INDIAN TROOPS REACH FRANCE

British Subjects from Asia Glad to Have Opportunity to Serve Their King.

LANDING IS MOST IMPRESSIVE

Inhabitants of Marseilles Greet the Swarthy Soldiers Who Come from India to Defeat Invasion of France.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Marseilles in a dispatch dated last Saturday, but which was delayed by the censor, describes the landing of the Indian troops who, he says, are all ardent for the cause for which the king and his allies are fighting. He says: "To see fully a score of transports glide from the bay into the dock and moor at their appointed stations was an imposing sight and at the same time a splendid tribute to the perfection of British organization. But the grand spectacle was yet to come. In almost as short a space of time as it takes to tell it the decks of this wonderful fleet of ships were alive with soldiers and in a matter of a few hours the trying work of disembarkation had been completed without slip or accident.

"The French officers were amazed at the remarkable smoothness with which the operations proceeded and were not slow in their expressions of profound admiration. "The voyage from India had been made under excellent conditions and the troops, who literally leaped ashore, were fighting men to the last ounce, hard, fit and ready. Had the word of command been given to march straight from the quay to the fighting line they were ready to go.

"Not a few of the Sikhs, lithe, black-bearded giants are deeply concerned to know if I thought that the war would be over before they could get to grips with the common enemy and it was a burden off their minds when I assured them there was absolutely no likelihood of anything of the kind coming to pass. "Kaledioscope Scene. "Never has the port of Marseilles, used as it is to cosmopolitan crowds, and the multicolored habitments of Africa, witnessed a scene so kaleidoscopic as that presented today by the drifting of thousands after thousands of soldiers down seemingly numberless gangways and along quays lit up by brilliant sunshine. "All the troops are in khaki with very little—perhaps a green or white interwoven band in the head dress—to distinguish one regiment or rather one caste from another. The stuff is lighter in texture and color than that used in the equipment of the home army and imparts a smarter appearance to the wearers. "The white officers who are in command are of the highest type of soldier and there was something noble and delightful in the officers walking through Marseilles with their troops, enroute to the rest camps, when they might well have ridden.

SISTERS OLDEST SETTLERS

Mesdames Catherine Jewett and Martha Graham Came in 1852.

CROSSED IOWA WITH OX TEAM
Made Home in Sarpy County When the Entire Country Surrounding was Occupied by Indian Tribes.

The long debated question of who, in point of years of residence, is the oldest settler, was settled when at the headquarters of the Nebraska Pioneer's association, Mesdames Catherine Jewett and Martha E. Graham of Papillon registered. These women were the daughters of Jonas Mitchell, government blacksmith at Bellevue. With their parents, early in the spring of 1852, they crossed Iowa with an ox team, coming from Burlington.

When they reached Nebraska, Catherine was 19 and Martha 6 years of age. They have resided in Sarpy county continuously since 1852. At the time Peter Sarpy was trader at Bellevue, which was an Indian camp, the whole, plate river country was occupied by the Pawnee. Omaha was then a site occupied by an Indian village. The parents of the Graham daughters died many years ago.

After a mooping visit with each other, the out-of-town visitors went to South Omaha as the guests of the Cudahy Packing company. They were dined at the packing plant. After the lunch a large number visited Florence, going to old land marks that many of the pioneers remembered.

There are now 26 pioneers registered, and among them are a number who came prior to the '50s. Several of them have been called on to speak. S. D. Bouvier, who with his parents arrived in April, 1854, asserted that he now resides one-half mile from De Sota and upon the same tract of land that his father entered more than sixty years ago. In his address Mr. Bouvier made a hit when he invited the entire membership of the association to his home to partake of a chicken dinner. The invitation was accepted, but the date left open.

Farnam Street Lot Grants. Marion Clark, a resident of the state since 1855, told of the early Omaha. As he remembered it fifty-nine years ago there were a dozen or more equal shanties upon the townsite and his father was offered the choice of a Farnam street lot if he would erect a building thereon. The father did not consider the offer worth the cost and went to De Sota, a point that has long since ceased to exist except as a name.

Frank J. Carson of Nebraska City laid claim to the longest residence in any one place. In 1851 his father took a claim just outside the town limits of Nebraska City and thereon Mr. Carson has always resided.

GERMAN-AMERICAN STATE BANK WILL OPEN SOON
The German-American State bank is to open its doors in about a week. It will be located in the Board of Trade building, Sixteenth and Farnam streets. For several months remodeling work has been going on in the rooms formerly occupied by the C. W. Hull Coal company to get the rooms into shape for the new bank. The fixtures are largely placed now, the iron doors are hung and the rooms have taken on a typical bank appearance.

BREWING COMPANY IS SUING WALTER MOISE
Suit against Walter Moise, a liquor dealer, for $22,233, balance alleged due for beer purchased by him, has been brought in district court by the Letsy Brewing company of Peoria.

The petition sets forth that Moise bought $30,686 worth of draft beer at $4.30 per barrel, on which he still owes $13,175, and that he is indebted to the plaintiff for $2,050 for bottled beer.

Arthur Mullen is attorney for the Letsy Brewing company.

VAGRANT CAUGHT WHEN HE STARTS LOCOMOTIVE
While Engineer Howe of Milwaukee train No. 26 was "setting out and in under" the locomotive, and his fireman was away for lunch, William Meyers, a vagrant, entered the opposite side of the engine cab, and after stealing a suit of clothing belonging to the fireman, opened the throttle and started the train. Fortunately, Howe was not beneath the engine, and after shutting off the steam, caught Meyers and had him arrested.

BUILDERS PLAN A "LIVE" OCCASION ON THIRTEENTH
"All ye live ones to the front again," is the admonition given the members of the Omaha Builders' exchange by means of printed cards scattered about the exchange headquarters. The card asks that the members reserve October 15 for some occasion, but the secretary will not yet divulge what the nature of the entertainment or banquet is to be.

Report of Three Women Who Attended School Hearing

OMAHA, Oct. 2.—To the Editor of The Bee: The undersigned, who were present during the taking of the testimony before the judiciary committee of the Board of Education last July, in respect to the charges filed by three citizens of Omaha against the principal of the Omaha High School of Commerce, respectfully submit the following statement:

"The scene in town when the troops marched through in the different camping grounds were unforgettable. Every man, woman and child in Marseilles turned out and their numbers were swelled by people who had rushed in from the surrounding country districts. In fact the streets were seething masses of highly excited humanity. "The excitement of the high-strung Latin rapidly spread to the Indians, and it was an unique experience to see hundreds of martial warriors, bearded men whose hair was shot with gray, and beardless youth, jump a yard high in the air for sheer joy. Old women fought with the men for the honor of shaking hands with the bronzed soldiers and young girls threw sweet smelling flowers in their path or pinned pink roses on their turbans and even stuck them into the Indians' long hair. In response the dark eastern eyes beamed their great content and rows of white teeth flashed from laughing mouths. "By evening they were all encamped in the picturesque park with rocky heights, reminiscent of their faraway hills, around them, and in the moonlight groups of Marseillaise stood on all adjacent roads, watching with unflagging interest the strange eastern rites of these magnificent fighting men from Britain's best dominion."
