ber of the Baptist church since she was fifteen years of age and the last sad rites were said over the remains of this excellent woman at the late home on last Thursday, February 8, by Rev. W. A. Taylor, pastor of the Baptist church at Union. Interment was made in the Young cemetery northeast of Murray.

Valentine Party

The Epworth League gave a party at the home of Mr. W. H. Porter on Tuesday evening. The rooms were very tastefully decorated with hearts and cupid's which gave a very pleasing air to the house and once inside no one minded the cold wind which whistled through the trees out doors. There were about forty present to enjoy the evening.

Various games suited to St. Valentine's day were played and several prizes such as candy, hats and valentines were given to the winners of the games. Some of the lucky ones were Miss Hall, who could place the arrow nearest the center of the heart, Mr. Simmons, the artist with a bow and arrow, Fay Hansell, the best at making words out of one word, and Miss Ellis and Lewis Maugey, who were the wise ones in the floral contest. Another game which afforded much merriment was the game of "spook". The players soon found it was hard to spook most people.

Following the games, delicious refreshments were served consisting of white brick ice cream with a red heart in the center, angel food and chocolate cake and coffee.

The evening was one which will be remembered by all present as a most pleasant one and all departed thanking Mr. Porter and Miss Letha, as well as the Fourth vice president of the League for the good time they had enjoyed.

MRS. IDA D. KILLY LAID TO REST IN YOUNG CEMETERY

Mrs. Ida D. Killy, well known by many Murray people, and a cousin of Mrs. J. E. Hatchett of that place, where she spent much of her time for the past two years, passed away at the Mercy hospital in Council Bluffs, Iowa, last Friday, where she had been receiving treatment for some time.

Mrs. Killy, whose maiden name was Miss Eda D. Hodgekins, was born at Springhill, Kansas, in May, 1871, and was united in marriage to W. L. Killy about thirty years ago. One daughter was born to this union, she being Mrs. Max Martin, of Omaha. The Killy family moved to Omaha about fifteen years ago, and Mrs. Killy became an invalid some six years ago.

The deceased lady united with the Presbyterian church early in life and was a devoted adherent of that faith ever since, being ever faithful to her Lord and Master. The funeral was held at the Presbyterian church in Murray last Sunday afternoon, Rev. W. F. Graham delivering the sermon and interment was in the Young cemetery near there.

Card of Thanks

We desire to express our thanks and appreciation for the many kind acts of the Murray friends at the time of the death and burial of our beloved wife, mother and cousin.—W. L. Killy, Mr. and Mrs. Max Martin, J. E. Hatchett and Family, E. L. Wasson and Wife.

SEEN MURRAY MAKE GOOD

With last Tuesday, W. G. Boedeker has been with the Bank of Murray for fifteen years, and during that time has observed a wonderful change in the town. The business has grown and enlarged more than one hundred per cent. Many have come and many have gone in these years, but to the ones who stuck it has been very profitable.

Mr. Boedeker has made a most conservative and careful banker and has added materially to the prosperity of the community in which he has worked for this decade and a half. The business men and citizens have learned to bank on his advice in money matters as well as to place their money in his bank for safe-keeping.

DRAFT EVADERS NOT INDICTED ARE FREED BY RULING

Cleveland Judge Holds Statute of Limitations Prevents Further Slacker Prosecutions.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 13.—Thousands of men and youths, who evaded the selected service law during the world war and are free, are exempt from punishment by the government, under a ruling handed down here today by Federal Judge D. C. Westenhaver, who declared the joint resolution of congress, which the government has relied upon to obviate the status of "slackers" and draft evaders, is merely "an expression of legislative opinion."

Judge Westenhaver ruled that only when indictments had been returned or information had been filed before the expiration of three years from the time the alleged offense was committed can the government continue prosecution against draft evaders. The decision was handed down in the case against Charles Selberg of Canton who was indicted for failure to register on June 5, 1917. Selberg's counsel invoked the statute of limitations, arguing that the government failed to have Selberg indicted until last December 20, although prosecution was barred under this statute after June, 1920.

Admitting that his decision may set a precedent which would bring about the virtual collapse of the government's long drawn out campaign against draft evaders, Judge Westenhaver said:

"I have interpreted the law as I have found it. The unfortunate fact remains that congress in passing its resolution failed to determine what its effect should be had been and then change its resolution accordingly."

The statute ("Limitation, the court pointed out, affords all federal charges of a lesser magnitude than a felony. Penalties of the statute service law were effected within the law itself as being non-punishable by a year in jail, no less and no more.
