

CLERKS SEEKING CHANGES

Postal Men in Convention Here Have Many Resolutions to Offer.

FOUR HUNDRED ARE ENROLLED

Three-Fourths from Out of the State at the Omaha Field Club - Visitors Will Be Entertained This Evening.

Dozens of resolutions affecting the postal service are to be introduced in the convention of the National Association of Postal Clerks, now in session in Omaha.

From the California branch comes the resolution that all classes of mail matter addressed to all possessions of the United States outside of the United States be forwarded to destination, the deficiency in postage to be collected from the addressee.

Another resolution that will come up is a proposition to consolidate the Postal Clerks' association with the Letter Carriers' association which is to meet in Omaha in 1915.

Heavy Rains Over State Holding Back Attendance at Fair

According to the morning reports to the railroad, the rain of Monday and Tuesday night, which was state wide, is cutting into the attendance at the fair at Lincoln, though a large attendance is looked for during the last half of the week.

When trains went through Nebraska at an early hour it was raining at more than one-half of the stations. As a result the travel to the fair was light, being but little above the normal daily business.

The rain, while it was general, was heaviest in the south half of the state and along the river counties, extending well over into Iowa and Missouri.

At Lyons, Salem, Plattsmouth, Tecumseh and Ashland there was close to two inches of rain and three and one-half at Nebraska City, Falls City, Hulo and Nemaha.

Numerous Changes Made in Principals of Omaha Schools

Miss Helen Wyckoff, for twenty-eight years a teacher in the Omaha schools, has retired and Miss Alice D. Orr, principal of Lincoln school, has been appointed to fill the position she held as principal of Comenius school.

The resignation of Miss Wyckoff has caused the following changes and promotions: Miss Pearl McCumber, principal of Besa, appointed principal of Lincoln; Miss Margaret Hamilton, principal of Dupont, appointed principal of Besa, and Miss Frances Gross, eighth grade teacher at Central school, appointed principal of Dupont.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS LIGHTER DURING AUGUST

Real estate transfers in Omaha were lighter during August of this year than last year. They were lighter than during August in 1912 also. Real estate men say it is difficult to form any definite conclusions from matters of this kind, however, as the figures from month to month fluctuate up and down, according to large deals.

March and April of this year showed larger transfers than the corresponding months of last year, or the year before. Each of these two months showed a larger total of transfers than the corresponding month in either of the two previous years by some $200,000 in round numbers.

Then came August, with transfers totaling, according to the figures, $468,000, as against $625,342 last year, and $720,000 in 1912.

O. W. PERLEY AND BROTHER INJURED IN A RUNAWAY

O. W. Perley, 236 South Thirty-second street, and his brother, C. G. Perley, who is here from the east on a visit, were pretty badly injured in a runaway accident at Twenty-sixth and O streets, South Omaha. They were taken to the South Omaha hospital for emergency treatment.

The two Perleys were driving to South Omaha and at the intersection of Twenty-sixth and O streets the harness broke and the horse ran away. It ran down the hill and into a bakery wagon. The Perleys were thrown out, O. W. sustaining a broken arm and his brother numerous bruises and some internal injuries.

What Germans Are Fighting For and Why German-Americans Sympathize

OMAHA, Sept. 8.—To the Editor of The Bee: Thanks for publishing my answer to the Courier-Journal's comment on "The German in America." That paper has already found it necessary three days later to defend its two and a half column editorial by four columns more of calumny.

Fortunately it publishes on the same page a two-column letter, "The British End of It," by Frederick Edwin Smith, a British government official, exposing thereby its source of information and the flimsy frame upon which its editorials are built.

Another resolution that will come up is a proposition to consolidate the Postal Clerks' association with the Letter Carriers' association which is to meet in Omaha in 1915.

prosperous Germany, recreated by the master hand of Bismarck. They have faith in their government and their leaders, of which the Kaiser is the chief, and therefore follow him loyally for the good of their country's cause.

But to expect them to lie down trustingly like the lamb besides the lion, with the menace of Russian aggression in the east, of revengeful France on the west, and of jealous England on the north, is to insult to their intelligence.

The Courier-Journal says, "Germany's scheme is world conquest." It knows that is not true. It knows that Germany does not seek to annex more territory, because it has no use for it.

compensation you wish, help yourself to any part of Germany you like, you can have it. Germanita esse delendam! Down with Germany."

Perhaps you will recall the wave of anti-German agitation when British jingoists, supported by only three or four years ago, caused plays to be enacted on many English stages picturing an invasion of England by German troops and committing brutalities in English homes, for the pernicious purpose of inciting national and personal hatred.

German-Americans, or United States citizens of German descent, if you rather have it, do not ask its native-born fellow citizens to become German partisans, but also feel that they have a right to ask that they shall not become Russian, or French or English partisans.

MR. AND MRS. FITZMORRIS EXPECTED BACK TODAY

Thomas J. Fitzmorris, member of The Bee editorial staff, who has been touring Europe with Mrs. Fitzmorris, has arrived at New York City and is expected home Wednesday. While on the continent he witnessed many scenes of war preparation and was in the midst of the unrest and anxiety following the declaration of hostilities among the warring factions.

Goes to Jail for Advertising Jobs that Did Not Exist

Parties who desire to answer the advertisement placed in the city papers by J. B. McIntosh will find him in the county jail. He went there after a hearing before United States Commissioner Daniel. He was held under bonds of $500, which he could not furnish.

McIntosh represented that he was the agent of a Sioux City contractor, who was desirous of hiring men to work on railroad bridges in South Dakota. He pretended that he would pay good wages and so stated in his advertisements in the papers. However, he succeeded in getting but one man. This party paid McIntosh $2.50 for a job that did not exist, and then the United States marshal arrested him on a charge of using the mails to defraud.
