Miss Nufer tells of the passage of French aeroplanes over the city of Bernon, stating that people were greatly excited by dropping of bombs.

Miss Nufer writes that the American people will change their attitude of blaming the Germans when they have received sufficient news from German sources instead of information being confined to Paris and London reports.

The first wounded, a train of 600 Germans, and the first prisoners had arrived at Bernon just before the letter was mailed.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Yards Men Greatly Interested in the Stock Liability Bill.

HEARING ON IN WASHINGTON

Small Shippers Are Taking United Stand in Effort to Get Better Settlements for Losses Incurred During Transit.

After waiting and delays the stock liability bill is about to get another hearing before congress. Senator Cummins, who has already pushed the bill through the senate, will try to have the final work on it done Thursday so as to assist the thousands of small shippers in the matter of claims growing out of losses of stock in transit.

The Union Stock yards of South Omaha has worked steadily and persistently to assist the small shippers to some local relief. Members of the Live Stock exchange, represented by Secretary A. F. Spoker of the Exchange, have been in Washington for some days in connection with the progress of the bill.

Jobs on Newly Weds. As a sequel to their wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Students Like Toaster. The first issue of the South Omaha High school paper, "The Toaster," was issued to the students of the high school yesterday afternoon at a student and faculty mass meeting held in the high school auditorium at 3 o'clock. The paper is neatly put together and consists of sixteen pages. Several improvements have been made over the old form. A page cut-off is one of these. The local Marie City Printing company printed the paper. Local merchants have responded to the call of the business managers very favorably and the paper is well on the road to a great success. It is distinctly a South Omaha institution.

BURNASCO OPENING SUCCESS Fall Season at Burgess-Nash Company Brings Many Customers.

SHOWS ARE QUITE ATTRACTIVE Diversified exhibit of styles in wearing apparel interests trade—Some Creations Are Surprising.

From all departments of the Burgess-Nash stores comes the declaration that never before in the history of the house have sales been made so easily, or in such quantities as during the opening weeks of the fall trade.

The chief characteristic of our opening fall display," remarked A. L. Green, "is the completeness of all lines shown despite the fact that the season is practically in its infancy."

In the department devoted to the sale of gowns and wraps, A. R. Whitehouse, head of the department, declares that the higher priced creations are the ones that are being purchased, and the sales are being made with a rapidity that has never before been experienced. This he credits to the evident class of the stock offered. From street coat to evening wrap, from street dress to evening gown it is the article of real merit and distinction that is being purchased regardless of price.

Many people are attending the stylish show for the first time and seem utterly dumfounded with the wonderful creations as well as the arrangement of the department. The French room in which the handsomest of evening gowns are shown is a work of decorative art. Fine tailored suits are also being disposed of rapidly, along with the evening wraps, gowns and dancing frocks. Chiffon, crepe de chine, velvets, satins and velvets form the materials of which most of the gowns are composed, the trimmings used being jet, sponge, shell, silver cloth and gold laces.

The Redington style of suits is proving the most popular, with Prussian green, electric blue and black as the chief colors. A handsome display of fur-tops offered the public, among which, are a striking broadcloth coat trimmed in sable and a seal coat with ermine trimming. The leopard skins are by far the best ever brought here by the firm.

In the military department the result is the same, according to F. Robbins, who says the black Lyons velvet hats are most popular, as are those of dark brown, blue and green.

High Association Has Fair Success The Student association at Central High school has been fairly launched, for 513 students and teachers signed a pledge to each buy a season ticket. This is a poorer showing than was expected, for less than one-fifth of the enrolled pupils have signed their intention of getting tickets. The ticket admits to all the athletic and scholastic events given under school auspices in Omaha. This will include about six foot ball games, as many of basket ball, a number of base ball, two track meets and several debates. It makes the average price of each "show" about 5 cents.

The pledge will be passed again, and it is hoped that better results will be obtained.

Culls From the Wire The first international convention of photographers (moving picture actors and actresses) will be held in San Francisco March 1-14.

Charles E. Rector, proprietor of a well-known New York cafe which bears his name, yesterday died of heart disease at his home near Long Branch, N. J. Most of the eastern railroads try to put their California traffic through Rector, and this augments the business of the Central Pacific, according to testimony given at New York by William H. Sprout, president of the Southern Pacific Railway company, in the government suit to compel the Southern Pacific company to give up control of the Central Pacific railway.

Charles D. Watson of St. Albans was nominated at the Vermont democratic state convention for United States senator to succeed Senator W. P. Billings, ham, republican. An effort to have the convention endorse the nominee of the progressive and republican parties, Charles A. Protry, formerly of the interstate Commerce commission, gained much support, but Mr. Watson was chosen on the first ballot, receiving 236 votes. Mr. Protry had 294.
