DEATH OF JOSHUA

And it came to pass after these things that Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the Lord, died, being an hundred and ten years old.—Joshua xxiv, 29.

Some people are trying to make garden. Slow work.

France is determined not to give up until Germany does.

From the querulous notes of the robin, the early worm is late.

Who knows where vice president Coolidge is spending his vacation?

Never let a seed store cheat you. There are 556,000 seeds in a bushel of wheat.

Rodolph Valentino, the movie sheik, will take a rest for his nerves, but not for his nerve.

The United States may be a terrible country, but in Russia the alphabet has 35 letters.

It is only natural for girls to know more about kissing because they kiss either men or women.

Are we to have a ball club of genuine players this season. Time to move in that direction.

A Paris newspaper started by janitors is bankrupt. It cleaned up no better than janitors do.

At a Boston charity fete society girls sold kisses for a dollar each, or one smacker per smack.

The way to build up a fine community is helping one another and prosperity will advance.

Our guess is that the Pennsylvania man accused of having 14 wives took his divorces for granted.

A burglar entered a Detroit home, ate a meal and went to sleep, so the cops caught him napping.

There are about 5,000 different languages in the world and money speaks about 5,000 of them.

A London scientist says people can see with their skins. We saw a girl with all eyes on her legs.

A man fell off the Brooklyn bridge and was unhurt so he always will have something to talk about.

The first sign of spring in Sequatchee, Tenn., was when a man broke his leg jumping off a barn.

Among things looking better going than coming are troubles and trousers which bag at the knees.

Let us all join hands in the grand fervent hope that April will behave herself as she steps off the stage.

Burmese girls cannot enter society without ear plugs. American boys cannot enter without spark plugs.

When an airplane loaded with booze landed on a Maine farmer's roof, the drinks were on the house.

Maybe the man who figured Europe has 20,000,000 more women than men counted them in church.

An aviator who flew 233 miles an hour could go to town almost as quickly as he could not stay at home.

Isadora Duncan says she is a woman without a country. America is a good country for her to be without.

Since a Grand Rapids, Michigan man had 48 diamonds stolen from under his bed it doesn't sleep so well.

They say Einstein, of Einstein's theory, has another discovery. Perhaps he has understood Einstein's theory.

Gauging is wrong when you want to have a prosperous town. The people will stand almost anything but gauging.

It is better to have loved and lost, than to be stuck in the divorce in a few years for half you have saved up for a rainy day.

Most cities celebrate annual clean up week in April. But every week in the year is clean up week for the swindlers and stock fakirs.

The present is the "dangerous age" for man.

It takes a wise person to know enough not to know anything at the right time.

A Detroit woman says she became a bigamist to spite her first husband. Well, did it?

If the joke is not on Governor Bryan it must be on the members of the republican legislature.

Harding will seek to untangle the tariff. Be careful, Mr. President, that you don't make it worse.

As a general thing, after a man takes out a heavy accident policy he never sees another accident.

Of course a man has other expenses but a good collar button lasts him a long time if he doesn't lose it.

It is too bad that America has no leisure class, and if we had the money we would start one ourself.

Colonel Harvey, ambassador to England and family are planning a short visit to America. Oh, Lord!

The thing that worries Europe most is the fear that she will do some of the things she threatens to do.

Have you ever noticed that the man who has no tact usually is the fellow who brags about his frankness.

If this exposure to spring weather continues it is going to drive the justly celebrated female sex back to summer furs.

We should like to give our readers an idea of the German debt in marks, but we haven't enough ciphers on the linotype.

Sometimes a man spends too much time playing golf and others spend too much time wondering why they play it at all.

A Topeka judge has ruled that a policeman's nose is a competent witness in a liquor case. We should think some consideration should be given to the defendant's nose, too, in liquor cases.

A Wisconsin farmer has sued a telephone girl for $11,500 damages, alleging breach of promise. Now the telephone girl will understand the thrill that comes once in an editor's lifetime when an irate subscriber sues him for $15,000 libel damages.

One hopeful sign is that American railroads broke all existing records in the week ending March 17 by loading 9,474,662 freight cars. It was an increase of more than a million over the corresponding week last year and nearly two million better than 1921. The bare facts furnish indisputable reason for optimism.

In a nutshell The Burlington shops are here; they employ almost the year round from 700 to 1,000 men and pay out twice a month thousands of dollars. The greatest part of this money is paid out to the merchants of Plattsmouth. Then, don't these business men in shipping and in receiving goods owe the hauling to the Burlington? This is the way it looks to every common sense person and in a way reciprocity and justice. And justice means right.

According to union officials there are still 150,000 railway shopmen out on strike. The strike was called upwards of a year ago and these men have been out of employment ever since. The railroads aver that they have more men now at work in their shops than ever before. So far as they are concerned the strike is ancient history. Yet there are still 150,000 former employes who have cut themselves from the payroll. They have had one more strike experience.

YOUR DOUBLE

Have you ever met your double? Somewhere, walking the earth at this very moment, is a person who is such an exact duplicate of you that, brought together, few could tell you apart.

Occasionally your attention is called to the law of duplicates, when newspapers discover and print pictures of the doubles of famous politicians, movie stars and so on.

You, of course, have had the experience of a stranger mistaking you for some one living at a distance. Sometimes the resemblance is so striking that the stranger thinks you are joshing when you inform him that he is mistaken.

The real you—that mysterious and indefinable inner something that includes thought and character and emotion—is never duplicated exactly, though occasionally each of us meet a person whose viewpoint is so strikingly similar to ours that it bewilders us.

An extraordinary case of mistaken identity was exposed the other day in England. Detectives arrested a man on the charge of being an army deserter who was found to be the double of the man wanted.

He even had the same name, lived on the same street, followed the same trade in civilian life and joined the army on the same day. Their finger prints differ.

The long arm of coincidence in this case, operated to an extent never equaled in fiction, even "The Prisoner of Zenda."

We not only have living duplicates but we are duplicates of people who lived in the past. Old settlers have often observed this—how a boy or girl is almost an exact double of some ancestor of a few generations since.

Photography is a comparatively recent invention, so few of us can check back and find our double of long ago. In families where old paintings have been preserved for several generations, the recurrence of "looks" is almost universally recognized.

It would be great sport to turn the clock back a few centuries and come face to face with the man or woman whose features, build and mannerisms have cropped out in us.

Even more fascinating would be to turn the clock the other way and see the persons of the distant future who will be doubles of us who are living today.

This recurrence of doubles, generation after generation, probably is what started the oriental belief in reincarnation.

THE BOOK OF AGES

Printing presses have been running overtime since the close of the world war. One explanation of this extraordinary activity will occur readily enough to everyone—the presses have had to be busy in order to turn out the tremendous volumes of paper money required by Germany, Russia and the other countries with sadly depreciated currency. Another explanation that is nearer the real one would be the last one to suggest itself to the average persons—the unprecedented demand for copies of the Bible.

One organization alone, the American Bible Society, has plans that contemplate the distribution of at least 5,000,000 and possibly 6,000,000 copies, and its officials say that even at that they will be unable to meet the demands that will be made upon them. Recently the society placed the largest single order for Bibles known in the history of the book—an order for 3,000,000 copies of six separate books of the scriptures.

These tiny volumes will be turned out on huge rotary presses at the rate of 10,000 copies an hour. It is a far cry from production of that sort back to the days of Gutenberg when the printing of the first Bible, called the Mazarin Bible, on movable block types took about five years, from 1450 to 1455. It marks amazing progress in the printers' craft, but of far greater significance is the fact that the book first to be printed has always been the one most greatly in demand. No book has ever reached so many millions nor had so great an influence on the world. It stands pre-eminently the book of the ages.
