POSTAL CLERKS MEET HERE

About Five Hundred to Hold National Convention This Week.

DELEGATES ARE ARRIVING

Elaborate Entertalnment Prepared by Local Clerks for Visitors -Much Important Business Scheduled.

Over 20,000 clerks in postoffices throughout the country will be represented by delegates in Omaha this week, attending the annual convention of the United National Association of Postoffice Clerks. About 50 delegates and 150 wives and other visitors to the gathering will begin arriving here this morning. The First assembly will be held this afternoon and evening at the German Home on South Thirteenth street, and the first session of the convention will be called to order to morrow morning at 10 o'clock at Hotel Home, headquarters of the conclave.

During the entire week the convention will bold sessions twice daily, and in the evening will enjoy special entertainments arranged for them by the officers and convention committee of the local clerks' organization. The convention is entirely distinct from another hig gathering, to be held in Omaha next year by a similar, but separate, organization, that of the letter carriers. The clerks' association is also to be distinguished from that of the rallway mail clerks, who have an organination of their own.

Clerks Well Organized.

In Omaha the postoffice clerks are well organized and have a membership of about 200, including a number of women of the civil service. Headed by their president. Patrick McGovern, they have been making arrangements for months to give the visitors the best convention in the history of the national association, in order that Omaha's fame as a convention city may be upheld and ausmented. Almost every city of any size in the country will be represented here.

At 8 o'clock this morning a large crowd of the local clerks will be at the Burlington depot to meet the special train bringing delegates from Chicago and the east. An hour later another special will arrive over the Wabash from St. Louis with central and southern delegates. Other trains will bring the northern and western clerks today. They will be escorted to headquarters at the Hotel Rome and to other hotels, where the visitors will be given a chance to rest until afternoon. A lunch will be served for them at the German Home this evening and a program of music and speaking provided.

tenure of office be adopted by the clerks and promise to make a fight on their contention. On the other hand, supporters of President Rogers favor his retention at the head of the association. They assert that his long experience makes him the best representative of the clerks when civil service legislation and other matters vital to the interests are pending in congress at Wash-

An important reclassification of salaries has been effected, anad the adoption of the present eight-hour law has practically abolished Sunday work, by requiring only forty-eight hours of work calculated by the year, from $800 up, and generous vacations are allowed.

Resulting from the series of reforms in the Postoffice department and the civil service, the merit system has been adopted, rewarding those deserving of promotion. For securing such advantages for the clerks, they originally organized and continue to maintain their

G. M. DeBolt, who has made Omaha 2722 Charles street, Thursday. The body will be buried in Mount Hope cemetery. Four sons, two daughters and his wife survive Mr. DeBolt. He was a man of 69 years and for the last few years has lived as a retired farmer.

The sons are Harry T., who lives in Florence; Frank, who is a resident of Lincoln; Victor H., a principal of public schools in Buffalo, Wyo., and Grover C. who is also a principal of public schools in Alberton, Wash. The daughters are Mrs. J. R. Wells, residing at East Orange, N. J., and Annetta, a school teacher in Omaha. Funeral services will be held at the home this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. C. N. Dawson will officiate.

DEAN AND PROFESSORS OF BRYN MAWR IN STEERAGE

How the dean and two professors of Bryn Mawr college and two professors of Vassar were forced to return to America in the steerage of the Carpathin, and were glad of even those poor accommodations, is told in a letter to D. M. Carr of Omaha by his sister, Miss Mary A. Carr of New York. She arrived safely from Italy. She states that there were three blahops aboard, so it is thought that perhaps Bishop John Nucl con formerly of Omaha, may have gotten out of Switzerland with his family and secured passage on the Carpathia.

Motor Truck Used

The motor truck has taken upon itself the building of the modern west. Its specialty seems to be an aid in the accomplishment of the great engineering feats which have to do with the harnessing or conveying of water.

Packard motor trucks were called into action on the Great Western Power company's dam at Big Meadows, in the very heart of the Sierras of California. A haul of fifty-two miles, where there were continuous grades of 4 and 5 per cent for ten miles at a fime, and grades of 17 to 18 per cent at other points, did not deter the trucks. The freight was steel girders weighing 1,800 to 2,000 pounds, and generally weighted to the truck by heavy bags
