Robert Smith Wants Pay for Meetings While Quarantined.

BIG SAVING FOR THE COUNTY

Broadwell Must Put It Back and Robert Smith Will Not Be Able to Cash In His Many Claims.

Claims for payment of $3 per day for fifteen days' attendance at alleged meetings of the Douglas County Insanity Commission during a period when he was quarantined at his home as the result of contagious illness in his family are a part of the demands of District Court Clerk Smith on the county treasury, whose withdrawal is forced by the state supreme court decision in the "Broadwell case."

Other claims for "attendance" for holidays and Sundays had already been thrown out by the county's auditors since there was no showing of emergency nor any indication that such meetings had actually been held, except, perhaps, by telephone. There are thirteen such instances within a period of two and one-half years.

Douglas county taxpayers are approximately $15,000 richer today than they were last week by reason of the decision, which said that the clerk of the district court must not retain fees which pass through his hands as an official member of the county insanity commission.

Meet Put It Back.

Former Clerk Broadwell, or his bondsmen, must pay to the county about $3,000, which is the balance due after a previous payment of $1,200. Clerk Robert Smith, now in office, will never be able to collect approximately $3,000, which, according to his records, he has been claiming.

This includes extra fees for keeping the records which the law makes his duty, but which is actually done by county employees in his office. The insanity fees case is distinct from the naturalization fees case in which suit for several thousand dollars has been started against Smith by the county board. Insanity fees had been held up by the county board on account of the Broadwell case pending in supreme court.

Smith's records show that nothing was allowed to interfere with his attendance at insanity board meetings at $3 per meeting. His record for punctuality and attendance at these meetings is practically perfect and in Sunday school or any classroom would have earned him a pretty medal. Neither accident, illness, quarantine orders of the health physician nor Sundays or holidays were allowed to interfere with this record.

Two Places at Once.

Although from March 5 to 24, 1906, he was quarantined at his home, he accomplished the feat of at the same time attending fifteen board meetings. His records show hundreds of meetings extending over a period of several months. At these meetings, according to the records, all three members of the board were present. For their attendance at these sessions Smith's fellow members already have drawn their pay from the county. The meetings each week number from three to four.

On January 13, 1914, the record shows a meeting at which the physician member of the board was authorized to examine the patient. This business, in fact, was transacted over the telephone, and there was no other business before the board that day. Other similar cases this year, when all three members claimed $3 each for making an order concerning a solitary patient, are: January 15—Report on case and order to county hospital. January 22—Received oral report from physician. January 27—Directed physician to make examination. February 7—Heard oral report. February 14—Order of release from county hospital. April 13—Directed physician to examine patient. September 3—Sent patient to county hospital. September 4—Sent patient to asylum. September 23—Directed examination of patient.

Antis Refute the Suff Arguments Printed on Fans

Miss Lucy Price, anti-suffrage speaker, refuted the suffrage arguments that have been printed on the back of fans and circulated generally throughout the summer, at the luncheon given by the executive committee of the Nebraska Anti-Suffrage society at the University club at noon yesterday.

"Someone ought to pay some little attention to the 'Votes for Women' fans that are being circulated by the suffragists, even if the triteness of the arguments is a bit monotonous," she said.

"The fan is a bricky orange color. It started out to be the suffrage yellow undoubtedly, but it has blushed at the presumption of the claims they printed on it."

"The suffragettes are very unbusiness-like," said Miss Margaret Dorman. "They want us to double the time, energy and money which are required today to operate the machinery of our government. There is not a single thing which we can obtain from the combined votes of men and women that we cannot get for half price, from the votes of our men."

"Women, as compared with men, have had relatively little experience in private, trust or corporate business affairs. So long as this relative inexperience of women in business continues, you will get more practical results in the business of governing yourselves by the votes of men than from the combined votes of your men and women."

Mrs. Mohler Back from Stay in Italy

President Mohler of the Union Pacific is back from Boston, where he went to accompany Mrs. Mohler home after her trip abroad. Mrs. Mohler had been in Italy several months, but at no time was inside the very zone.

As in the way, Mrs. Mohler asserted that she knew but little concerning it, aside from what she had seen in the papers and had heard discussed. For several months she had been in Milan and returning to the states, sailed from Naples. She made the trip across the ocean on an English merchantman, the Canopia, traveling second class, being unable to secure first-class accommodation.

The journey to Naples and across the ocean was without incident. At night the vessel sailed with the lights out, but at no time were any ships that had designs on the Canopia sighted.

According to Mrs. Mohler Italy has no desire to get into the general war in Europe and will do all in its power to maintain strict neutrality.

Mrs. Mohler was two weeks on the ocean and the boat was crowded to its capacity. She is of the opinion that most of the Americans in Italy have gotten out, or at least those who have desired to do so. At Milan she was comfortably situated, but many of the Americans there experienced some inconvenience on account of not being able to secure funds. On their letters of credit they could secure but $50 per week. American paper money was not accepted, neither were checks, gold being the medium of exchange for board bills and articles bought at the stores.

BOOK ON PAN-GERMANISM POPULAR AT THE LIBRARY

Omaha public library is said to be the only place where copies of Robert Usher's book on "Pan-Germanism" can now be secured by the public. Sudden demand for the work, following the discovery that it is a comprehensive study of the underlying forces in the European conflict, has completely exhausted stocks which the book dealers had on hand, and they have wired for a fresh supply.

Women Do Not Have to Register for the School Election

That many women hold the mistaken belief that they must register in order to cast ballots at the coming school board election is indicated by numerous telephone calls for information at the election commissioner's office. Women need not register, the only requirements necessary to enable them to vote being the following:

Tax payers on property assessed in their own names or mothers of children of school age.

Only Seventy-Eight Cars of Wheat for Monday's Market

For a Monday, Omaha wheat receipts were light, there being but seventy-eight cars on the market. Prices ranged from 96c to 99c per bushel, as against 11.05c to 11.06c in Chicago. The Chicago options were $1.03c to $1.07c for December, and $1.15c to $1.17c for May. Omaha corn receipts were sixty-six cars, the selling prices being 73 cents to 76 cents, as against 76 cents to 76 1/2 cents in Chicago.

Corn is Out of Way of the Frost

Weather conditions during the last week, according to the Burlington's crop report, has materially helped the Nebraska corn, which it is asserted has reached the stage where it would not be injured by frost. According to this report there is no portion of the state that yet has been visited by a killing frost.

On a basis of a 100 per cent crop this estimate is made on the condition of this year's corn crop on the several divisions of the road, they taking in about all the agricultural portions of the state: Omaha division, 97 per cent; Lincoln, 90; Wymore, 90; McCook, 88 per cent.

Omaha Banks May Need No Government Funds to Move Crops

It is likely that the $250,000 of crop-moving money received by the Omaha banks from the federal treasury some weeks ago as the first installment of the $1,000,000 apportioned as a loan during the crop-moving season, is all that will be received this year. At the time the $250,000 was sent to Omaha it was designated as the first installment, and it was said the rest would come in a few weeks, or at least later in the season.

Bankers now say they have reason to believe that the rest will not come, as they have had an intimation, though no direct statement, that the money can be used only by the federal government at the treasury, and that it is not to be sent out in these loans now.

Omaha bankers say they will get along very well without the balance of this crop-moving money, although in some cases it might have been a convenience to have it.
