A LAST CALL ON AK-SAR-BEN TOGS

Dreshers Promise Faithfully to "Get You Ready" For Omaha's Biggest Gala Event.

PHONE TYLER 345 MONDAY

Not All Ak-Sar-Ben Ball Gar. ments Will Be New-Many Will Have Been Cleaned at Dreshers.

Wouldn't it be discouraging to you to have to stay away from Omaha's glorious Ak-Sar-Ben ball, simply because of mitable clothes to wear.

Wouldn't it seem foolish to spend a ing fortune for a new Ak-Sar-Ben lis, Ralph H. Hall, W. H. Larkin, T. F. utfit, when you've clothes in your own rdrobe at home; clothes that would ove just as pretty, just as brilliant, mt as fetching, if only they were eaned up and pressed up a bit.

Now get your ear right down to this listen, dear reader! Dresher others, the cleaners and dyers with s $57,000 dry cleaning and dyeing ant at 2211-2213 Farnam street, can thes renovation. They can take your year's Ak-Bar-Ben ball gowns, ses, wraps, full dress suits, etc., and them apart, dye them, reshape, alter restyle them, then clean and press an and otherwise rejuvenate them in as new garments and the witches fracof the cost of new clothes, and graceful lig that drew rounds of appleause to wear but one or two nights a year? Why shouldn't you have your present clothes worked ever if they will be just as well as new garments?

Dresher Brothers will make this wonder plants of eighty years upon her snowy hair. She was followed by C. F. Hopper, who did a clever cice and circled nimbly about the floor, stepped sidewise and back, and salten out so that you can wear your parments, all remodeled and cleaned, on the night of the Ak-Sar-Ben ball. It will take strenous workers and the same applies to your regular winter cothes; get those out before the actual cled sets in and they'll be gotten out in the hurry, too.

Remember—Most of the special cleaning work done on Ak-Sar-Ben garments will have been done by Dreshers, simply because they know how to do the work and are financially responsible if anything goes wrong through fault of their own.

Leave work at the Dresher department of the Brandels stores if you wish, or at Dresher the Tailor's establishment at 1515 Farnare street.

Dreshers pay express/one way on all qui-of-town shipments where the work amounts to $3 or more.

There were flowing white locks that played upon bent shoulders. There were gowns that cost much money long before Abraham Lincoln was known outside of his rail-splitting community.

Age Makes No Difference. Mrs. Mary Cormack were the very gown her mother wore at the territorial ball. Mrs. Mary L. Fisette were a gown of yellow satin, trimmed in embroidered lace, the gown her grandmother had made sixty years ago for a function in St. Louis. Mrs. J. F. Hopper wore a narrow waisted and wide-skirted gown of Scotch plaid worn by her mother at the territorial inauguration ball. Rome Miller represented Governor izard, Mr. Miller and Mrs. Minnie P. P. Knotts of Lincoln led the grand march. A thousand spectators crowded the first floor and the balcony in the court house and cheered repeatedly as the ploneers continued the dance.

Lively Quadrille. When the call came for a quadrille it was at once responded to by twelve couples, making three sets. They were as follows: Mrs. Minnie Knotts, Mrs. Mary Cormack, Mrs. Jennie L. Maginn, Mrs. Kitty Lafferty, Mrs. Izabelle Bennett, Mrs. R. M. Taylor, Mrs. Gibson Knight, Mrs. Mary L. Fisette, Mrs. J. F. Hopper, Mrs. R. H. Walker, Mrs. Anna K. Boman, Mrs. Augustus Lockner. The men were Rome Miller, A. N. Yost, William Klersted, C. S. Paine, J. F. Hopper, J. G. Wil-Youngers and Alvin Metzler. There was no lack of action in the quadrille. The fiddlers, old settlers also, W. H. Dunn, John F. Bixby, G. R. Rathbun, struck up the liveliest thing they could command, such as "Devil's Dream" and "Arkansas Traveler." Aged joints that had not been swift for a quarter of a century began to unlimber aze you with their methods of Round and round, ever and ever merrier, went the quadrille, until before the close men and women past the eightieth winter were cutting the corners with a saucy clatter of cowhide heels.

"Nix on suffrage," shouted Mrs. Charles R. Thiem, president of the Miller Park Mothers' circle.

"Let me tell you that we only want our rights and we'll be voting some day," declared Dr. Stella Jacobi, aroused by Mrs. Thiem's remarks.

Mrs. J. W. Evans then soothed the roubled meeting with an Irish yarn. Mrs. Evans, "grand mother of the Mothers' Circle, which numbers 200, said woman suffrage was "taboo" in the circle. ## Suffragists at Social Center Club

Suffragists were allowed to take charge of the Monmouth Park Social Center club last night, with Mrs. Rheta Child Dorr of New York as principal speaker. The auditorium of the school was crowded. Mrs. Dorr detailed her early experiences as a newspaper woman, told how she became interested in equal suffrage and then explained the magnitude of the movement in the United States. On Friday evening, October 23, the antisuffragists will address the members of the Social center in the Monmouth Park school.
