CHICKENS CHEAPEST MEAT

Barnyard Pheasants Now on Economical List of Foods.

SUGAR A LITTLE CHEAPER

one More Pound for a Dollar-Fresh Fruits Are Lower, While Dried Varieties Promise to Be in Abundance.

"Chickens are about the cheapest meat people can eat at this time," says At King, head of the grocery and meat departments of Hayden Bros. Spring chickens will sell for about 16% cents per pound Saturday, and they will have to took long and hard for any good meat that is cheaper than that."

King points out that chickens are so reasonably abundant that if people would only take to eating more chickens they might do something toward bringing down the high price of other meats. For example, pork chops have been retailing as high as 30 cents a pound. That is almost twice as much as one is required to pay for fine tender spring chicken. Pork chops have taken a drop, however, in the last week, and are now selling at 20 cents. Still that is 214 cents a pound more than spring chickens will cost. Round steak is still higher than spring chicken, although it has made a drop of several cents in the last few days: It was selling for as high as 17 to 29 cents, but it is now down to about 18 cents.

Mutton is holding out about the same as last week. Lambs are down $1 a hundred since a week ago. Pork loins are off $1.50 & hundred.

Sugar Little Cheaper. Sugar has eased up a little, but a very little. Sugar that was selling at fourteen pounds, is now selling fifteen pounds for $1. Flour has advanced 60 cents a barrel, or about 15 cents a sack. This is believed to be only due to the operations of "bulls" in the market, for since the wheat crop is the greatest for years and there is little opportunity to ship it abroad, it should normally be expected to make flour cheaper. If the war had not occurred some dealers believe flour would be going at $3.50 a barrel, while instead it is $5.90 to $5.

Cheese is high. Consumers are learning one thing through this war, and that is that America makes some good things that they had never suspected before, if need be, on the work she has under-Imported Swiss cheese costs 50 cents a pound. It is hard to get. Some have now discovered that the cheese with Swiss recipes, but made in America. Is Swiss recipes, but made in America. Is just as good and that it sells for half CHANGE IN MEAT INSPECTION as much, or 25 cents a pound.

Fruits Are Cheaper. Fresh fruits are growing cheaper. Bartlett pears are on the market for $1.65 s bushel. Colorado Elberta peaches will be on the market early next week at 75 cents a crais. A week ago the Elbertas from California were selling from 85 cents

Dried fruits are cheap and seem to be growing cheaper. Apricots that sold for 17 to 20 cents a pound a few weeks ago are now offered at 1214 cents. Prunes are selling at 10 cents that sold at 15 cents a few weeks ago. Other dried fruits are going accordingly. There is a big fruit crop, and the prospects of shipping out are meagre. This is said to account for the cheapness of the dried Agriculture. The regulations are drawn fruits on hand.

Good Rain Falls

Thursday afternoon and practically all night there was a rain that was general over Nebraska. According to the reports to the railroads there were few localities that did not get a thorough wetting, the precipitation ranging from one-half to two inches, the heaviest fall being in the extreme southwest.

It is conceded that corn is so near matured that it will not be benefited by rain, but the moisture will greatly improve the pastures and put the ground in perfect condition for fall plowing and the sowing of winter wheat.

Revised regulations governing the inspection of meats entering into interstate or foreign commerce have just been issued to take effect November 1. The rules are issued by the Department of up with a view to bringing about better sanitary conditions in the packing houses. The rules regarding ante-mortem inspection has been changed so that animals in which there is clear evidence of disease which unfits the meat for food must be slaughtered in a separate place.

Meats in which the disease is found to strictly localized in costs or l may be sterilized and canned to be sold under the label "second-class sterlized."
