W. F. THIEHOFF MANAGER LINES EAST ON THE 'Q'

RESIGNATION OF L. B. ALLEN BRINGS CALL FOR OMAHA RAILROAD HEAD.

From Wednesday's Daily. W. F. Thiehoff, who entered the service of the Burlington railroad 39 years ago as a section laborer, has been appointed general manager of the lines east of the Missouri river with headquarters in Chicago, it was officially announced yesterday.

At the same time, E. Flynn was made general manager of the lines west of the Missouri with headquarters in Omaha; L. B. Lyman, general superintendent of the Nebraska district; J. H. Aydelott, head of the Illinois district; W. A. Card, the Iowa district; J. D. Farrington, St. Joseph (Mo.) division.

T. Thuman was appointed superintendent of the Quincy, Omaha & Kansas City, a subsidiary of the Burlington.

Came as Surprise

The changes and promotions came as a surprise to Omaha officials of the railroad, they said last night. They were occasioned by the resignation of L. B. Allen as general manager of lines east, of the Burlington railroad at Chicago and the death of F. H. Fustick, general superintendent of the Iowa district, at Burlington, thus creating two vacancies.

Mr. Thiehoff came to the lines west from LaCrosse, Wis., where he served in the capacity of superintendent, going to Lincoln as general superintendent on March 1, 1915. On July 1, 1916, he came to Omaha as assistant general manager and was promoted to general manager on Mr. Holdrege's retirement on January 1, 1921. He also served as chief operating officer of the Denver & Salt Lake railroad during the war and the year following.

Is Former Omahan

Mr. Flynn was a resident of Omaha several years ago, holding the position of superintendent of the Omaha division was first organized. Later he served as superintendent of the McCook division of the lines west and as superintendent of the LaCrosse division on the lines east.

W. A. Card, who was promoted to general superintendent of the Iowa district at Burlington, was superintendent of the Omaha division.

Mr. Lyman, who is to be general superintendent of the Nebraska district at Lincoln, is now general superintendent of the Illinois district at Galesburg, Ill., and has been granted the new position because he requests a change in climate.

CITY SCHOOLS HOLD THANKSGIVING PROGRAMS

Junior High School Has Extensive Program and the Senior High School Also Observes.

From Wednesday's Daily. This morning both the high school and junior high school held observance suitable for the Thanksgiving season and to impress on the young people the beauty and impressiveness of the custom that has become a part of the life of the nation.

At the high school Miss Agnes Knofleek the talented artist of this city, gave several of her always delightful violin numbers as a part of the program and the address of the occasion was given by Rev. H. G. McClusky, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. In his remarks Mr. McClusky pointed out the foundation of the day and its significance and the general adoption by the nation and also urged that each one should try to be a part of the events that seemed adverse the day of hope that would bring the spirit of thanksgiving even in the face of apparent failures.

At the junior high school there was a very extensive program and the gathering was presided over by Joe Battery, president of the eighth grade, in a very pleasing manner. The program opened with the singing of "America" by the school and the "Salute to the Flag," given by the young people. The address was made by Rev. F. E. Pfoutz, pastor of the First Methodist church, and which was much enjoyed by the large audience of young people. On the program were a number of readings given by Gretchen Warner, Lucile Reynolds and Mrs. B. C. Doolan, all of which were much appreciated by the audience.

Miss Winifred Rainey gave a delightful vocal selection and a violin number was contributed by Dudley Uiter in a most pleasing manner and Miss Alice Louise Westcott favored the school with a whistling solo.

The school program was concluded by the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," in which the entire audience joined.

PURCHASES STOCK OF OMAHA READY-TO-WEAR DEALER

Ladies' Toggery of this City Buys One of Best Lines in Omaha For Sale in this City.

From Wednesday's Daily. Announcement made in Omaha yesterday of the purchase by the Ladies' Toggery of this city of the fine stock of ladies' ready to wear garments of Adam Bonhoff, pioneer retailer of the metropolis, will be of great interest to Journal readers. "This stock of goods," said Mr. Busch last night, "was secured at about forty cents on the dollar of its retail value, and considerably below present wholesale prices. Included in it are several hundred choice dresses, suits, skirts, etc., and an equal number of ladies' coats."

Mr. Bonhoff's intention of entering the wholesale game has caused him to close out his retail interests and the Toggery manager considers himself very fortunate in securing these goods at such an advantageous price.

nesday, December 6th. "We will pass on to the people the advantage of our fortunate buy in bed rock prices, in order to quickly convert the stock into ready money," says Mr. Busch. "During the past season, with unstable business conditions, we have not stocked heavily, and as a result some lines have become depleted the last few weeks, but the addition of this stock will afford purchasers a variety the equal of any city store, while the prices will speak for themselves."

Advertising announcements of this sale will appear within the next few days.

ACQUIT MAN CHARGED WITH SLAPPING BOY

Entire Morning Taken up With Hearing Case in Which Tyco Backstrom was Defendant

From Wednesday's Daily. This morning there was a large array of spectators and witnesses present at the police court when the hearing of the case against Tyco Backstrom, Burlington employe, charged with slapping Ralph Hyde, a minor, was heard before Judge William Weber.

The plaintiff was represented by City Attorney C. A. Rawls as the defendant was charged with violating a city ordinance, while William A. Robertson represented the defendant. The complaining witness and a number of other residents of the locality in which the trouble occurred testified and identified the defendant as the man in the case who had slapped the lad, but this was offset in the defense who produced a large array of testimony and documentary evidence to prove that the defendant was not in the city on the day that the alleged slapping occurred. November 16th. The railroad company records showing the time of the entering of the employe of the Burlington here were shown as well as transportation orders from Chicago for Mr. Backstrom to come to this city and which showed that the man had not come to Plattsmouth until November 20th.

After hearing the evidence in the case, Judge Weber decided that the preponderance of evidence was very strong that a mistake had been made in the party doing the alleged slapping and accordingly acquitted Mr. Backstrom of the charges preferred against him.

CHICKENS ARE MISSING

From Wednesday's Daily. The residents of the south portion of the city have been missing at more or less regular intervals their feathered beauties from the coops and the latest victims of the night callers has been at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Skinner where their flock of thoroughbred Silver Laced Wyandottes was raided and eight fine pullets and one cockerel taken from the flock. The visitor made no alarm in getting away and it was not until Tuesday morning that Mrs. Skinner on opening the coop discovered that the chickens were missing. The chicks had been carefully counted on Monday night so that the robbery occurred some time during that night. Several others in the same neighborhood have been losing a few chickens but this is the largest number taken at one time.

IOWA SHERIFF TAKES ALLEGED THIEF BACK

James Owens Wanted at Glenwood For Alleged Chicken Stealing Taken There Yesterday.

From Wednesday's Daily. Yesterday Deputy Sheriff Dawson of Mills county, Iowa, came over in search of a young man named James Owens for whom he had a warrant charging pilfering chickens in the vicinity of Glenwood and after some search the young man was located on a farm in the hills west of Cullom. Mr. Dawson in company with William Grebe and Frank Detlef motored out to the place where the young man was supposed to be and started a search for him. As the officers looked over the house they failed to find their man until Officer Grebe spied a foot exposed beneath one of the beds and at once commanded the owner to come forth before the artillery was brought into action and with a mighty heave the bed clothes and mattress was lifted and the young man sought after was revealed.

COMES THROUGH NICELY

From Wednesday's Daily. Thomas Rabb, who has been at the Presbyterian hospital in Omaha for the past two weeks recovering from the effects of his wound received here in the recent unfortunate shooting affray, has undergone the second of his operations and is now apparently doing very nicely. The left lung of the young man had been injured in the shooting, the bullet having entered a portion of the lung and as the result there was some hemorrhage, but owing to the weak condition of the young man it was impossible to operate at the time, but as he has improved since the removal of the bullet the second operation was performed and the injured lung treated. The friends will be pleased to learn that Tom is showing such splendid improvement on the theory that he may soon be over the effects of the wound.
