LAW PROVIDES FOR 'JUICE' ON FARMS

Measure for Electrifying Country Places Becomes Operative August 2—Great Help.

Lincoln, June 13.—Another step by legislation toward ultimately putting electricity into every farm home in Nebraska will be taken August 2 when a law making this more possible will become effective.

This law, House Roll 515, provides that any farmer who will pay expenses of connecting with the transmission line of any power plant privately or publicly owned, may demand service. If there is any dispute about the rate the farmer or company may go before the railway commission and have the rate adjusted.

The commission is deluged with letters of inquiry relative to this law. The letters signify that farmers are determined to have the same luxuries as the city residents and this law passed by the legislature is admittedly one of the greatest assets given farmers to date in the way of electrifying their farm homes and barns.

Nebraska, according to figures obtained from the railway commission, is rapidly filling with hydroelectric plants which have captured power from the Republican, Platte, Loup, Blue and Niobrara rivers.

At present there are approximately 100 towns supplied with electricity by this means. In most instances the water power supplies a number of adjacent villages and it is to the transmission lines between these villages that Nebraska farmers may build connecting lines.

MIDDLEWEST HIT BY SHORTAGE OF FARM LABORERS

Six States Report Need for Competent Help—Scarcity of Skilled Workers is Impending.

Lincoln, June 13.—Unemployment in Nebraska during May was confined principally to female clerical and sales workers, according to a report from the office of the director general of the United States employment service for the west north central district, under the Department of Labor. Available building mechanics are all employed the report said, and road and construction work was drawing heavily upon common labor.

A shortage of experienced farm help was reported. The situation in the larger cities of the state was reported as follows: "Omaha—A shortage of skilled labor is anticipated within two or three weeks. Buildings under construction include the Bankers' Reserve Life building, Technical High school and other large projects. In the meat packing industry and in railroad shops the conditions were about the same as the preceding months, with increased forces on city road and paving projects noted.

Buildings under construction are working overtime. There is a continued scarcity of competent farm help. "Lincoln—There is a scarcity of farm and common labor. A housing shortage obtains but the building program now under way will take care of this by the close of the summer. The demand and supply of skilled labor are about equal.

"Hastings—There is a shortage of competent farm labor. Local manufacturing plants are operating on a full time basis, with no unemployment apparent.

"Grand Island—There were no industrial changes of importance during the past month. All local building tradesmen are employed, and an excellent outlook for the summer prevails. A shortage of farm help obtains.

Every state in the district—Minnesota, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas, North and South Dakota—reported shortages of competent farm help. Also in all states highway construction work was making new demands upon labor. Most of the states reported industrial plants working full time, and in a few cities these plants were working overtime. Some cities in Kansas reported a temporary surplus of common labor.

STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION ADJOURNS

Prof. Gregg, University Place, is Selected President—Pledged to Enforce Dry Statutes.

Kearney, Neb., June 14.—Recommending the observance of a state Sunday school convention day by the churches and Sunday schools, on the second Sunday preceding the convention and pledging themselves to a program designed to make forever secure the enforcement of the 18th amendment, the Nebraska State Sunday school convention, embodying these expressions in a series of resolutions enacted, adjourned in final general session this afternoon.

The closing meeting was held tonight at the Teacher college auditorium, where the pageant, "The Light of the World" was repeated after hundreds had been turned away last night for want of seating capacity.

The convention just concluded is said to be the greatest ever held in the history of the association since its foundation 57 years ago. The total registration exceeded 3,500 despite poor road conditions following days of constant rain.

STATE LABOR BODY TO TAKE STAND ON POLITICAL ISSUES

Federation Secretary in Omaha to Confer with Other Officials on Aims of Convention.

When the Nebraska State Federation of Labor convenes this summer a number of problems will be brought before the delegates for solution, according to C. P. Birk, of Grand Island, secretary, who is in Omaha conferring with other officials and members of the executive board of the organization relative to the exact date and place of the convention.

One of these problems, Mr. Birk said, will be the part the federation is to take in the coming general election campaigns in 1924. Although the state convention is not to be held until after the national gathering of the farmer-labor party which meets at Chicago, Tuesday, July 3, the Nebraska labor organization already has outlined plans for the preliminary work of organizing and marshaling of forces.

The plan of the federation, according to Mr. Birk, contemplates co-operation with other organizations which are backing the third party movement in the state, and if the labor federation finds it necessary merge its political identity with that of the whole party, it will do so, at least for the time, in an effort to bring about unity of purpose and a closer co-operation.

A number of prominent Nebraskans are expected to attend the meeting at Chicago and bring back first-hand information for their fellow-members in the various organizations they will represent. Among those who will go to the Chicago convention there will be a representative of the Nebraska labor interests, according to the secretary, although the delegate has not yet been named.

Other problems to come before the Nebraska convention will include relations between the various organizations within the federation, the stand of the federation on state questions and a number of things of lesser importance.

The state convention probably will be held either in Omaha or Lincoln during the first week in August, Mr. Birk said. The exact date and place are to be announced within a few days.

CLOUDBURST AT WICHITA AGAIN FLOODS STREETS

Rain is Driven by 54-Mile Wind—Houses are Destroyed and Trees Uprooted.

Wichita, Kan., June 14.—Driven before a 54-mile wind, a terrific rain of cloudburst proportions swept Wichita late today threatening to send neighboring streams out of their banks again for a second time this week. In an hour and one-half more than three inches of rain fell. Hall accompanied the downpour.

Two houses in the residential district were wrecked by the wind, trees were denuded and streets of the entire city were flooded.

Merchants who had just laid aside their supply of sandbags—their only protection from the recent flood—banned their doors high again tonight as water in the street rose over the sidewalk and invaded their stores.

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 14.—Oklahoma City passed the crisis of its worst flood today and tonight the North Canadian river was slowly falling.

At noon the crest of the flood brought the river up a foot higher than at any time since records have been kept here by the federal weather bureau.

Tulsa, Okla., June 14.—The task of rehabilitating the muck smeared and water soaked flood area between Tulsa and Sand Springs and in West Tulsa was under way tonight as the Arkansas river continued to recede. At 6 tonight the river gauge showed 16 feet above normal, a drop of nearly four feet from the high mark of early yesterday.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS HAVE A FINE TIME LAST NIGHT

Methodist Church Parlor Scene of a Pleasant Gathering Last Evening at League Meet.

From Saturday's Daily. One of the most pleasant social events of the church year was held last evening at the parlor of the First Methodist church when the Epworth League society held a delightful get together banquet and of the sixty-three assembled at the banquet board they were all practically members of the society and evinced the closest interest in the proceedings of the evening.

The parlor had been most tastefully arranged for the gathering as the summer roses and peonies with ferns were used extensively in making the parlors more than usually attractive.

The ladies of Circle No. 4 of the aid society had been entrusted with the task of providing the feast for the banquet and certainly were not found wanting in the delicious repast that was spread before the leaguers and their friends. The menu was as follows: Fruit Cocktail, Creamed Chicken, Mashed Potatoes, Peas, Brick Ice Cream, Angel Food Cake.

The invocation at the banquet board was offered by Rev. F. E. Ploutz, pastor of the church, and following this the young people proceeded to make rapid headway with the feast prepared for them.

The president of the league in a few well chosen words introduced the toastmaster at the close of the banquet and the members of the party were greatly pleased to learn that Meson Wescott, long a member of the local organization, was to preside over the toast list and which he did with becoming dignity and eloquence, and which proved one of the pleasurable features of the evening.

Miss Olive Bonge gave a very charming piano number, "Hark, Hark, the Lark," by Schubert, in her usual artistic manner and which was followed by a number of short and very much to the point addresses by members.

"I Have Been" was the toast of Miss Florence Balser and was very appropriate as Miss Balser has occupied all of the various offices of the league and told of the inspirations received in the work of the league.

"I Am" was responded to by Byron Babbitt, now one of the active leaders in the league work and which was exceptionally good and to the point.

One of the pleasing features of the toast list was Will DeWitt, of Mexico, and his desire and intention to enter on the work of the league and the benefits that he had pictured should come from the life and work of the Epworth League member.

A quartet, composed of Harriett Peterson, of Plattsmouth, Helen Ploutz and Olive Bonge, gave one number, "All Kinds of Women," that was a pleasing addition to the program of the evening.

The main address was by Rev. Arthur Atack, pastor of the Hanscom Park Methodist church of Omaha, and was one of the best that has been given at any of the community gatherings in many months here, speaker took as his subject, "Play the Game," and pictured life as a baseball diamond on which the men and women played the game of life and in his address was most very pleasing comparisons of the doings of every day life with the great national game. He pointed out that the game should be played according to the rules to make a safe home run, and among the elements necessary for the success of the team or individual must be enthusiasm, teamwork, sacrifice hits and above all headwork.

The address was most thoroughly enjoyed and at its close the young men and women found much food for thought in the remarks of the pastor.

Following the address of Rev. Atack, Miss Alice Louise Wescott gave two whistling numbers, "Indian Love Song" and "Come, For it's June," which were very much enjoyed.

The very pleasant gathering was closed by the benediction by Jesse Perry, flag of the leaders in the league work.

Remember BARGAIN WEDNESDAY, June 20th, will be our next buying day in Plattsmouth, and we will be on hand rain or shine, prepared to take care of all poultry offered.

Many Plattsmouth People Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

Do you have backache? Are you tired and worn out? Feel dizzy, nervous and depressed? Are the kidney secretions irregular?

Highly colored; contain sediment? Likely your kidneys are at fault. Weak kidneys give warning of distress.

Heed the warning; don't delay—Use a tested kidney remedy. Read this Plattsmouth testimony.

Louis Kroehler, one of the proprietors of Kroehler Bros. hardware store at 542 (new numbers) Main street, says: "I had pains in my back and was so lame I could hardly stoop and my kidneys were weak. I had a tired, languid feeling all the time and headaches were common. I got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at Rynott's drug store and began taking them. They soon relieved me of the trouble. I am pleased to recommend such a valuable remedy."

The above statement was given on April 10, 1912, and on May 12, 1920, Mr. Kroehler added: "I am of the opinion that Doan's Kidney Pills are a splendid remedy for kidney ailments. I haven't needed them in a number of years. I have great faith in Doan's."

SHOULD STAY ON RANCH

From Saturday's Daily. Last evening two men employed on the "hog ranch" as it is known, near Cullom, were brought into the city by Sheriff Quinton and were suffering from a load of very high tension spirits that made their progress on the highway with an auto a matter of grave doubt.

The men had brought a comrade on into this city and then started back to the ranch but their progress was decidedly slow and filled with much trouble. They left here at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and in the shades of dusk were falling when they were reported near the residence of Ed Lutz, Jr., their car having gracefully slid into the ditch and the men were in no condition to handle the situation.

The sheriff motored out in company with William Grebe and brought in the men and they were lodged in the county bastille until Mr. Hammond, the manager of the "ranch" and their employer, could get in and secure their release by placing in the hands of Justice William Weber the sum sufficient to satisfy the feelings of outraged justice. One of the men gave the name of "Swede" Graham while the other member was unable to tell the court just who he was.

The trip will be a costly one to the parties as the costs and fines will produce a neat sum. The one man, James Carinog, received a fine of $100 and costs in police court and John Graham $25 in the justice court.

JUDGE BEGLEY TO SPEAK ON BAND RADIO PROGRAM

ON BAND RADIO PROGRAM

In connection with the Eagles band program to be broadcast from WOVW July 9th, under auspices of the local American Legion post, Judge James T. Begley will give the brief address allotted to community programs of this kind and inasmuch as this will be Plattsmouth's second program from WOVW, instead of centering his remarks upon Plattsmouth, Judge Begley will speak upon a subject of particular interest to ex-service men and American Legion members listening in from coast to coast. Mr. Begley is a most capable speaker and has a clear enunciation that should make his voice carry well over the radio.

In connection with this mention of the program, it should be stated that this is not an individual artists' program, but confined largely to the band numbers, hence not more than two or three soloists will be given opportunity to appear at this time. In September, after the static clears up, another artists' program will undoubtedly be assigned this city, when a score or more of the talented musicians from this city will again appear in recital similar to the May 15th program. For the present, however, only the heavier voices and band numbers are able to push out through the static successfully and it is for this reason that the program will be made up wholly of just that kind of music.

And by the way, our band is preparing a program that will entitle them to a front seat in the radio band-wagon, as you will say yourself after you have heard it come in on 527 meters.

STILL DISCUSSING OLD TIME LEGEND

E. D. Howe, of Table Rock, Says the Allen Version of "Weeping Water" is in Error.

E. D. Howe, of Table Rock, says the T. S. Allen version of the Weeping Water legend is a reversal of the record, declares the Lincoln State Journal. He writes as follows.

"T. S. Allen is certainly mistaken in the story which he tells concerning Lincoln and the name Weeping Water. In a book called 'Field, Dungeon and Escape,' written by A. D. Richardson, war correspondent for the New York Tribune, and published in 1865, Richardson went to see Lincoln at the white house, and Lincoln began telling anecdotes of the time he and Richardson campaigned together in the west. Among other stories he told the following:

"Somewhere in Nebraska, the party came to a little creek, the Indian name of which signified Weeping Water. Mr. Lincoln remarked, with a good deal of aptness, that as laughing water, according to Longfellow, was 'Minne-haha,' the name of this rivulet should evidently be 'Minne-boohoo.'"
