

BIG CITY EMPTIED OVER 8-FOOT BRIDGE

Four Hundred Thousand People Pour Out of Antwerp on Instant Notice.

AWAKE TO LEARN OF DANGER

Then Mad Scramble of Rich, Poor, Well and Sick is Made Along One Narrow Road to Safety.

(Copyright, 1914, by Press Publishing Co.) By E. ALEXANDER POWELL. GHEENT, Oct. 8.—(By Courier from Antwerp and Special Cablegram to New York) World and Omaha Bee.—Thronged German shells began falling on the outskirts of the city late this afternoon, owing to the government's policy of secrecy. It was not until the people of Antwerp awoke this morning to find that the government and foreign legations had gone to Ostend and the walls of the city were covered with proclamations signed by the military governor informing them a bombardment was imminent and that they learned of the terrible gravity of the situation.

The proclamation begged them to remain calm, urged all to leave the city immediately and advised others to seek refuge in cellars.

All Shops Closed. By 10 o'clock every shop in the city had closed its window shutters. At 11 o'clock the hotels posted notices that, owing to lack of servants, they were compelled to close their doors. By noon thoroughfares which led to the port were across the Scheldt were choked for blocks with a panic-stricken mob. To see a city of 400,000 people suddenly put up its shutters and run away on an interesting sight but not a pretty one.

Escape Over Pontoon. As the Germans are to the south of the city, and as the Belgians have destroyed all bridges and roads between the city and the Dutch frontier, the only route left open to the frantic fugitives was over an eight-foot wide bridge of boats a military engineer threw across the Scheldt at the beginning of the war. Across this narrow and inadequate structure the mighty river of humanity has been pouring steadily since dawn.

Automobiles, cabs, dogcarts, barouches, hotel omnibuses, delivery wagons, moving vans, peddlers' carts, baby carts and wheelbarrows roll interminably past, loaded with the fleeing townspeople and such of their household goods as they are able to carry with them.

No Respecter of Persons. I saw a man pushing his aged mother and three children in a wheelbarrow. I saw an old man, paralyzed and unable to walk, carried on his son's brawny shoulders. I saw a woman of fashion, wearing a magnificent sealin coat and hat with costly feathers, straggling through the crowd with a suitcase on her shoulder.

Clergy and Wounded. A pathetic picture was made by many wounded soldiers, many with blood-stained bandages. Some barely able to stand had been turned out of hospitals to make room for those wounded in yesterday's fighting. Priests in black cassocks and monks in brown robes were assisting the ill and aged; white-faced nuns were herding groups of children in their care.

Rivals Bridge Rush. The scene of the road between Antwerp and St. Nicholas this afternoon was one of the most remarkable in my experience. The road was more crowded than the entrance to Brooklyn bridge at a rush hour or than the road to Epsom on derby day. Pushing the aged down the cobble-paved thoroughfare were people in every occupation, in every walk in life, while ditches on either side were filled with those who had fallen from sheer exhaustion.

U. S. Consul Charters Tug. The roar of heavy artillery has been continued for more than twenty hours. The first of the German shells struck in the southern outskirts of the city shortly after 4 o'clock this afternoon. H. W. Diederich, the American consul general, has chartered a tug on which he and a few Americans remaining in Antwerp will start up the river and out of range if it becomes impossible to remain in the city.

Franke's Score Board Makes Decided Hit

Interest in the world's series is of more than average intensity. It is crowded, which attended Charley Franke's electrical scoreboard performance at the Krug theater yesterday afternoon, is criterion. The entire lower floor of the house was packed with fans who were anxious to see the play of the game on the improved board. Boston rooters were in abundance and their cheers could be heard in the street in front of the show house.

BELGIANS PROTEST GERMAN MONOPOLIZATION OF FOOD

LONDON, Oct. 10.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says: "The Belgian government has addressed to the neutral powers a vehement protest against the action of Germany in monopolizing all the foodstuffs found in Brussels and its environs, thereby reducing the native population to famine."

Culls From the Wire

Liberal buying of the New York City notes and a broader buying for warlike notes and bonds maturing within the next few years were the chief features of financial interest in New York yesterday.

Over Sixty Thousand Priests in Armies

ROME (via Paris), Oct. 10.—According to reports received at the Vatican, more than 60,000 ecclesiastics are now serving in different capacities with the armies in the field, especially with the Belgian, French and Austrian forces. Most of these clergymen are engaged in hospital work. They include seven bishops and nineteen other prelates.

CHICAGOANS ARE ASKED FOR RED CROSS FUNDS

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Mayor Harrison in a proclamation today, the forty-third anniversary of the great Chicago fire, urged Chicagoans to contribute liberally to the Red Cross fund, pointing out that European nations now at war gave $250,000,000 to relieve suffering here after the disastrous fire.

Big Barn Burned Near Griswold.

GRISWOLD, Ia., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—During the storm Wednesday night lightning struck one of the large barns on the Grant Mackrill farm, two miles south of town, burning it to the ground. Several teams that were in the barn were rescued with difficulty by the foreman, Mr. Peck, who was notified by neighbors over the telephone. There were several sets of harness and about sixty tons of hay destroyed. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

RUSSIA MUST BE WHIPPED

German Editorial Says that is Only Chance for Peace.

ATTITUDE OF THE NATIONS

Europe is Compared to the Back of a Cornered Bear Whose Sides Are Streaming All Over with Blood.

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) THE HAGUE, Sept. 15.—The present attitude of Germany towards England, France and Russia is described in an editorial of the Berliner Tagblatt of September 11, which after admitting that the German advance in the west has been checked, while considerable victories for the German arms have been obtained in the eastern theater of war, says: "Europe is to be compared to the back of a cornered bear from whose sides the blood is streaming. We hardly speak of those of us who in the German colonies and in Khas-Chow are calling for help. We think of them, but do not speak of them."

The English and French newspapers have recently said that the regulation of the powers of the triple entente not to make peace without consulting one another, had made a painful impression in Germany. We hope that this understanding between Messrs. Grey, Poincaré and Jovokvi surprised nobody here. Those who think calmly know this before the first cannon shot was fired. But this formal assurance was merely made to show to the world that this war and our successes in France, were not the result of a declaration of war. The indications in the French press are that this declaration was also intended to quiet the French people. This Anglo-French-Russian declaration, writes the Petit Parisien, finds a justified echo throughout the allied countries. It will bring the pessimists to silence, who already are making their heads and whose fears are an insult to Russian stamina, French endurance and English loyalty. The Petit Journal calls the declaration an answer to the tendency to doubt and to the cowardly and perfidious whisper which during the last few days have made the rounds in the population in favor of a despicable enemy.

Successes Give Hope. "But we may accept that a favorable presentation of the French successes along the Marne have again filled the optics with hope. There are in France, people, however, who have not been the guests of the year, who realize the Paris posters do not gain by supporting the alliance, whose personal fate does not depend upon that of Russia, and whose brain is clear enough to reason logically to final results. The promise that France is to sacrifice herself to the very last drop for Russia cannot be reassuring to such Frenchmen.

"The Times, in a very beautiful leader, has presented to them the British resolution not to end this war. 'Whatever happens in the west,' says this article, 'Russia and we will continue the war if necessary for twenty years.' It is then pointed out, as did Mr. Asquith, that German industry and commerce are in a bad way, a condition which would continue until Germany had surrendered the territories occupied and had paid the indemnities imposed.

Cannot Ban Pessimism. "What were the feelings of the French when they read the words of a boaster who talks loudly because he imagines England secure against the sufferings of this war? Twenty years is a long time when the army of the enemy occupies the center of the country. No, even the pledges of the Times are not sufficient to ban the pessimism which made itself felt in France. In all the comment made on the situation there is but one instance that could impress the French. The Petit Parisien asserts that Germany intends to crush the Russians and English. 'We will crush France and will then be ready to make peace with you at the expense of France.' But this assertion is false and the facts will demonstrate how false they are.

"We are at war with France, because, in consequence of an impolitic alliance, and misled by intrigues, it was brought to the side of Russia. But we are principally concerned with the reduction of Russia. In her direction we see a diminution and weakening of a giant and the making of guarantees—the moral idea of the great war and the grand goal for which, if necessary, we will continue to fight for twenty years, even in spite of the fact that since the days of Lemberg we do no longer underestimate the magnitude of the task.

Must Whip Russia. "Even those masters of cheap phrases in the field who do not look death in the eye as do our brave soldiers in the field must realize that only the complete victory of the Germans over the Russians can secure the position of Germany's future and that a peace treaty otherwise would be a scrap of paper without value. As we hope and believe, the moment will come when the affair which France has forced upon us against our wishes will end favorably for us, and when we will be in position to concentrate our efforts against the Russians. We will see then whether the English and French will still have the inclination to drag on the war in favor of Russia indefinitely. One will then have to ask the French: Have those of you who have no personal interests in Russia not paid enough? And then also England will be asked, with most appreciable emphasis: Are you willing to risk more for Russia's might and aggrandizement—if necessary for twenty years?"

Port Dodge Y. W. C. A. Dedicated. PORT DODGE, Ia., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—The first dedicatory service in the new $5,000 home of the Young Women's Christian association here was held Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. J. P. Dolliver presiding. The new structure, standing close to the business district, has been completed after much hard work on the part of the women. Substantial donations by Port Dodge people have given the women as fine an association building as Young Men's Christian association structure was put up a number of years ago. Dormitories containing more than 100 rooms, a big gymnasium, a large dining room and kitchen, parlors, bath rooms and many other conveniences have been provided in the big brick structure. The final dedicatory service will be held Sunday afternoon.

Dairy Cattle Congress. WATERLOO, Ia., Oct. 10.—(Special Telegram.)—The first annual dairy cattle congress will open next Monday and continue one week. Over 1,000 of the world's greatest dairy cattle will be on exhibition. Two concerts by the United States Marine band will be given. There are over 600 entries in the corn show.

AMES FOOT BALL FANS AFTER SPECIAL TO MINNEAPOLIS

AMES, Ia., Oct. 10.—(Special Telegram.)—A movement is on foot here tonight among fraternities and miscellaneous bodies of students to get excursion rates and accommodations to Minneapolis tonight for the Ames-Minnesota game tomorrow. Organization of the rovers' contingent is pending word from chief passenger officials in Minneapolis. The mayor of Ames led the effort to get a rate.

Woman Sentenced to Pen. PORT DODGE, Ia., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Mrs. Kate Flynn, convicted last week of keeping a house of ill fame, was sentenced to serve not more than five years at Fort Madison penitentiary today by Judge R. M. Wright in district court. City authorities brought two detectives from Des Moines, who aided local officers in getting evidence. When Mrs. Flynn had finally secured the $2,500 bond that gives her freedom pending an appeal, she faintly went down the stairs to the first floor lobby of the county building.

Man Killed by Train. PORT DODGE, Ia., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Thomas O'Leary, 35 years of age, a farm hand near Harcum, was hit by an Illinois Central freight and killed instantly. His home was in Syracuse, N. Y. It is not known whether or not he was married.

Rickey Makes Record. Manager Branch Rickey of the Browns established what is believed to be a 1914 American league record on September 23 when he mobilized twenty-one players into the Browns' best score. Rickey became so proved at the performance of his 'Varsity team in the fifth inning that he substituted an entire line-up of reserves.

I Wish to Say That Peruna Is the Best Household Remedy In the Whole World.

Mrs. Elin Malmgren, 133 Frederick St., West Manchester, N. H., writes: "Every spring and fall for eleven years, I have been troubled with catarrh in my throat and nose and hoarseness, and I am very pleased to state that at last I found a medicine, Peruna, from which I received great benefit, and I will hereafter use and recommend it. I always keep it in my house in case of sickness. I recommend your medicine to all my friends and every sufferer, as an excellent medicine for colds and for building up strength. We have many Swedish friends in Boston who use Peruna and think a great deal of it. If all the Swedish people in this country could know what an excellent family medicine your Peruna is I am sure they would keep it in the home."
