GERMAN POINT OF VIEW

Review of Situation Sent by Wireless from Berlin.

GERMAN CREDIT IS GOOD

French African Troops Are Sent Back—Serbians Are Defeated by Austrians, with Heavy Losses.

BERLIN, Sept. 25.—Via Wireless to SAVILLE, L. I.—The German government has ordered that an exhaustive judicial inquiry be made at once by an independent lawyer into the destruction of the Belgian town of Louvain. An inquiry already made is declared to have proved that on a signal given near the Louvain station by red and green rockets the civilian population began firing at the German troops.

The German press formally protests against the bombardment of the open town of Dan-Es-Salam, German East Africa, by a British cruiser.

The Petit Parisien says that the French commander-in-chief has been compelled to send back the African troops, transported to France, because they were not fitted out for a winter campaign. The strengthening of the French forces in Morocco also is reported to be necessary.

Contrast of Credits. The French government has ordered the Credit Lyonnais to postpone the payment of its half-yearly dividend.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Deutsche bank it was stated that the sound economic structure and the splendid economic mobilization would enable the Germans to fight through the war until Germany's future politically and economically was secured.

While the Credit Lyonnais has stopped the payment of its dividends, the board of the Deutsche bank declares that it has met all payments as usual since the beginning of the war and has been able to extend credits because it has been possible to realize on its capital.

General Beyers, on explaining his resignation as commander-in-chief of the British forces in South Africa, is reported to have declared that even a part of the British cabinet was not convinced that war with Germany was justified. England, he said, repeatedly violated the independence of other nations and perpetrated in the South African war every possible atrocity.

Polos in Berlin have received the information that the Russian government has decided to court-martial the Prince Radziwill, leader of the Polish party in the German reichstag, who has been arrested at St. Petersburg, espionage being given as a pretext.

There has been published a dispatch from the London Times saying that the restoration of the Rheims cathedral is possible, in spite of the considerable damage resulting from the German bombardment.

Serbians Are Defeated.

Telegrams received here from Vienna declare 20,000 Serbians invaded Austria. They entered Slavonian territory and built fortifications. The Austrian troops retreated intentionally. Suddenly they attacked the invaders from two sides near Jakovo and took 7,000 prisoners. Many Serbians were killed, while others were drowned in the river Sava.

The Herin Tageblatt says that in view of the enormous sacrifices made by Germany, Dr. Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, and General von Moltke, the chief of the general staff, could agree to peace only after Germany's future position had been made quite unassailable. This viewpoint, the paper contends, is in conformity with public opinion throughout Germany.

C. J. Ernst Decides to Make Race for the School Board

Carl J. Ernst, assistant treasurer, assistant secretary, and land commissioner of the Burlington, has decided to run for member of the school board from the Tenth ward.

"I know nothing whatever," he said, "of the details or inside history of those matters which are at present agitating the people of Omaha in connection with school affairs.

"I am not an office seeker and have had no intention whatsoever of becoming a candidate for membership in our school board until much pressure was brought to bear upon me by a number of prominent business men insisting on my allowing my name to go on the ticket. After several days of careful consideration of the matter I decided to give my consent.

"I shall not make the slightest personal campaign in order to be elected. If elected I shall endeavor to give careful investigation to whatever comes before the board after I am a member of that body, utterly regardless of politics or personal friendships, as I have no strings upon me in that connection whatever and have never personally met more than half a dozen of the Omaha teachers or other employees of our school board."

Mr. Ernst has served on the Lincoln school board before he came to Omaha some years ago, and also as one of the state university regents.

France Files Summary of List of Alleged German Atrocities.

WOUNDED AND CIVILIANS SLAIN

Violations of The Hague Convention Will Be Laid Before All Powers that Waged It—No Action Expected.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The French ambassador, Jules J. Jusserand, made public today the summary of ten documents drawn up by various officials accusing the German soldiers of a systematic campaign of atrocities. The documents, which were placed in the hands of Acting Secretary Lansing, of the State department, by the ambassador were also delivered to all signatories of the Hague convention.

With the documents a letter was delivered which explained that the French government did not take the step with a view of demanding any action on the part of the United States, but merely to report to this country as a signatory of the Hague treaty evidence of how the treaty was being carried out.

Ten Documents.

The statement made public by the French ambassador follows: By order of the government of the French republic, a series of official reports is to the way in which the present war is being carried on in the French territory by German troops have been communicated to powers who signed the Hague convention, the United States being one of them.

"These documents, ten in number, show that the destructions and assassinations which have taken place, have been systematic and performed in accordance with orders from officers and not as a result of an accidental lack of discipline. "The facts quoted are given only as samples and not as complete enumerations; they cover, moreover, only the first three weeks after the beginning of hostilities (two weeks of actual warfare), and worse deeds have been committed since.

Wounded Are Shot.

"Such as they are, they show, among other things, that wounded soldiers have been finished in large numbers by shots fired right against the face of the wounded; that Pont-a-Mousson, an open and undefended town, was bombarded, the hospital, which is an historical building, having especially suffered, a number of villages, among them Parix and Affeville, have been methodically destroyed, house by house, soldiers being, as it seems, provided with implements enabling them to perform that kind of work with a minimum of trouble; nurses bearing conspicuously the badge of the Red Cross have been assassinated; numerous inhabitants have been put to death without pretext or provocation (among whom at Badonviller the wife of the mayor) in some cases, notably at Billy, on August 30, the German troops, when they marched out of the place to charge the French troops, made the women and children walk in front of them.

Pledge of Indemnity.

"Attention is called, as regards such deeds, to two texts.

"Article III of the convention of the Hague, which was proposed by the German delegates themselves, states that the belligerents, who might cause such destruction as those mentioned above, would be bound to indemnify the interested parties and would be responsible for any acts committed by members of his army.

"In the second place, even if civilians had taken up arms on the invasion of French territory by the Germans, which was nowhere the case, they would have been within their rights and the killing of them wholesale would have been undeniably for article IV of the same convention reserved to the population of a non-occupied territory, the right, on the approach of the enemy, to spontaneously take arms and repel the invading troops.

"Appended to this convention besides the signatures of the United States, France and many other countries is to be found that of Germany."

TRICOLOR GIVES WAY; ASSUMES OFFENSIVE AGAIN

athletes to contribute old sweaters and other warm clothing for the troops. Virtually all the newspapers carry every day advertisements calling on all old non-commissioned officers to rejoin the colors and aid in the training of recruits.

The very heavy loss of British officers is today a subject of much comment, editorially and otherwise, and if the present ratio of mortality is continued this loss of officers will be one of Great Britain's most serious problems.

The admiralty has published an official list of the survivors of the cruisers Aboukir, Cressy and Hogue, sunk in the North Sea by a German submarine. This list, with the sixty officers previously reported safe, brings the total of survivors up to 339. This, based on unofficial calculations, would leave a death list of about 1,400, as each cruiser carried a complement of over 700 men.

Sharp Change in Weather.

Weather conditions, which were exceptionally favorable to military operations during the first six weeks of the war, have now changed radically and are in the main responsible for the lull prevailing in all the war areas, with the exception of the combined Montenegrin and Serbian assault on the coveted provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

Accompanying the reports of bad weather comes the ominous news of the presence of disease. Hungary has acknowledged an outbreak of cholera among its troops and while it is denied officially, the same scourge is said to have attacked the Serbian troops. General epidemics of milder diseases may be expected in the western battle area where the troops on both sides, drenched by rain, are lying in flooded trenches.

The operations in Alsace-Lorraine are said to have come to a complete stop on account of snowstorms. Rain and floods are reported also from the scene of the Gallian operations and probably account for the cessation of the Russian attack on the retreating Austrians. Storm conditions will interfere greatly with motor transports, and troops taking the offensive may be greatly handicapped by inability to bring up their artillery.

Siege Guns Taken.

Several of the great German siege guns, probably destined for use against the fortifications of Paris, have fallen into the hands of the enemy, having been captured when the Germans began their retirement from the Marne. The French are now digging this artillery out, but the same cause which led to their abandonment may prevent the allies turning them on their former owners.

DECLINES THE ENDORSEMENT

Wilson Says He Prefers New Jersey Keeps Hands Off.

IS NOT THINKING OF IT NOW

Says that if New Jersey Would Endorse Him It Would Look Like He Was Seeking a Second Term.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—At the direction of President Wilson, Secretary Tumulty today wrote a letter to New Jersey democrats, declining to have them endorse the president for a second term. Secretary Tumulty's letter was to Edward E. Grosscup, state treasurer of New Jersey. It follows:

"You were generous enough to consult me as to whether the democrats of New Jersey should at this time endorse the president for a second term. I had a talk with the president about it and he deeply appreciates the generosity of the suggestion; but New Jersey is his home state; the men who would act in this matter are his own personal friends and he feels that it might seem as if he were taking advantage of the extraordinary situation now existing to gain some personal advantage through such an expression of confidence by them.

"This would be inconsistent with his whole thought and spirit, and he shrinks from its as from something that would embarrass him, rather than help him. "He feels confident that you will know the spirit in which he says this; that in urging the democrats of New Jersey not to do this, he is not abating in the least his deep appreciation."

It was understood the president decided not to endorse him for a second term because he believed it would look as though he were seeking re-nomination. His attitude, however, was not taken by friends here to mean that he has decided not to accept a re-nomination if it is offered to him. Democrats in other states have recently endorsed him for a second term and no objection was made at the White House.

As outlined by the president's friends, Mr. Wilson's position is that he is not considering the question of a second term at this time and that future events will determine his stand.

Admiral Winslow is Dead in Italy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Rear Admiral Herbert Winslow, United States navy, retired, is dead at Florence, Italy, according to a consular dispatch received here today. The time of his death was not stated. He was in command of the U. S. S. Fern at the battle of Santiago and landed the first detachment of American marines at Taku, China, in the Boxer uprising. Since his retirement in 1910 he has been living in Cherbourg, France. The admiral was a son of Rear Admiral John A. Winslow, who, as commander of the Kearsarge, sank the Confederate cruiser Alabama in 1864.
