A member of the G. A. R., Dr. Harding said he considered Robert E. Lee one of America's great generals, and he promised to place a wreath on his grave when he returned east. He said he felt very kindly towards the south, stating that his grandmother was a cousin of Jefferson Davis' mother.

ENUNCIATES NEW RULING GOVERNING LIABILITY

Supreme Court Says Employe May Sue at Common Law if Employer Fails to Obey Law.

The supreme court Tuesday, in the case of Nedela against Mares Auto company, lays down new law with respect to the workmen's compensation act. In so doing it makes unnecessary the enactment of a bill passed by the house and killed by mistake in the senate, which sought to make the law what the supreme court now says it is.

Lawyers say the decision is of unusual importance in this class of litigation, while his growing each year as the state grows industrially and accidents increase in number. Nedela was injured while working in the garage of the defendant. An appeal in this case was once before heard by the supreme court, and it sent the case back for retrial on the ground that it was apparent that both were under the employers' liability law and that an action at common law for injuries could not be maintained.

On the retrial the defendant asked that the plaintiff elect under which theory it was asking recovery, and the trial court permitted the plaintiff to elect the common law theory. The latter tribunal says that the fact was overlooked that at the second trial Nedela had introduced evidence to show that his employer had not complied with any part of the compensation law. The "law of the case" has no relation, the court says, as to decisions upon questions of fact, which the retrial may entirely change. The new law laid down is contained in this paragraph:

"Where an employer and employe enter into a contract of employment after the taking effect of the workmen's compensation act, both are presumed to contract with reference and subject to the provisions of part 2 thereof, but when the employer does not insure for the benefit of his employe or fails to furnish satisfactory proof of his ability to pay compensation awarded as provided for in section 3069, compiled statutes for 1922 he is liable to an action for damages on account of negligence, if the facts so warrant, to pay compensation under the statute, at the election of the employe."

Failure to insure sufficient votes on Senate File No. 2, although it passed without the emergency clause, complicates the republican program to force Governor Bryan into an acceptance of the code. This bill provided that unless Governor Bryan should name code secretaries and have them confirmed before the present session of the legislature closed, the present republican constitutional officers would automatically head the code department.

Failure of the emergency clause, however, would hold up the bill from passage until July, when the legislature would not be in session and the governor, if he saw fit, could make his own appointments under the code for interim until the next session.

The four republicans who voted against the two bills were Charles H. Mencham of Saline, W. N. Chambers of Douglas, Henry Behrens of Cummins and John Witte of Richardson.

Senator Mencham filed this explanation of his vote: "I do not feel that this bill should name code secretaries of my constituency." Following is the vote for and against the Reed-Hastings bill:

For—Allen, Anderson, Barr, Bliss, Cooper, Good, Hillan, Johnson, Kros, McGowan, Reed, Rickard, Robbins, Saunders, Sturdevant, Warner, Wilkins—11.

Against—Banning, Behrens, Chambers, Fries, Gumb, Mencham, Osborne, Purcell, Reisenrath, Shellenbarger, Smrha, Thielen, Tomek and Witte—14.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Gauer are now nicely located in their newly purchased home on Gospel Hill and are feeling well pleased with their bargain. While they are sure to miss the associations of their old home on the farm, which was indeed a very fine one, they are expecting to enjoy town life very much. They had resided in their home in the country for more than thirty-five years so it was somewhat of a wrench to tear themselves away but their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Salsberg, will live on the place and it will always seem very much like home to go back often. Their younger son, Harold, will remain with them and will attend school here and after they get settled their elder son, John, will probably go to Omaha to live. At present he has been helping them to move and get settled.—Louisville Courier.

TRUTH TRIUMPHS

Plattsmouth Citizens Testify for the Public Benefit.

A truthful statement of a Plattsmouth citizen, given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine.

A Plattsmouth citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Could you demand more convincing proof of merit?

Dr. George T. Harding, father of President Harding, in an address before the united confederate reunion today, declared that he wanted a reunion of the blue and the gray in Washington next year if possible. He said his son was a true friend of the south, adding:

"Thanks to the southern people for the kindness with which they have treated my son. The south has never had a better friend than Warren G. Harding."

A member of the G. A. R., Dr. Harding said he considered Robert E. Lee one of America's great generals, and he promised to place a wreath on his grave when he returned east. He said he felt very kindly towards the south, stating that his grandmother was a cousin of Jefferson Davis' mother.

Indigestion and Constipation
Prior to using Chamberlain's Tablets, I suffered dreadfully from indigestion. Nothing I ate agreed with me and I lost flesh and ran down in health. Chamberlain's Tablets strengthened my digestion and cured me of constipation," writes Mrs. George Stroup, Solvay, N. Y. Weyrich & Hadraba.

SENATE VOTES TO ACCEPT ARBOR LODGE
Lincoln, April 12.—The state senate today voted 23 to 7, with the lower house, to accept Arbor Lodge, the J. Sterling Morton estate at Nebraska City, as provided in H. R. No. 318, which also makes provision for an appropriation of $5,000 a year for maintenance. The bill now goes to the governor.

The estate, which includes the family mansion, a Morton monument and an arboretum of more than 100 varieties of trees set out by the late founder of Arbor day, is valued at a quarter of a million dollars. It was offered to the state as a gift by Joy Morton of Chicago, famous salt manufacturer and son of the elder Morton, on condition that the state maintain it.

A Farmer Cured of Rheumatism
"A man living on a farm near here came in a short time ago completely doubled up with rheumatism. I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment and told him to use it freely," says C. P. Rayner, Patten Mills, N. Y. "A few days later he walked into the store as straight as a string and handed me a dollar saying, give me another bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment; I want it in the house all the time for it cured me." Weyrich & Hadraba.

MOVING TO NEW HOME
The Everett Gooding family, who have been residing in the west part of the city are now moving to the residence property on Eighth street, formerly owned by Henry Zuckeweller and which Mr. Gooding has purchased. The new home is a modern one in every way and is within easy distance of the main portion of the city.

MAKES A FINE RECORD
District Judge James T. Begley of this city, who has been sitting as a member of the supreme bench for the past month and hearing a number of cases, has prepared and delivered ten opinions on cases coming before the court and in all of these cases the opinions of Judge Begley were unanimously adopted and stand as law. One of the cases was especially important as establishing a precedent in compensation cases and in which the court brought out many new points and rulings on the compensation law which make it more clear and just as was the intention of the law makers creating the measure.

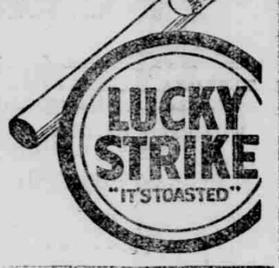

Preventive Medicine
The tendency of medical science is toward preventative measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of the grip. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold hangs on, the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is folly to risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifle. Weyrich & Hadraba.

BEAT NEW CODE BILL IN HOUSE WITH EMERGENCY RULE

Four Republicans Line up With Democrats to Defeat Measure—Victory for Bryan.

Lincoln, April 12.—With four republicans lined up on the side of the ten democrats, the state senate failed this morning to pass, with an emergency clause, Senate File No. 2, so-called Reed-Hastings bill, re-enacting the code by a vote of 17 to 14.

Twenty-three votes are required for an emergency clause, which makes the bill effective immediately as the author of this bill contemplated.

By the same vote, with the same republican defection, the senate passed Senate File No. 215, a companion bill removing from the governor the power of appointment and removal of code subordinates under the secretary. This bill did not carry an emergency clause.

Failure to muster sufficient votes on Senate File No. 2, although it passed without the emergency clause, complicates the republican program to force Governor Bryan into an acceptance of the code. This bill provided that unless Governor Bryan should name code secretaries and have them confirmed before the present session of the legislature closed, the present republican constitutional officers would automatically head the code department.

Failure of the emergency clause, however, would hold up the bill from passage until July, when the legislature would not be in session and the governor, if he saw fit, could make his own appointments under the code for interim until the next session.

REPUBLICANS DISCUSS THE COMING CAMPAIGN

Hope to Clear 1920 Deficit of $300,000 by June—Upham Confers with Harding Yesterday.

Washington, April 12.—Preliminary discussion relative to the 1924 convention city of the republican party, together with the making of plans to wipe out the remainder of the deficit incurred by the republicans in the 1920 campaign and a survey of the general political situation constitute the outstanding developments of a series of conferences with republican leaders concluded here tonight by Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the republican national committee.

Participants in the conference with Mr. Upham included John T. Adams, chairman of the republican national committee, who returned to Washington today after a trip abroad, Secretaries Weeks and Davis, Rush Holland, assistant attorney general and others prominent in the councils of the party. Mr. Upham, during his two-day stay in the capitol also has had two conferences with President Harding, but at these politics have been entered upon, it was explained, only in a general way.

The discussions which have been in progress and which will be continued by Mr. Upham tomorrow in New York with Charles D. Hilles, republican national committeeman for New York and Will H. Hays, former republican national chairman, are understood from some of those who saw the republican treasurer to have developed:

That consideration now is being given to six cities, Chicago, Kansas City, San Francisco, Cleveland, Washington and Buffalo as the site for the 1924 convention.

That the deficit of approximately $1,700,000 resulting from the 1920 campaign has been reduced to about $300,000 and that steps have been taken which it is hoped by party leaders will wipe it out completely by June 1st.

The party leaders expect that the fortunes of the republican party in 1924 may turn largely on the general business conditions obtaining during the next nineteen months.
