

By MELLIFICIA. Wednesday, September 23, 1914.

IMMEDIATELY following the Ak-Sar-Ben festivities all of the women's clubs of the city will start the year's work in earnest.

The Woman's club of the Railway Mail Service has a unique set of "club commandments" in the front of their year book which may be of interest to other clubs.

- 1. Thou shalt have no other clubs before this one.
2. Thou shalt not worship any false thing.
3. Remember thy club engagement.
4. Honor thy club sisters.
5. Thou shalt not murder the King's English.
6. Thou shalt not covet office.
7. Thou shalt be prepared for roll call.
8. Thou shalt not at the eleventh hour begin to hunt material for thy paper.
9. Thou shalt not speak in meeting when thy sister has the floor.
10. Thou shalt diligently keep these commandments, so that thy club days be lengthened, and thy fame spread unto the uttermost parts of clubdom.

For Mrs. Vaughan.

Mrs. Gladys Peters was hostess at a beautifully appointed luncheon Tuesday at her home in honor of Mrs. Roger Throp Vaughan of Chicago, who is visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Lord.

Moore-Allen Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Myrtle Elizabeth Allen, daughter of Mr. James Allen, and Mr. William E. Moore, was celebrated last morning at 3 o'clock at St. Agnes church, South Omaha. Rev. Father James O'Hearn performed the ceremony.

Miss Ruth Flynn played the Mendelssohn wedding march and Miss Marie Hallahan sang "O Promise Me" and "Ave Marie." Miss Josephine Curtis was the bride's only attendant and Mr. John McGuire was the best man.

The bride was gowned in white pearls and Chantilly lace tulle. Her veil was held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. She wore a diamond pendant, gift of the groom, and carried a shower bouquet of orange blossoms.

The bridesmaid wore a gown of pink crepe de chine with pink chiffon tulle and trimmed with the rosebud. She wore a short pink tulle veil.

The bride gave her attendant a sapphire ring and the groom gave sapphire stockings to his attendants.

A wedding reception was held at the home of the bride between the hours of 2 and 4, following which the young couple left for a trip to Denver. After October 31 they will be at home at 728 North Twenty-third street, South Omaha.

FOR FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

Attorneys for The Bee Make Argument Before Judge Sears.

RESTRAINING ORDER A BLUFF

Court Challenged to Produce a Decision Supporting His Claim of Right to Muzzle Newspaper by Injunction.

Freedom of the press in Nebraska and the question whether a newspaper may be governed by injunction in a political campaign were involved in a hearing in district court yesterday.

R. Beecher Howell was the complainant. H. C. Brown was his attorney. W. G. Sears was the judge and The Omaha Bee was the defendant.

The case, which was that of the publication of Howell's letter of June 16, saying that he would not be a candidate for the republican nomination for governor, with a headline to which objection was made, was heard on demurrer. The court announced that decision would be rendered in a few days.

It was discovered that Judge Sears signed the restraining order directed against The Bee without requiring a bond to protect The Bee as provided by law, and that consequently the order never was of any force or effect, but was only a "bluff." As a result the only question involved was whether the order would have been properly issued had the law been complied with.

Had Judge the Right?

The headline read: "Howell Will Not Run," and it was shown by The Bee's attorneys that, taken as a whole with the article over which it was placed, the voters were given a fair idea of the meaning of Howell's letter.

Attorney Brown and Judge Sears expressed the opinion that because the primary election was under control of the state the courts had the right to enjoin publication of a statement giving the inference that a candidate had withdrawn.

Attorneys Connell and Stanley Rosewater for The Bee challenged Attorney Brown and Judge Sears to produce any court decision in a state providing a constitutional guaranty of a free press permitting the enjoining of a newspaper from publishing any statement which it sees fit. The Bee's lawyers produced numerous decisions stating that newspapers could not be enjoined, but were answerable in damages for any abuse of this great power.

Courts, declared Stanley Rosewater, have even decided that a newspaper not financially responsible for damage done by it cannot be enjoined from any publication.

What It All Means.

"This is a case where the headline doesn't suit the plaintiff, but the article emanating from his own pen does suit him," said Attorney Connell. "If courts are to pass on the merits of headlines in political campaigns there is an end to a free press in Nebraska. The Bee would be compelled to take this case to the supreme court in the event of an adverse decision."

The Blind See, the Deaf Hear, While the Lame Can Walk

A blind man in the city jail, looking sorrowfully at a deaf mute as the latter is hearing maledictions upon the police department in general and Detectives King and Van Deusen in particular. A legless man is stamping angrily around in the same cell, every now and then spitefully kicking at the bars and urging the mute to yell louder and make the detective hear.

At the station a search developed the fact that one man poses as a mute, a second as a blind man and the third as a legless man. They all had pitiful begging letters and signs and were about to "open up shop" when the officers found them.

ALFRED MAYER FAILS TO RECOVER FROM OPERATION

Alfred Mayer, who was taken ill two days ago while attending a local theater and who was operated upon Tuesday for appendicitis, died yesterday morning. Mr. Mayer, whose parents live at Lincoln, where his father is a successful business man, came to Omaha a short time ago and bought an interest in the Guarantees Clothing company, being associated with Herbert Arnstein. The funeral will be held Friday from the residence of his parents in Lincoln.

Do You Know that more clothes are worn out by soil than by wear? Dirt and grease rot the fibres; wrinkles appear and soon wear through. Do You Know that Dry Cleaning removes every trace of dirt, grease and germs; while pressing smooths out the wrinkles and puts new life into your old clothes? Do You Know that for every dollar spent for cleaning your clothes, you'll get two dollars of more back in extra wear? It's a fact, as many Patrons have proven for themselves.
