But Boston is now looming up with a remarkable quartet of infielders. every one a star. I had Dick Hoblitzel in Cincinnati and I consider him a $10,000 ball player. How he ever got out of the National league will always be a mystery to me. When I got the request for waivers I thought it was simply a feeler for a trade, not having the least suspicion that the National league would et him escape. If I had realized that he might get out I would have got in the bidding myself. I have a fine first baseman myself and I give him credit for making my club a 1-2-3 aggregation, but would have found plenty of use for Hoblitzel. Normally Dick is a .200 hitter, as he showed in every campaign up to the present while with Cincinnati. He is game, always fighting, keeps in good condition and is a great man for a club. After a tough and gallant fight against verwhelming odds, the Omaha Amateur Base Ball association has closed its first season successfully. Omaha fans are also coming to the conclusion that Omaha has an amateur association that will soon be equal to any of its kind in these United States. With this much accomplished, the directors of the association will improve conditions considerably next season. The most important thing left on the bill-offare for the directors to handle before taking their six months snooze, is the big field meet, which will be pulled off at Rourke's park, Sunday, October 4.

Fritz Schliebner is regarding a certain pal on the Rourke squad with suspicious eyes these days. Fritz and Krug and Willis and a few others were engaged in a gentle game of poker. Fritz drew three cards on the draw, Willis a couple and Krug stood pat. The bet went around, with Krug and Schliebner sticking, Willis dropped out. After several rounds Fritz called and dropped four eights on the board. As he was getting ready to lift the coin Krug dropped four kings. Now Schliebner has suspicions of Krug because Krug only had four kings and didn't draw a single card on the draw.
