Central Labor Union Opposes New Workmen's Compensation Act.

SAYS IT IS NOT GOOD MEASURE

Declaration Made in Resolution that It Has Rights of Action at Law that Present Statutes Give.

Joining the Omaha Central Labor union in its protest against the enactment of the Workmen's compensation bill into a law the South Omaha Central Labor union in a strong set of endorsements says that the present compensation bill is contrary to the true principles of a compensation law.

The resolutions passed at their last meeting say that the new law will deny trial by jury to injured workmen and that it limits recovery to exactly one-tenth of the amount now to be recovered under the general law. The resolutions call upon the members of organized labor to work against the proposed law.

Miss Dorman Has Crowd. Miss Marie Dorman, anti-suffrage worker, had the largest audience of the season at the Union Stock yards yesterday noon while she told her hearers reasons for opposing the votes for women campaign. The speaker was a favorite and was given much applause. Most of the men in the stock yards are not exactly suffrage workers but the faces of the bombardment given them by the suffragettes they have shown little interest one way or the other. Miss Dorman took the position that if the suffragettes were looking for the social betterment of working women and children they would not be looking to equalize things which under the present system does so much for the women's side of legislation.

It Was Officer Scott. James Fitzgerald of the Commercial Savings and Loan association exceeded the speed laws late Thursday night while he drove to the police station to prevent a highway robbery near his home at Twenty-fifth and E streets. When he returned with a machine load of coppers bristling with artillery the highwayman proved to be John Scott, a policeman on duty in Highland park. Fitzgerald bought the cigars all around and pledged everyone to secrecy but the story leaked out yesterday.

Chief Mitchell, head of the syndicate of this section of the country, is in town, and the wandering tribes of Romany are beginning to foregather here with the coming of winter. The police are worried over the matter because of the trouble these people cause every year.

Acting Chief Gillin and Captains Zaioudek and Carey have ordered the police to keep the camp at Thirtieth and Y streets under strict surveillance.

Kaiser's Property in West Canada Not to Be Confiscated

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Emperor William is popularly supposed to have large investments in the timber and mineral lands of British Columbia and it has been rumored in London that the British government was considering the confiscation of the emperor's property in Canada.

It can be stated on the authority of a high official in the foreign office that the government has no thought of confiscating the property of alien enemies located within the confines of the British empire.

Through Alva Von Alvensleben of Vancouver, B. C., a number of prominent Germans are said to have bought large tracts of British Columbia lands, particularly mineral and timber lands. The German emperor is supposed to be heavily interested with Mr. Von Alvensleben in western Canada properties.

However, the British government has not even made an investigation of the titles of the properties in question and disclaims any curiosity as to the emperor's reported investments.

Helpful Suggestions for the New Home

MAKING THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

Owners of Binneyhurst Have Plans for Improving Their Addition.

AWAY FROM THE SET STYLES

Houses to Have Some Individuality and Not to Be Erected in Long Rows of Tenements.

Real estate concerns that have the developing of small tracts of land within the city limits have great opportunities for rendering service to Omaha's growth and to the convenience and pleasure of its inhabitants.

The part of city planning that most interests the man of moderate means is that which gives him a home in neat surroundings where he can be close to city transportation facilities, close to schools and churches.

A beautiful city of houses is not one in which long rows of houses are built all alike and without any definite idea as to appearance and quality. Such a plan does not make permanent growth or increasing value of real estate. Rather it is the carefully thought-out plan of rendering service to both the city and home owner by constructing houses with some individuality. Each painting represents a different inspiration of the artist and all may be admired and desired by others, so the city planning idea should be worked out along the line of giving each house a distinctiveness and attractiveness all its own.

A recent example of the successful working out of this plan is that of Binneyhurst which was developed by the Bankers Realty Investment company. Since this company owned nearly a whole block it was a comparatively easy matter to convert what was for years an ugly vacant wet patch into what is now a most conveniently arranged and pretty residence district of Omaha. Each house in this district is a fine five-room bungalow, and while the best of building methods and material were used, they are sold at a very moderate cost and appeal strongly to the average man. When asked about the development of this piece of ground, one of the officers of the Bankers Realty Investment company said:

"Our experience with the upbuilding and improving of Binneyhurst is one of the most satisfactory pieces of business we have yet undertaken, for it proves to us that there is a great field ahead for more of this class of work."

"Considering that these houses have every convenience and are of high quality throughout, we believe that in selling them at a moderate cost we are actually doing something for men of moderate means as well as our part toward the beautifying of Omaha's residential sections."

"Our company plans on developing this idea to still greater extent, for we not only believe that it will give us more valuable property as security behind our investments, but we also believe that such building operations will greatly add to the beauty of the city as a whole."

Hastings & Heyden to Lay Out Tract North of Florence

A new acreage subdivision north of Florence is being platted. Hastings & Heyden are subdividing a forty-acre tract lying two and one-half miles north-west of Florence, on the Calhoun paved road, into five-acre summer home tracts. Most of this tract is covered with second growth hickory, black walnut and other variety of trees.

This is part of the Whitted farm, which this firm bought several years ago, that was originally a 120-acre tract. Winding driveways will probably be graded this fall.

Center View Is to Be Put Upon Market

The Byron Reed company has completed plans for the sale of Center View, an addition to Omaha. This addition lies on the south side slope between Fifty-seventh and Sixtieth streets and Pine street and Erna avenue, affording good drainage to all lots and giving a splendid view of the surroundings in all directions.

Lina P. Campbell of the Byron Reed company states that she considers Center View one of the most attractive and most desirable additions the company has offered for some years. He looks for rapid increase in value, as work on the West Center street extension of the West Leavenworth car line is being rushed to completion and will extend to Fifty-ninth and Center streets, one block from the addition.

Half of Eight Fed Clubs Lost Money

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—The Federal league base ball clubs of Brooklyn, Pittsburgh, Kansas City and St. Louis lost money during the season now ending.

This is the statement attributed to James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal league, by newspaper men here tonight. Gilmore came here today to attend a meeting of the stockholders of the local club and departed early tonight. He is further quoted: "The St. Louis club lost $25,000, exclusive of its holdings. This was the biggest loss sustained in the league. Chicago, Buffalo, Baltimore and Indianapolis will show a balance on the right side of the ledger."

Building Operations for Nine Months

It is not easy to extract consolation or joy from the statement of building operations for the month of September. The figures look unfavorable. In fact, they are unfavorable. August, the first month of the European war, made a very creditable showing, a shrinkage of only 4 per cent, as compared with August last year. But September reveals a loss of 22 per cent. The explanation is perhaps this: Plans late in July for August permits had already progressed so far that stoppage was both unnecessary and undesirable. But during the month of August there was not the same undivided looking ahead to construction work. Instead, there were street corner discussions and arguments. Turning the spot light on the misty future, a somewhat hazardous guess would be that building operations may be about due to get their second wind. One consideration which is receiving some attention is that building material has cheapened in some directions within recent weeks.

The official reports of building permits issued by seventy-one of the principal cities throughout the country, during September, received by the American Contractor, Chicago, total $4,971,504, as compared with $6,534,645 for September, 1913, a decrease of 23 per cent. But the losses are not unanimous. There are eighteen cities that show gains, including St. Paul, 200 per cent; Denver, 241 per cent; Des Moines, 198 per cent; Scranton, 329 per cent; Springfield, Ill., 186 per cent; Salt Lake City, 227 per cent.

For the first nine months of the year the showing is creditable. The total cost of building permits issued in the seventy-one cities was $68,276,703, as compared with $68,218,802 for the corresponding period last year, a decrease of only 1 per cent. The statement in detail is as follows:

Table with columns: City, 1914, 1913, Gain, Loss. Lists various cities and their building permit statistics for 1914 and 1913, showing percentage changes.

Ticknor Editor of High School Register

Earle Ticknor came off victorious in campaigning for the position of editor in chief of the High School Register. The race between him and his two opponents, Gould and Allan, was close up to the time of the voting and there was a good deal of indecision until the result was announced.

Ticknor is a nonclub man and captain of the band. He is the first nonclub man to hold the office in a number of years and he plans on putting out a Register that will be wholly impartial.

Both Gould and Allan are club men. The contest between Robert Odell and William Campen for the position of business manager was close, but Odell finally won out. The remaining officers are Geraldine Johnson, assistant editor, who lost Hazel McMullen and Elizabeth Beresch and Russell Peters, assistant business manager. Peters was the only one running for that position. The Register will be issued the last of the month.

DANCER AND BALLYHOO MAN ARE MARRIED

In true oriental style, with tom-toms beating and flageolets wailing a weird music, the marriage of Paul Yacobian and Elizabeth Nolden was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the King's Highway in the Garden of Allah show. The bride is a homely Koschke dancer and the groom is a ballyhoo man.

Rev. A. E. Lohman performed the ceremony, which, despite the rain, was witnessed by a great crowd. After the wedding an elaborate wedding supper was served.

CHILD CLIMBING INTO AUTO IS THROWN OUT

"Mamma, I'm going out walking. I guess I'll take my doggie along to keep the girls away," exclaimed 3-year-old Paul Grossman, son of I. Grossman of the Gate City Furniture company, and living at 697 North Seventeenth street. Half an hour later the boy was carried home by J. V. Vaughn, a neighbor, seriously hurt. He had climbed into an automobile on Cass street and the machine started downhill at Twenty-second street and at Twentieth turned over, throwing the lad out.
