Behind the Jackson models for 1915 stands a long line of predecessors that have always been known for strength and sturdiness, durability and dependability, mechanical excellence and exceptional comfort. These cars have become famous for their long years of service in the hands of owners.

J. G. WILLIS IS CELEBRATING SEVENTY-FOURTH BIRTHDAY

Though the day is cold and damp, John G. Willis is celebrating his seventy-fourth birthday by setting out 200 feet of hedge fence to Idlewild addition. He lives at 222 North Twenty-second street. His only good health and says he gets most of his enjoyment out of working with his hoe and shovel. Andrew Rosewater surveyed the tract of ground, now Idlewild, for Mr. Willis forty years ago. Thirty years ago he laid it out in the Idlewild addition. There were no houses east of him to the river at that time, and nothing south to Coming street.

GRAFF TELLS ROTARIANS OF NEEDS OF SCHOOLS

Before the Rotary club at the Henshaw at noon, Superintendent E. U. Graff spoke of conditions in the schools, as to facilities, work accomplished and improvement needed.

Because of the increase of 1,500 pupils this year, the board has negotiated with school houses, to be transported to the various parts of the city as needed. These schools have been adopted in many of the larger cities and are in use in various parts of Alaska, Mr. Graff stated. While this will lessen the congestion temporarily what is really needed is more permanent buildings. At present many rooms contain from fifty to seventy-eight pupils, when the maximum number should be but thirty-five.

Can't Last Route. Pitching full games has been a rarity with more than one twirler this year, none more so than with Joe Engel, of the Washingtons. In no less than twenty-nine battles he has shared the box and with all the way from one to four men.

RECENT HEAVY RAINS DO CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE

Thousands of dollars of extra expense has been caused by the recent rains, according to City Commissioner J. J. Ryder of the street cleaning department. He says that several new additions and places where much fresh grading has been done have been badly washed by the downpours, with the result that mud has been carried down over much of the city pavement and now must be removed at great expense to the city. He especially mentioned the Montclair addition, near Thirtieth and coming streets, and the grading around the Walnut Hill reservoir.

CON MEN HELP OUT VICTIM

After Getting Coin They Advise Him to Bet on Boston.

HE DOES SO AND WINS PILE

Confidence Men Do Not Realize What a Valuable Tip They Are Giving to the Man from Kimball.

If three confidence men had followed the hunch they gave their victim in order to get rid of him, after getting $50, they would not only be considerably richer in a money way, but would not now be objects of a police hunt.

Halmer Sorenson, part owner of a farm near Kimball, Neb., came to Omaha the latter part of last week to do the sights. Three suave sellers of blue sky came here for the same reason, and one of the first sights they saw was Halmer.

Halmer was first seen giving the ring-a-knife game an awful play. He was winning knives by the bushel—so fast that he did not notice the cost and quality. So he was weeded out by the three smart ones and shown around the King's Highway for a while.

Then he learned that all three were telegraph operators and they had a "sure thing" on the world's series. They could tap the Western Union wires on the other side of the Douglas street bridge and stop the base ball reports for five minutes, and during the interval telephone friends on this side and let them place bets on the sure thing. Five minutes afterward the result would be relayed to Omaha.

They needed $50 for expenses—installing a phone, etc.—and Halmer gave it to them. He was to wait a telephone call at the Paston Monday afternoon and when he got the dope, rush over to the Krug theater where a large crowd of fans was gathered and bet heavily on the team that had already won. He was to offer tempting odds in order to get bets.

After getting the $50 the confidence men disappeared. For a joke they telephoned to him from Council Bluffs and instructed him to bet on Boston. Swanson thought he had a sure thing and he plunged. He offered big odds.

Boston won. Swanson won $40. After the game he went to the appointed place to divide the winnings.

An odd thing transpired. The three telegraph operators were not there to get their share. Halmer was worried and he told a friend that he had some money belonging to three benefactors, but could not find them.

"Keep it," advised the friend. "Go home to Kimball. You've walked in the 'valley of the shadow,' you poor fish, but you don't know it."

So Halmer went home satisfied with his $40.

And the three "telegraph operators" are satisfied with their $50.

The friend who told Sorenson to go home told the tale to the police.

PAINT FIRM BUYS YEAST PLANT FOR NEW QUARTERS

The National Oil and Paint company that for years has occupied some small buildings on Jones street west of the Tenth street viaduct, has purchased the On Time Yeast company buildings in the north part of the city on the Belt Line and will move as soon as the plant can be remodelled. The Missouri Pacific is giving the company trackage in order that cars may be laid in at the doors. In its new plant the National will have about three times the space it had in the old. New machinery will be added and a full line of mixed paints will be manufactured.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN HELD FOR BREAKING WINDOW

Ike Bonner, 78-year-old veteran of the civil war, who lives at 364 Ames avenue, was arrested on a charge of malicious destruction of property. He hurled a pitchfork through a $5 window.

In police court he said he was carrying the fork to the McMichael feed store at Twenty-fourth and Laird streets, when he tripped, and in falling threw the fork accidentally.

His son-in-law paid for the window and the old man was released from custody. Mr. Bonner has a bullet in his knee, a souvenir of Gettysburg.
