left rounds more or less neglected. This is the way the retailers account for the abundance of rounds.

Sugar War Up. Sugar holds up at $1.15 a sack. Potatoes, although they held a steady price through the first of the war scare, are now advanced so that those that sold for 60 cents are now selling for 80 cents a bushel.

Navy beans rose $1 a bushel in two weeks. They sold for $2.50 a bushel and are now selling at $3.50 and 35 cents a dozen. Berlett pears from Washington took a big drop. They have until recently sold for $2.25 a bushel box, and are now offered at $1.75. Not a very large variety of peaches are on the market, although nice Arkansas peaches can be had at $1.50 a bushel. Next week and the following week larger supplies of peaches are looked for on the local market.

Home-grown cantaloupes are abundant and are selling as low as two for a nickel. Home-grown Wealthy apples are selling for 25 cents a peck. The cucumber season is nearly over, as the dry weather is rapidly hastening the end of the cucumbers. They can still be had in limited quantities at 20 cents a market basket. Jelly grapes can be had at 35 cents for a market basket.

Demas Freskas Held for Violating the White Slave Law

Demas Freskas, laborer, charged on two counts with violating the Mann white slave act, was held under $500 bonds by United States Commissioner Herbert S. Daniel. Freskas is the man charged with breaking up the home of Mrs. Helen Arranitis in St. Louis and bringing her here. The woman was shot July 15 by her brother, A. Poppandapias, who declared that he would rather see her dead than a living disgrace to the family. She died last Monday from the wounds. Freskas made a blanket denial of all charges against him and was represented by an attorney, United States Attorney F. S. Howell, after the hearing before the commissioner, declared that Freskas had been ordered deported from this country several years ago, on the grounds of untrustworthiness, but that he had escaped from the custody of an immigration inspector.

Burlington to Haul Militia to the State Camp at Ashland

The Burlington has completed the line up for handling the Nebraska National guard next Thursday when the 1,500 or so citizen soldiers will go into camp at Rifle Range, two and one-half miles north of Ashland. To the grounds the Burlington on that day will haul the three companies from Omaha and the companies from Blair, Schuyler, Grand Island, York, Nebraska City, Wynora, Beatrice, Lincoln, Holdrege, Hastings, Kearney, Blue Hill, Fairfield, Davenport, Broken Bow, Ord, Osceola, Auburn, Madison and Stanton and the Bruning band. According to the arrangements, several special trains will be run that the men may all be in camp before Thursday night.

WOULD BE A SHAME IF BRUSSELS IS DESTROYED

"It will be a shame if the Germans succeed in destroying the city of Brussels," said Joseph Keenan, manager of the Henshaw, upon reading the press dispatches that the Germans had occupied the Belgian capital. Charles Schauermann, sr., formerly of Brooklyn, and an American by birth, is a Brussels' business man whose safety is now concerning a number of Omahans. He frequently traveled through here in the interests of his Belgian hand-made lace business. All his stock of fine laces is kept in heavy vaults. Mr. Keenan says, so they may escape damage by the German occupation of Brussels.

HANSEN JOINS FORCES OF BRODEGAARD COMPANY

Walter Hansen, for a long time city ticket agent for the Rock Island, has resigned and accepted a position with the Fred Brodegaard Jewelry company. He will have charge of the outside business placing and looking after the business of the branch stores of which there are more than 160 in Nebraska and Iowa. The purpose of the company is to have 200 branches of the parent house in Omaha in operation before the first of next year.

Just Suit Him. "What part have you reserved for me, Miss Cochrane?" asked young Saplight of the fair manager of the amateur theatricals. "Why, really, Mr. Saplight," she replied, "I'm afraid I've overlooked you, and all the parts have been assigned. Oh, by the way, there is still the part of the heroine's father. I think that would about fit you." "The part is really of little consequence, don't you know, just so I'm one of the aw-gests," said Saplight. "What an aw-supposed to do in the part?" "Well," answered the manager, "as the heroine is supposed to be an orphan, I'm afraid it will be necessary that you should remain dead."—London Tid-Bits.

War is Indirectly Promoting the Use of Nebraska Flour

Nebraska has enjoyed at least one big benefit from the European war, according to Omaha millers and users of wheat flour. Since the war scare sent prices soaring on northern wheat flour, much more flour made from Nebraska wheat has been used, according to persons conversant with that business. The best part of the situation, they say, has been that folks who did not use Nebraska flour before, and thought it was not as good as the northern product, have found since trying it that it is just as good, so they intend to keep on patronizing home industry. "Prices went up much more on the northern flour than on the local variety," Rome Miller says. "I therefore told my bakers to try the Nebraska flour, although they had always been opposed to trying it before. But after a thorough trial they reported that it was satisfactory, so I am going to keep on using it hereafter, as I believe in patronizing home industry." Other heavy buyers of flour have had similar experience with the Nebraska product since the war sent prices up. Nebraska millers are said to be enjoying increased business as a result.

Omaha Man Hears Seven Cousins Are Killed in the War

News that seven of his cousins in the German army were killed in the battle of Liege was received Thursday by Gus Oelschlaeger, 129 South Sixteenth street. It has proved a heavy blow to the man, who is well known and popular among Omaha Germans. Since the telegram came, he has been grief stricken and despondent, and tears stream down his cheeks as he tells his friends of the fate of his kinsmen in the old country. Oelschlaeger is an American citizen, but a loyal follower of the fortunes of his native land. When the local German women started to raise funds for war relief, he donated a handsome embroidered shawl from his stock of goods and it realized $5 on a raffle. Because of his American citizenship and his business interests here, he is unable to go to Germany to fight for the Kaiser. Otherwise he would, he says.

Eleven Days More to Finish Count on Election Returns

It will require eleven days to complete the canvassing of the returns of the Douglas county election, according to Mr. Moorhead. The canvassing board began work at 10 o'clock and will spend six days tabulating the Omaha returns. Fifteen votes sent by Omaha residents who were out in the state election day were thrown out by the election commissioner because the certificates of registration were not received with the ballots. Six such ballots were counted, the certificate of registration and an affidavit made at the place where the voter was residing, to identify him, being received with each ballot. Thirteen voters in Omaha on election day forwarded their ballots by mail to outside precincts.

Dunn Orders Rules of the Road Obeyed

Chief of Police H. W. Dunn has issued orders to traffic policemen to arrest forthwith any offender against the regulations of the road. The chief has been warning the violators of the traffic ordinances that arrests would be made and the orders issued follow a vain attempt to teach all automobile and truck drivers to obey the regulations.

BURNS OPERATIVE IS ARRESTED, THEN RELEASED

J. N. Wilkenon, who declares he is an operator for the Burns detective force and says his home is in Kansas City, was arrested for being a vagrant, but discharged for lack of evidence. The police believed him to be a man wanted in Iowa for several offenses, but could not get charges in time to hold him. Wilkenon showed a quarrelsome and ugly disposition toward the authorities arranging him in court. He asserted his business was to collect a bill for his employers at Council Bluffs.

MEN AT MUNICIPAL BEACH MUST BEHAVE THEMSELVES

Men have become so ungentlemanly in their conduct toward the women bathers at Municipal beach that the police have been called to protect them. W. L. Raney, 416 North Twenty-ninth street, was locked up for menacing action by Officer Nichols who was compelled to do a bathing suit to catch the man. Acting Police Judge Haskell warns other offenders that severe action will be taken against offenders.

MANY EXPECT DOLLAR WHEAT

Local Men Anticipate Such a Price Here Before End of Month.

OPTIONS STRONG TO HIGHER

Omaha Traders Are Fighting Shy of Purchases, Though Some Are Taking On Cash and Selling May Article.

One dollar per bushel for wheat on the Omaha market before the end of August is the prediction of many of the local grain men. It is the feeling toward that price, having sold at 94 cents on the Omaha Exchange today. The range in price was wide, spreading between 82 1/2 and 94 cents. Corn on the Omaha Exchange followed the wheat in its upward course and today the cash price was 77 to 78 1/2 cents, with light offerings, the receipts being: Wheat, forty-two; corn, fifty-four and oats, thirty-six carloads. On both wheat and corn the cash prices were within a couple of cents of Chicago. The wheat option was strong to higher and generally it was let alone by the Omaha traders, though there were some who continued to buy cash wheat and sell the May option. In Chicago, according to the quotations here, 90 cents was low for December and $1.01 high. May sold as high as $1.07 1/2 and as low as $1.05 1/2, while September got down to 94 cents and as high as 96 1/2 cents.

Rabbi Kotov Will Speak in Omaha

Rabbi W. P. Kotov of Chicago, Ill., will address several meetings in the city of Omaha when all those interested are invited to attend. The subjects of the three addresses and the place and time of each are as follows: "Periodical Piety and Everyday Religion," at 8 o'clock this evening in the synagogue of Congregation Beth Hamedrosh Hagadol at Nineteenth and Burt streets, in English. "The Revival of Judaism," at 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon in the synagogue of Congregation Bnai Israel at Eighteenth and Chicago streets, in Yiddish. "The Function of Religion," on Sunday evening, at 7:30 p. m. sharp at Congregation Bnai Israel in English. Rabbi Kotov is reported as a speaker and lecturer of some note.
