Pictures or Frames

Our fall stock of pictures, picture frames, trays, mirrore and frame molding is now in readiness. This showing comprises the choicest art stock that Omaha has ever exhibited.

Our picture frames are the famous "Art Craft Guild" frames, every one the highest type of its kind; frames of solid mahogany, solid walnut, solid ebony, veneers rosewood, circassian walnut, mahogany, etc., as well as gold frames in etruscan, verdi, antique and burnished effects.

The markets of Europe were invaded, but our imported mezzotints, photogravures, etchings and interpretative prints were all secured before the war began, so we will not be compelled to raise the prices this season.

We also have our entire year's supply of Belgium glass already in stock, which will enable us to furnish the genuine imported Belgium glass on every framing order leaving our shops.

Wall Paper

Our fall stock of wall papers is ow complete in every detail. The patterns are more refined and varieties are far more superior than n previous seasons. Make your selections Monday.

Never Such Profusion of Fall Millinery

Hats for fall are shown in all sizes, the extremely large and small predominating. There are large sailors or modified Gainsboroughs for afternoon or evening wear, for, by the way, hats are to be worn in the evening again, a fashion which has not been seen for some years past, and head dresses are con-fined strictly to the dance. There are large hats trimmed with ostrich in the skeleton, burned glycerine and metallic varities, and, of course, an occasional mount paradise, or with furs and flowers.

Then there are regiments of small hats for street or semi-dress wear, English, Spanish, Russian and Scotch turbans, and the always stylish, popular tricorn, and a few narrow brim-These show, in many instances, nar row ribbon bindings, cockades and large bows of ribbon, very high fancy feathers and long siender or very small wings for the strictly tail-rettes for semi-dress. There is quite a showing of gold and silver as well as jet. Black velvet is the material, though the French hats show some dark colors, as tete de negre, corbeau (navy), blue, purple and Russian green, with navy blue in the lead.

Suits for Women at $25

These are the suits that are recognized by the women of Omaha as the utmost that can be secured at a moderate price-the utmost in style, in tailoring, in qualty of materials.

They are created by America's foremost designers, fashioned by the most skilled tailors, and worn by the best dressed women everywhere. Few suits at $30 or even $40 can surpass them in Beauty. No other $25 suits can compare with them.

Styles Correct and Authoritative

They are characterized by the new ideas; the Russian effects, long tunies, girdles, set-in sleeves and flared collars. The directoire, movenage and redingote predominate. Materials are broadcloths, poplins, serges, geherdines and worsteds in all the favorite colors.

Are Unrivaled in the West

The immensity of our lace and trimming stocks can only be appreciated after a thorough examination and comparison with other

They are greater this year than ever before, because we made heavy purchases at the first threat of war in Europe. Our Paris office (No. 1 Rue Ambrolse Thomas) secured early delivery of our goods from France, Germany and St. Gall, so we have ample supplies for every fall need, regardless of the conditions of international commerce.

The advantages of coming here for laces and trimmings are obvious. By importing direct, we are able to offer lower prices and choicer qualities than you will find elsewhere. The following will suggest the extent of our offerings: Embroidered chiffon edges in colors and all white, 25c, 49c to $1.98. 12-inch iridescent segums, in yel-low and blue shades, yard, $7.50.
