The stockholders were well pleased as well with the administration of the affairs by Superintendent William F. Evers, who has had charge of the home in the last few years.

Owing to absence of Hon. John R. Webster of Omaha, chairman of the building committee, in Florida, there was no action taken relative to the plans for the new buildings that are to be erected at the grounds of the home in this city and the matter will rest until the return of Mr. Webster from the south.

GIVES ADDRESS ON CONTRACTS TO YOUNG MEN

Attorney W. G. Kieck Gives Very Interesting and Entertaining Address at Y. M. B. C. Class

Last evening the Y. M. B. C. of the Methodist church held a very interesting meeting at the class rooms and which was very largely attended by the membership to enjoy the lecture of the evening, Chairman Duxbury of the committee in charge, who has worked hard to provide entertaining lectures for the winter series certainly proved successful in the selection of last evening that was very entertaining as well as instructive. Attorney W. G. Kieck was the speaker and gave an address on "Contracts," taking the start of the word contract and enlarging on the legal phases of the making of contracts between parties and the general proposition of contracts both written and verbal and his many illustrations of the application of contracts proved most delightful to the young men. After the address the attorney was showered with questions from the interested auditors and at the close every one had a far more intimate realization of what a contract was than they had before.

After the main speech of the evening Chairman Duxbury gave a few of the poems of Edgar A. Guest which were much enjoyed. The ladies of the Queen Esthers who were meeting in the next room called on the young men and favored them with a number of musical selections. As is usual at these pleasant gatherings the refreshment committee came into action and completed a perfect evening with appropriate refreshments.

GIVEN A DECREE

This morning, Judge James T. Begley heard the divorce case of Ethel B. Hadley vs. Constantine Hadley in the district court. The testimony of the plaintiff and her father was taken by the court and the defendant was not present to contest the case. Attorney Charles E. Martin appeared for the plaintiff in the case. At the conclusion of the testimony the court rendered a decision giving the plaintiff a decree of absolute divorce as prayed for.

WILL MIX WITH ST. PAUL FIGHTER ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Andy Schmader Departed this Morning for St. Paul, Minn., to Take On Emil Engberg Friday.

This morning, Andy Schmader departed for Omaha where he will be joined by his manager, Jack Lewis, and this evening the two will board the train for St. Paul, Minnesota, where Andy is scheduled to meet Emil Engberg in the squared circle Friday evening.

The opponent of Andy is one of the crack scrappers of the northwest and has been doing a great deal of scrapping around St. Paul and Minneapolis and should be a worthy opponent of the Nebraska heavyweight. Andy has been in the best of shape since his recent fight at Oklahoma City and feels that he can take the measure of the Minnesota glove artist and the friends here are awaiting word that another victory has been added to the list that Andy has to his credit.

MIX-UP OCCURS AT THE ROLLER SKATING RINK

Matter Aired in Police Court This Morning and Edward Lannon is Fined $5 and Costs.

Last evening while the roller skaters were speeding to and fro on the floor of the roller rink, a mix-up occurred which caused some little excitement when Edward Lannon planted a large shiner on the physiognomy of Earl Brittain and resulted in Frank Marshall, special police officer at the rink, to detain the two lads until Officer William Heinrich arrived to take them into custody.

This morning the matter was thrashed out before Judge William Weber and was witnessed by a number of friends of the parties involved. From the testimony offered it would seem that Mr. Lannon had acted rather hastily in the matter and had struck Earl Brittain. The testimony of Mr. Lannon was to the effect that he had been skating with a lady friend and that Mr. Brittain had come past and tripped him and that he had then tripped Brittain and that Earl had then struck him and he responded with a return blow.

Henry Pries, who was skating with Earl Brittain, testified that he and Earl were taking long strokes and as they came around the end of the hall where Lannon was skating they had accidentally bumped into him and later starting out again, Brittain had been tripped and as he fell he threw up his hands and in so doing struck Lannon in the face although without intent, Lannon had then hit Brittain over the eye. Glen Mendenhall also testified to this effect, he being a bystander, and seeing the trouble. Earl Brittain stated that as far as hitting Lannon, on his part it had been purely accidental.

Judge Weber, after hearing the evidence in the case assessed a fine of $5 and costs amounting to $8 on Mr. Lannon and dismissed the action against Mr. Brittain. The court also criticized the number of scraps and trouble at the roller rink and admonished the keeping of the peace there or more severe measures might be taken. Chief of Police Jones told the young men that they had been barred from skating at the rink in the future by the owner.

WOULD LOAN THE STATE SCHOOL FUND

House Bill Adds Farm Mortgage to List of Investments Education Board May Make.

Representatives Reece, Dutcher and Kendall are the authors of a bill introduced to the house at the Tuesday morning session, which adds ### farm mortgages to the list of investments the board of educational lands and funds may make of permanent school funds and the income from its investments.

The constitution permits the legislature to designate the securities that may be purchased with the eleven millions now in the fund. At the present time the board invests in state warrants, government state, county, city, school district and drainage and irrigation district bonds.

To this the new bill adds the farm mortgage. No more than $25,000 may be loaned to any one person. The land must be unimproved, and the money must go only to men who as owners are in charge of actual farming operations. The interest shall be 5 per cent.

Applications for loans are to be made to the board, and if it is compelled to foreclose it has the right to bid in the land. If the land is in an irrigation district the state mortgage shall be superior. The bill goes into great detail as to how the whole plan shall be carried out.

A bill pending in the senate which would allow the board to invest in bonds in irrigation district warrants and several other plans are brewing for investment of this big fund in ways that would mean its entire use would be confined to the state.

WOULD PAY PENSION TO AGED OF STATE

Bill Proposes $1 a Day From State Treasury—Provides a $2,000 Job For Someone.

Senators Eries and McGowan introduced an old age pension bill in the senate Tuesday. The bill creates a new office, that of superintendent of old age pensions, the salary not to exceed $2,000 a year, with such assistance in the way of clerks as the board of old age pensions may deem necessary. Not to exceed $1 a day shall be allowed prisoners. This and all other expenses are to be paid out of the state treasury. The bill starts with an appropriation of $50,000 for a period of two years.

One of the introducers is a democrat and the other a republican. They ignore Governor Bryan in the make up of the board which is to appoint a superintendent. This board is to comprise the lieutenant governor, state superintendent of public instruction and chancellor of the university. Both the lieutenant governor and state superintendent are now republicans, the latter is now elected on a non-political ballot. The chancellor of the university is an appointive officer, chosen by a board of regents who are elected on a non-political ballot.

The bill says the superintendent must be one versed in relief and charity work and one thoroughly familiar with the social and economic conditions in the state. This description is said to fit the person who desires the appointment.
County boards are required to cooperate with the state board in designating persons entitled to an old age pension, but the superintendent has the last word. The bill itself defines who is and who is not eligible to a pension. The pensioners must be seventy years of age, but not inmates of any workhouse, poor farm or state institution or have descended to the occupation of a common tramp, must not be the owner of more than $3,000 worth of property or an income over $200 a year, and must not have been in jail for any prolonged period or have deserted a married companion, or have children and must have lived in state fifteen years and be a citizen of the United States.

NEBRASKA STEERS TAKE ALL PRIZES

Win a Total of $1,110 in Prizes at National Western Stock Show—One Wins Two Prizes.

University of Nebraska steers made a clean sweep in the carcass classes, winning a total of $1,110 in prizes on all its entries at the National Western Stock show at Denver, Saturday. In a competition that included specimens from leading herds of the west, the university won first, second and third in both the yearling and calf classes as well as grand and reserve champion carcasses.

Black Leonard, the winner of the grand championship, was reserve champion Angus steer on foot and as a result of winning both classes, received a special prize of $300 in addition to the regular class prizes. His total winnings were $420, and sold at the auction Wednesday for 20 cents a pound, netting the university $180, bringing the total to $600. This calf was bred by the college as was his sire. He was fourteen months old, being dropped November 24, 1921.

Return Boy, the winner of the reserve championship, was likewise bred by the university. He was sired by a Hereford bull and out of an Angus cow. He sold for 15 cents a pound.

Royal Black, winner in the yearling class was a pure bred Shorthorn calf in July, 1921. He was bred by the university, and was sired by Royal Dale, the college herd bull, that sired Royal Marvel, the reserve grand champion steer on foot, which was shown earlier in the week.

The university made its strongest winnings ever made at the show. The hog winnings were championship Duroc, Poland and Hampshire barrows as well as grand and reserve grand champion barrow prizes.
