Emory Kellberg who has been living in Nebraska City for some time, returned to Nehawka a few days since and will again work for Mr. J. J. Pollard for the coming season. Emory is an excellent workman and also Mr. Pollard a fine man to work for and with.

Frank P. Sheldon, R. C. Pollard, Fred Newman, Vinney the children and a number of others from near Nehawka were in the county seat last Tuesday, where they were hearing the matter of the opening of a road southwest of Nehawka which is to go to the O street road. The matter was put over for a short time.

J. M. Johnson of Lincoln has leased the Hicks building and has opened a garage in the same and will serve the public of Nehawka with the best of work, having had ample experience in this line of work.

Johnson is an experienced electrician as well and will bid for work in this line also. See his announcement in another column.

The busy season which is just now beginning to press on the farmers, found Troy Shrader with too much work to do to look after the "Reds" which only they can take care of and from school, and he has resigned for the present, the work being taken up by Jack Douglas with his car and all may rest assured that the children will be well cared for.

Addison Boedeker, who is one of the prominent farmers of the community, was in town last Monday and while here made it a point to send the Journal to his brother, H. F. Boedeker, who is in the west, that he might keep in touch with the doings here. Of course with Ad's money which only they can take care of with the world happenings, but as Hank cannot have a radio in the west, Ad did the next best thing and sent him the Journal.

Heard an Excellent Discourse

Not only are the Masons temple builders but they are builders of a better condition of society as well and they in a body last Sunday which was Easter, turned out to services in the Methodist church and found the Rev. Johnson was pepped up with a sermon just fitting for the visitors and the occasion Easter, the gladdest time of the year.

The Gentlemen's Agreement

Yes, that is what it is. Two gentlemen of Nehawka, but with adverse views on the question of the getting of a water system for the thriving little city, made a wager as to the result of the election on the question of issuing bonds for the purpose of installing the system which has been decided to have.

Mr. W. A. Norris agreeing to transport J. S. Rough in a wheelbarrow up and down main street of the city of Nehawka on Saturday afternoon should there be one-half as many votes in favor of the issuing of bonds as there were against it, while if there were not half as many for it as against it, then Mr. Rough was to wheel Mr. Norris in a like trip the same place and time. The people of Nehawka are anticipating some sport for as it has transpired the bonds were mostly won by Mr. Norris and we are hoping Mr. Rough will not be rough with Mr. Norris.

School Notes

Miss Nurenberger went to Lincoln for the week end.

The juniors are practicing hard for the play which they will give some time in April.

The grade teachers are looking over material with a view to obtaining some for a contemplated entertainment.

At convocation last Thursday Rev. Stimpkins spoke to the students. He took up the subject of the value of education.

The county eighth grade examinations will be held at the schoolhouse Thursday and Friday of next week. Miss Scott will have charge of the examinations.

Owing to bad weather the seniors lost a little money on the motion picture which they put on at the auditorium. However, they appreciate the patronage of all who were able to come.

LOAN FUNDS TO U. OF N. STUDENTS

Considerable Money is Held in Trust for Educational Aid, but Not Enough for Needs.

Forty-four University of Nebraska students are meeting part of the cost of their education by loans that total nearly $7,700, granted from the funds held in trust by the university. Fifteen of these loans were granted this year. According to L. E. Gunderson, university bursar, about a hundred students have been loaned money from these funds in the last ten years.

The funds entrusted to the university by philanthropic persons or organizations are divided in two separate classes, according to whom the money can be loaned; that is, loans to special groups of students and loans open to all. Freshmen are not eligible to loans from any fund, and seniors are given preference. No person can borrow more than $100 a semester and this is paid to them at the rate of $25 a month. The person signs a promissory note that is eventually collected—has been paid when due, according to the bursar. By far the largest number borrowing money are men—only three women are now indebted to the funds.

The original donations to the funds total $5,552.04, which have grown now to almost $7,700. On June 30, 1922, $3,621.02 of this was out on loans, and $779.04 of it has been donated since.

Where the Money Came From

The funds now available, their donors and to whom they are available are:

John R. Webster fund (open to all) $1,855.56; William G. Williams fund (engineers) $1,470.89; John A. Waddell fund (engineers) $1,542.09; Ida M. Carter fund (engineers) $737.10; Sigma Tau fund (engineers) $100; Dr. J. F. Stevens memorial fund (open to all) $1,174.02; class of 1914 (open to all) $169.94; Engineers' fund (engineers) $500; Business Women's league (for women) $100; Pi Beta Phi, $10.

In addition to these funds, the Omaha chamber of commerce has an agricultural students' aid fund, created by public subscription in September, 1921, amounting to $1,706. This is under guardian, J. A. Changstrom of the Omaha National bank. This money is loaned to students in the college of agriculture, and it is reported that seventy-five students of that college have been loaned sums from this fund since it was started. Every loan has been repaid. Loans from this fund are secured thru officials of the college.

The students in the college of medicine at Omaha have the use of the Conklin loan fund. Mrs. Gunderson says that this fund is used for the fund for the college of industry students who must make large expenditures for laboratory equipment. The present funds and rules do not accommodate these students.

The available funds do not even begin to take care of the large number of applications, but with additional funds will grow in time. But university officials agree that student loan funds divided according to colleges should be inaugurated as soon as possible.

CIVILIZATION BACK TO FIFTH CENTURY

Evidence of it Found in Maya Ruins of District of Yucatan, According to U. S. Scientist.

Merida, Yucatan, Mex., April 2.—Examination of the Maya ruins of Chichenitzi, just completed by the American scientist, Dr. Sylvanus G. Morley, has brought to light evidences of a civilization dating back to the middle of the fifth century, A. D., which, Doctor Morley says, was the most advanced of any in the western hemisphere prior to the discovery of America by Columbus.

The research was inaugurated a decade ago by the Carnegie institute, but was interrupted by the war. The project was again taken up last month.

The religious and civil centers of the ruins cover an area two miles long and one mile wide. Extending from this center in all directions for three to five miles are the remains of stone buildings. These include pyramids, platforms, terraces, plazas and paved roads, all now buried in a thick tropical foliage.

The ruins of Chichenitzi are one of the largest cities of the new Maya empire, which was probably founded about the middle of the fifth century after Christ, by colonists from the old empire cities of northern Guatemala." Doctor Morley said. "During this first period it was occupied for about two centuries of a struggle of three cities and the other being Uxmal and Mayapan, which ruled Yucatan from the beginning of the Eleventh to the thirteenth century. It was a period of prosperity, with a renaissance of art, architecture and sculpture."

The word comes from the French menu (small) and refers to the small steps of the dancers. Louis XIV of France and Charles II of England made this dance fashionable at court. The minuet became the favorite dance in the time of Washington. Beethoven was probably the most important personage in musical history and one of the astonishing things about him is that he could turn aside from some great soul-racking symphony to produce such a simple, delicate, beautiful melody as this famous Little Minuet. This minuet is from a set of six published in 1796.

Traumerei.....Schumann

Traumerei is one of a group of smaller compositions called "Childhood Scenes." It is probably the most beautiful of the entire group and is a universal favorite, beloved by old and young. "Traumerei" means "dreaming."

It is said that the number was intended to portray a dream of the summer with its deep blue sky, flecked with fleecy clouds, the fragrance of the wild rose comes on the balmy breeze and soothes the senses into a delicate reverie. The change in key comes as the dreamer rouses himself and is vaguely conscious of a rustic dancer in the woods near by. Soon, however, the reins again and the first key returns, as the dreamer's senses are again lulled to rest. Only one melody is heard throughout this entire song, the contrasts being obtained by modulations or changes of key.

ALVO DEPARTMENT

M. E. Church Notes

Our Sunday morning services were pretty well attended, considering sickness and rough roads. The Sunday school numbered 132 on the record and a collection close up to $5.

The various classes do fine when they have the opportunity and we as older folks are sure glad to find the Sunday school boys and girls alive to this part of the work of the church. But the church services are greatly in need of a regular choir. A choir is a mighty big help to the dignifying and gracing the work of church. But really no one is to blame for this irregularity of a choir. Sickness is always a good excuse and will pass anywhere. But we are sincerely hoping that this condition will be so improved that when our revival begins our sister will be right on the job to do their best. We still hold the date for choir practice on Saturday night at the church. May we have a full attendance.

At present writing we have no report of the bazaar which was given by the ladies of the aid. At last some one reported that every article was sold. The aid has recently organized for a greater business work than ever. They have three divisions and a leader for each division. They want that the aid as a society shall not be wanting or lacking in anything when the year closes. Sister Edwards is sure a splendid leader in this energetic society.

The prayer meeting has promise of greater attendance for Thursday night service. We are sure glad to see this circle which is so large. What is a church without a prayer meeting? There are plenty of people to care for clubs of all kinds but why should a church turn down a holy club and as big a book for study as the Bible. Our motto is "Every Church Member at Prayer Meeting," and bring your Bibles.

Now, just a word more about the revival slated for our church to begin on April 15th. The lady evangelist is Miss Clara A. Meeker from Enid, Okla. This writer and pastor has read articles in other papers relative to her revivals and these write up by pastors sure say many praiseworthy words of Miss Meeker. Alvo is surely very fortunate in securing her services. Are we as a church going to be dead in earnest in this revival? If we expect souls saved we must be in earnest. This is the true work of the church. Brothers and Sisters, you have stood loyally by your church thus far now do the same while these meetings are in progress. We must do our part or God can't do His. May we have a real experience and a heart warming time. Every Christian, not Methodists only is cordially invited to come. Bring your friends with you.

Rev. and Mrs. Galloway will be with us through the meeting. May the Good Lord abundantly bless this Alvo revival.

The Parent-Teachers association held a meeting last Wednesday night at the school. The house was full. Suffice to say that the program committee had the best program this time of their all. The audience sure enjoyed it all.
