LUNCHEON MONDAY FOR THE

UFFS and anti-suffs have some exciting experiences when campaigning. Miss Jane Thomson, Vassar graduate, and Juno-esque beauty. who is getting votes for suf rage by making street speeches each evening from her automobile, ran up against a difficult situation last evening and, as usual, was equal to it.

Miss Thomson spoke for an hour and a half to a large audience at Fifteenth and Douglas streets. In the crowd was a decidedly picturesque gladiator, who looked as if he were the western villain in the movies. He was at least six feet and as many more inches, and if he hadn't been either part Indian or Mexican, he certainly would have been the "white hope." I think he was part Indian and had found a lot of "fire water" before running into Miss Thomson's meeting.

He gave an extra hitch to his chaps, loosened the red 'kerchief around his neck and waved his huge sombrero, "I'm Buffalo Bill," he shouted. "and I have just come from South America."

"Will some man kindly lead this man away?" asked Miss Thomson in her winning way. Many a would-be hero looked at the intruder, but dared

Finally Miss Thomson opened the door of her car and stepped down and out into the crowd and up to the "big chief." Now Miss Thomson is head and shoulders above the average woman in size, but she scarcely reached to the shoulders of the huge intruder, but she was not afraid. "Now, see here, this is my meeting, and I want you to get. Good bye!" she exclaimed, and he slunk away through the crowd.
