MRS. W. R. OLMSTEAD PASSES TO HER REWARD

After a Lingering Illness of Five Months, Death Relieves Her Suffering.

After spending four months of patient but constant suffering, the spirit of Mrs. W. R. Olmstead took its flight to the heavenly home from the family residence here in Carroll at 8:15 Monday morning, Nov. 14th. Luella A. Young was born in Cass county, Neb., near Plattsmouth, on April 30, 1864. She received her education in the public schools, becoming a teacher in the same and also an instructor in music.

On July 22, 1892, she was united in marriage to W. R. Olmstead at Springview, Neb. A few weeks later the young couple began housekeeping at Waterloo, Neb., where Mr. Olmstead engaged in business, but in March of the following year she was stricken with a severe illness. They moved to Carroll in the year 1909 where they have since resided. Mrs. Olmstead was of a quiet, retiring disposition, but this did not prevent her acquiring a wide circle of friends.

On March 24, 1922, she was received into the membership of the Methodist church by Rev. E. E. Carter and has remained faithful to her lord until the time of her death. She was also a loyal member of the Rebekah lodge. Her illness was some internal trouble that finally produced a general breakdown of her health. She leaves to mourn her departure her husband, three brothers, Byron, Carroll, J. M., of Plattsmouth and Fuller, O'Neill, also one sister, Mrs. E. E. Phipps of Plattsmouth, Neb. The funeral was held on Wednesday from the Methodist church, being conducted by her pastor, Rev. E. H. Draffner.—Carroll Index.

From Tuesday's Daily. Yesterday afternoon the members of the Fountaine chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, were entertained at the home of Mrs. M. A. Street in a very charming manner. Mrs. Leete also reviewed the D. A. R. magazine for the current month.

WANT CHICKEN AND DUCK SEASON SAME

O'Neill, Neb., Nov. 14.—Ranchmen and sportsmen of Holt, Rock, Brown, Cherry and Sheridan counties, the great prairie chicken counties of Nebraska, will ask the coming session of the legislature to amend the game laws so as to have the opening season for shooting prairie chickens begin at the same time as the open season on ducks. At present the duck season is fifteen days earlier than the prairie chicken and grouse season. As a result, the ranchmen contend, many chickens are killed by visiting hunters before the prospectors of the law get a chance to shoot.

HAD STARTLING EXPERIENCE AS SCHOOL TEACHER

Mrs. Edgar B. Penney, of Fullerton, who is the state president of the federation of women's clubs of Nebraska and also past president of the American Legion Auxiliary in this state, and who was here yesterday, had a notable career during her years of residence in the state, and one experience during the time bespeaks the courage and determination of this distinguished lady.

Mrs. Penney, when a young girl, was teaching school in the central portion of the state in the year 1888, that locality at the time being very thinly settled, and Mrs. Penney was acting as instructor at the time the great blizzard swept over Nebraska in that year.

With the storm raging and little fuel at the school house the children were in great danger of freezing in the intense cold that followed the terrific wind and snow storm sweeping across the plains.

The young teacher, recognizing the danger that threatened her little charges, secured a rope and tying the children together so they would not get separated, started out with her little party and in the face of the great danger that lurked in the whirling driving snow of the blizzard reached a nearby farmhouse, where the party were cared for and not a child was lost, although in the state there were many deaths from the effects of the blizzard.

LOSES WRESTLING MATCH

Bobbie Burkle, who has developed both strength and skill in the work of handling baggage at the Burlington station, decided yesterday to start training as a contender for the crown which has been worn by Joe Stecher and Frank Gotch and now rests on the hand of "Strangler" Lewis, and in an ill chosen moment decided on Andy Moore as his opponent. The match was short and sweet as the skill of Bobbie was no match compared to the "Strangler" and as a result of the match Bobbie received a wrenched ankle sustained when he was thrown and also a greater knowledge of the wrestling game than he has had heretofore.

ESTIMATE PROGRESSIVE VOTE AT FIVE PER CENT

1,903 of State's 1,921 Precincts Have Now Reported—Legislature to G. O. P.

Unofficial observers estimated last night that the progressives of Nebraska, who organized a new political party at Grand Island last winter, had polled approximately 5 per cent of the vote cast in last Tuesday's general election.

None of the progressive candidates for state offices running on that ticket alone, was successful, however, except two state representatives. Fourteen successful major party candidates for the state legislature, however, were also the nominees of the progressives.

Beebe Satisfied. About 250,000 persons voted for United States senator, unofficial returns indicate, based on a total of 371,679 from 1,903 of the state's 1,921 precincts. Of the 371,679, R. B. Howell, republican, received 215,970 compared to 146,399 for his democratic opponent, Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, and 9,310 for the Rev. J. L. Beebe of Omaha, progressive. This figure for Mr. Beebe is less than 5 per cent of the total, but observers say it probably does not include all the votes he received in the 1,903 precincts reported.

Rev. Beebe said he considered that the progressives, who declared for government ownership of the railroads and opposed the federal reserve banking system, would be better organized for the next election, and that steps to bring this about would be taken soon.

Unofficial returns show the republicans elected state senators in all but the second, third, eighth, tenth, thirteenth, twentieth, twenty-third, twenty-eighth and thirty-third districts. The vote in the thirty-fourth was close, and the apparent victory of G. C. Humphrey, republican, over S. M. Fries, democrat, may be upset by the official count.

In the legislature Of the state senators, three were progressive party nominees as well as candidates on major party tickets. They are John Witte, republican and progressive in the First district; J. H. Reffersath, democrat and progressive in the Tenth; and Henry Behrens, republican and progressive, in the Twelfth.

In the house, two republicans running also as progressives, were successful, while one, A. N. Mathers in the Ninety-eighth, was the nominee on three tickets, republican, democrat and progressive, without opposition. Eight democrats who also were nominated by the progressives for the house, were successful.

The prohibitionists' vote cannot be estimated, however, as all of their candidates were also running on major party tickets, with one exception, that of Mrs. E. Luella Barton, of Lincoln, who received but a small vote for congress as compared with her republican and democratic opponents.

CANNOT PAY HAIL INSURANCE LOSSES

State Department Waiting on County Treasurers Before it Can Pay Hail Insurance.

State hail insurance funds cannot be paid until county treasurers remit the premium money in their hands. The last payment from county treasurers is due in November. Remittance does not begin to reach the state treasury until about the tenth of each month.

That has thus far paid into the treasury the balance due on hail insurance. That county has remitted $8,790 on account of hail insurance premiums. The state treasurer report for October showed $182,644 in the hail fund. The losses this year exceed the premiums and the pro rata share of each policy holder cannot be computed until it is known how much money county treasurers remit, in November upon their last payment.

The law provides that county treasurers shall remit hail insurance premiums to the state treasurer 10 per cent at the end of each month and the balance on November 1 following without deduction or compensation. The November balance is about 50 per cent of the total. When this law was passed in 1921 some members of the legislature said it left money in the local banks which ought to be in the state treasury for the early payment of hail insurance and that the law would cause unnecessary delay in the disbursement of the funds. The funds this year will probably not be paid to losing policy holders until sometime in December.

REAL BUFFALO MEAT

If the field representative of the Journal seems more than usual festive within the next few days it can be ascribed to Buffalo meat. Mr. and Mrs. Briggs received a portion of buffalo meat from their son, Leland Briggs, which was part of a buffalo roasted whole at the barbecue of the American Legion post at Howell, S. D., and which was attended by Mr. Briggs and family who motored over from their home at Wimer, where Leland is a member of the Legion post. The reporter partook of some of the meat and pronounces it "bully."
