By MELLIFICIA. Friday, October 2, 1914.

WHO will be crown Queen of Ak-Sar-Ben XX? This is the question being asked at all of the social affairs. There are two leading favorites, both brunettes, both charming and attractive. One is a well known society girl and the other is a debutante.

The Bee has decided to offer a $10 prize, to be awarded after the ball, to the first to send in the name of the Ak-Sar-Ben queen to be crowned Friday evening, October 9.

The guesses will be numbered as they are sent in, and I think we will have to bar the Ak-Sar-Ben governors, the queen's family and her dress-maker. I believe those are the only one who really know her identity, and only three of the governors are informed, I am told.

It will make a hit with the society editor if the feminine readers who send in the name of their choice, will also send in a description of the gowns they will wear to the ball.

For Newspaper Women.

Quite a number of newspaper women are taking an active interest in suffrage and anti-suffrage, and this week there are five well known women in this field in Omaha taking active part in the campaign.

The visitors expressed a wish to meet the local newspaper women and this noon the Omaha feminine scribes will entertain at luncheon informally for the visitors, including Mrs. Rheta Childs Dorr, the well known authoress of New York and formerly from Nebraska; Miss Elsie Vandergift of Denver, Miss Jane Thompson, a Smith graduate from Chicago; Miss Lucy Price, a graduate of Vassar from Cleveland, and Miss Marjory Dorman of New York.

As some of the visitors are here in the cause of suffrage and others for anti-suffrage, this subject of conversation will be tabooed and a fine of $ placed on any one who speaks of politics at the luncheon.

Covers will be placed for fourteen.

At the Country Club.

One of the larger dinner parties was given at the Country Club by A. B. Warren. Covers were laid for:

- Mr. and Mrs. John A. McElhane.
- Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Davis.
- Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Kinsler.
- Mrs. Ben Colton.
- Mrs. Josephine Hogan.
- Mrs. Pauline Aldrich.
- Mrs. John E. Brady.
- Mr. Randall Brown.
- Mr. Hal Brady.
- Mr. A. B. Warren.
- Mr. and Mrs. Ward M. Burgess had as their guests at dinner Wednesday evening:
- Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barker.
- Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hamilton.
- Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Koutze.

Club Luncheon.

The literature department of the Omaha Woman's club will have a luncheon at the Hamilton cafe immediately following the first meeting of the season, Wednesday, October 7, 11:30 for members of the department and their friends. All reservations must be in by Tuesday noon preceding. The committee consists of Mesdames C. L. Hempel, L. M. Lord and H. S. McDonald.

Collegiate Club.

The Collegiate club will hold its first dancing party of the season at Metropolitan hall this evening, Miss Mary Coll, the club's dance instructor, and Mr. Reynold dates will demonstrate the newest dances.

For Miss Sadler.

Mrs. David Baum entertained informally at her home Wednesday afternoon in honor of Miss Kittle Sadler of England, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Dietz.

Mrs. F. P. Kirkendall gave a picnic Monday at her country home, Kirkwood, for Miss Sadler. The guest motored out in the morning and spent the day.

Informal Bridge.

Mrs. J. J. Sullivan entertained informally at bridge this afternoon at her home on South Thirty-seventh street. Garden flowers were used in decoration. Three tables were placed for the game.

Bentley-Barnett Wedding.

The wedding of Miss Cecilia Mary Barnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Barnett, and William Coultter Bentley took place Wednesday morning at 7 o'clock at the St. Cecilia's Pro-Cathedral, Rev. Father D. P. Harrington officiating.

The bride wore white crepe de chine, trimmed with shadow lace. Her veil was held in place by lilies of the valley, and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley with bride's roses. Miss Agnes Barnett, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a gown of pink crepe de chine, with trimmings of pink lace. Mr. Charles McDonald was best man.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Bentley will be at home after October 15 at 4522 Parker street.

At the Loyal.

Mrs. Cora Sloman and daughter, Dorothy, of Detroit, will arrive Sunday morning for a few weeks' visit. They will stay at the Hotel Loyal and will be at home Sunday to their friends. Colonel and Mrs. S. S. Curtis, who recently moved to New York, are at the Hotel Loyal for a few weeks.

Miss Pauline Bourke Weds.

Miss Pauline Bourke, daughter of Mrs. John Bourke, and Captain Alexander W. Malish of the ordnance department, who is now stationed at the arsenal at Watertown, Mass., were quietly married Wednesday. The ceremony was performed in Philadelphia, Pa. Two weeks postponed this wedding. The first time was owing to the Mexican situation. Captain Malish had intended to go to Switzerland, where Mrs. Bourke and her daughters, the Misses Anna and Pauline, have spent the last year.

The trouble in Europe at the present time made it necessary for them to return to this country, and they landed Monday in New York, where they were met by Captain Malish. Mrs. Bourke and Miss Anna will remain in the east for a few weeks.

Captain and Mrs. Malish will make their home in Watertown, Mass.

Personal Mention.

Mr. G. A. Benedict of Portland, Ore., is the Ak-Sar-Ben visitor of Miss Amy King.

Fashion Hint

By LA RACONTEUSE.

Quaint suit of mahogany and white checked chevot. The whole gown hangs in a straight line from the shoulders over the narrow underskirt. The coat is gathered up at the neck in a band of chestnut serge bowed in front under a small turned-over collar of white linen.

Burgess-Nash Show a Miniature Battle in North Window

A miniature battlefield, mapped with careful accuracy, so as to depict the relative positions of the various European armies now engaged in conflict across the big pond, has been built in the north window on Sixteenth street by the Burgess-Nash company. The window shows each country in Europe and they in soldiers are stationed at the points where the fighting is in progress. The infantry corps, the cavalry companies and the squad of artillery are shown by the metal men. Overhead monoplane, bi-planes, dirigibles and Zeppelins, flying the flags of the different countries, are on scout duty. The window is very realistic and is attracting much attention.

OWNERS MUST KEEP AUTOS OUT OF WAY OF PARADES

Automobile owners are warned by the police not to leave their machines on the streets upon which the Ak-Sar-Ben parades will pass. Owners of machines who neglect the order will be put to the difficulty of locating their cars after the parade, as the police will take the responsibility of moving all machines out of the way.

Last year two parades were all but ruined on account of the careless manner in which machines were allowed to stand about the streets. After the parades the machines not only blocked traffic, but were the cause of two serious accidents.

Woman Suffrage Would Not Help the Woman Labor Laws

"The labor laws in the country can scarcely be bettered except in some states where we have had women suffrage for years," said Miss Lucy Price of Cleveland, in making an anti-suffrage speech at 411 South Sixteenth street Thursday night. Crowds of carnival visitors drifted into the room of the anti-suffrage headquarters, as the door was left open for the purpose. The speaker said she feared by woman suffrage they would lose the many advantages they now enjoyed without it. She feared if they were put on a political equality they would have to fight for their legal rights.

David F. Lohnes is Buried at West Lawn

Funeral services for David F. Lohnes, 238 North Nineteenth street, were held at 2 p. m. from the residence, with burial at West Lawn cemetery. Deceased came to Omaha in 1881 from Rome, N. Y., and had since made his home here, following the carpenter's trade. He was 71 years old and a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen and the Woodmen of the World. Surviving him, besides his wife, are two children, Mrs. A. C. Godwin, 238 North Nineteenth street, and L. L. Lohnes, Council Bluffs.
