They Believe in Missions
The churches known as the Murdock and Louisville church gave a most pleasing program at the Louisville church last Sunday at which there were nearly 500 people present, as there were 450 in the house and many who could not gain entrance. The spirit of helpful missions was in the air and one of the pleasing features of the evening was the production of a dialogue by twelve of the lady members of the church who have passed the half century mark. They were Mesdames Fred Rouch, Grandmas Luetchens, Henry Schlapoff, A. A. Rikki, Geo. Mercke, H. P. Dehning, I. Laipply, Herman Schweppe, H. R. Schmidt, C. L. Miller, C. Burr, A. Brauchle and Henry Goetz. After the conclusion of the number which these ladies produced they said we have endeavored to bring you a lesson in helpful missions and now we are going to demonstrate we really believe in what we have been saying. They secured hats and passing through the crowd secured by a free will offering over $79.00, which, together with other offerings, made the total some over $280.00 which went to the Near East relief. Grandmas Luetchens gave one hundred dollars which greatly assisted in swelling the amount realized.

JAZZ TIME HAS PASSED; LONGER SKIRTS ARE CAUSE
Chicago, Nov. 3.—The jazz era is passed. Long skirts and public opinion have banished the shimmy and the saxophone.

Dancing Masters and Musical Directors of Chicago Admit Syncopation Craze is Dead.
Chicago, Nov. 3.—The jazz era is passed. Long skirts and public opinion have banished the shimmy and the saxophone.

When women wear skirt skirts and checked their corsets, they had greater freedom of movement which is now impossible with the tight, long, clinging gown.

Missie publishers and orchestra leaders have conducted a bitter campaign against jazz bands. Most of the Chicago hotel and dance hall orchestras have banned jazz instruments.

Incidentally, the Casino club—where Chicago's few most wealthy and socially exclusive families find their entertainment—is the only club in the city, which has not fallen in with the drive on the "barbarian music."

Patrons of the Casino club still insist on their jazz," said Edgar Benson, music director.

"The vulgar features of jazz are being driven out of American music forever," said Dr. Peter C. Lutkin, dean of the Northwestern university music school.

MANY WOMEN SEEKING SEATS IN U. S. CONGRESS

Sixteen According to Official List—Overlook One from Our Own Nebraska District.

Washington, Nov. 3.—More women are seeking office in the pending election than ever before in the history of this country.

In South Dakota Miss Alice Lorraine Daley is seeking the governorship on the Nonpartisan league ticket. This is the first instance of any woman running for governor.

On the official lists here are noted sixteen women campaigning for seats in the house and senate, and the total number (see note below) is said to reach twenty-one.

Here is the official list—
For United States Senate
Minnesota—Anna D. Olsson, democrat.
Pennsylvania—Rachel C. Robinson, Wilkesburg, prohibition.
Wisconsin—Jessie Jack Hooper, Oshkosh, democrat.

For United States House
Arizona—Mrs. H. A. Guild, Phoenix, republican.
California—Elvina S. Beals, of Berkeley, socialist.
Illinois—Winifred Mason Huck, Chicago, republican.
Indiana—Esther Kathleen O'Keefe, Plymouth, democrat.

Missouri—Mrs. St. Clair Moss, Columbia, democrat.
New Mexico—Adelina Otero Warren, Santa Fe, republican.
North Carolina—Lucy B. Patterson, Winston-Salem, republican.
Oklahoma—Alice M. Robertson, Muskogee, republican.
Pennsylvania—Ellen Duane Davis, Philadelphia, democrat; Helen Mayberry, Philadelphia, socialist; Julia R. Hazard, prohibitionist.

Wisconsin—Martha Riley, Madison, democrat.
Overlook E. Luella Barton
The official list of candidates for congress given above fails to contain the name of E. Luella Barton, first Nebraska district's prohibition candidate for the lower house. Miss Barton, whose home is at Lincoln has the distinction of being Nebraska's only woman candidate for so important an office, and the omission of her name from the official list sent out in press dispatches from Washington deprives Nebraska of some of the publicity to which she is justly entitled.

Senator from Massachusetts Makes Slashing Attack on Harding for Listening to Mellon.
New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 2.—President Harding's veto of the soldier's adjusted bonus bill was dictated by the "big business interests" through the secretary of the treasury, Senator David I. Walsh said in a campaign speech here last night.

"At the direction of one of the leading heads of the ultra-rich interests in the United States, the present secretary of the treasury, the chief owner of one of the greatest monopolies in the world—the aluminum trust—every effort to adjust the compensation of the veterans of the war has been thwarted," Senator Walsh said.

"At his demand, more than any other person in the country, the bonus has been thrust aside by a presidential veto.

"At his instance to the satisfaction of the international bankers, a secret commission was organized to refund the enormous sums of money due to the American people through loans to foreign governments during the war.

"His conception of the government's relationship to this great debt which amounts to over eleven billion dollars, was that unlimited authority should be given to him to negotiate in secret this refunding. Such a power which any man would seek for himself in a democracy should characterize him as unfit for public office.

"This same cabinet-officer directed the program that led to the reduction of taxes upon corporation stocks and profiteers in the sum of $615,000,000 per annum."

GRANDPA BRIGGS AGAIN
From Saturday's Daily.
The field representative of the Journal is wearing a smile that is more than usually pleasing today and his pleasure is reflected in Mrs. Briggs as they are both enjoying the distinction of being grandparents for the third time. The latest grandchild arrived this morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Franzen at Omaha, and the event has brought untold joy to the members of the family. The mother was formerly Miss Crete Briggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Briggs, and the many friends here will join in wishing the little one a long and happy life in the future.
