

Lincoln Hotel Man Is Out With Facts

"Tanlac made me feel like a brand new man, and I never miss a chance to praise it," recently declared Harry E. Baldrige, 230 N. 11th street, Lincoln, Neb., popular clerk in the Windsor hotel.

"For a year or more I had been losing ground so fast it worried me. I lost my appetite and after meals gas formed on my stomach in such quantities as to cause my heart to palpitate terribly. I was so nervous I couldn't sleep and in the morning would feel so played out the day was ruined for me. Headaches and biliousness finished putting me where I was always miserable.

"Tanlac built me up ten pounds in weight and gave me the energy of a college athlete. All my troubles are entirely gone and I eat and sleep fine. Whenever one of our guests says he doesn't feel right, I always advise Tanlac. It's a safe and sure treatment every time."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

DEATH OF MRS. F. A. BOEDEKER OCCURS AT NEHAWKA

Well Known Resident of That Locality Dies Very Suddenly at 2:30 Wednesday Morning.

Mrs. A. F. Boedecker, one of the highly esteemed ladies residing north of Nehawka, was called to her final reward at 2:30 Wednesday morning, death coming very suddenly as the result of an attack of heart trouble and came as a great shock to the husband and the three sons, that constitute the family circle.

Mrs. Boedecker was fifty-nine years of age and has resided for the greater part of her lifetime in the community where her death occurred and among a large circle of friends she was known as a kind and affectionate wife and mother and a splendid neighbor and her death has occasioned the greatest of regret to the host of old friends.

The deceased lady was formerly Miss Mathilde Weike, and her family were pioneer residents of the vicinity of Nehawka and of her family there remain three brothers all residing in Pierce county.

Mrs. Boedecker is survived by her husband and three sons, Frank A. Boedecker, state bank examiner; Ed and Dewey Boedecker, who reside in the vicinity of Nehawka.

A Circle Tour of our Golden West

Going via the Pacific Northwest Returning from California via Colorado. The Low Cost of the Trip Will Surprise You

It is an experience of a lifetime to become acquainted with the great storehouses of scenic, climatic, agricultural, and other wealth in the Pacific Northwest and California.

In making such a trip, it is both natural and logical for one to select that route on which the most and the best of the astounding wonders in our fascinating West can be viewed from the car window.

To the end that Burlington patrons may reap the fullest possible measure of delight, benefit and inspiration which such a wonderful trip affords, schedules have been developed and perfected via two widely different routes so that the most of the best scenery is passed during daylight hours.

Through the combination of these two routes par excellence into one grand circle tour of our impressive and progressive West, you can travel several thousand miles through a dozen great states, on one ticket.

You can see practically every kind of scenery, every phase of topography, every variety of plant life, every species of animal life, every sort of mineral wealth, and every beauty of landscape that the entire American West affords.

Aside from the broadened vision which travel only can give, such a trip may take you to the land of your dreams, to a home in this wonderful land of natural beauties, to an opportunity in this wonderland of natural wealth, with a future wide open.

Let me tell you more about it and let your home-town railroad introduce you this summer. R. W. CLEMENT Ticket Agent

POULTRY FARM THAT IS A REAL ONE IN VICINITY

W. F. Nolte of Near Mynard Has a Real High Powered Flock of Thoroughbred Hens.

There is a high powered flock of laying hens on the W. F. Nolte farm near Mynard, Neb. We have high powered because Mr. Nolte has some egg records which back up this statement. Not only that but it is interesting to note that when in company with L. R. Snipes, the county agent of Cass county, we visited the pens not long ago we found that nine out of ten hens at one side of the poultry house were occupied by the aggressive hard working single comb White Leghorn hens. We were especially interested in visiting Mr. Nolte and his flock for the reason that many years ago, we had the privilege of having Mr. Nolte as a student in one of our agricultural classes. He came to college at that time to secure practical information along farm lines, for being a farm raised boy he liked the farm and had determined that life on the farm was his choice.

A Big Incubator

The trip to this farm afforded us the opportunity of seeing the mammoth incubator which Mr. Nolte has installed. When this incubator is all loaded up ready for a hatch it holds 250 dozen or 3,000 eggs. The incubator consists of 20 trays each holding 150 eggs. That the incubator has been right on the job the past spring is evident when we consider that it has been used in hatching out 11,000 chicks. Not all of these were Single Comb White Leghorns for Mr. Nolte has been doing some customizing 892 been doing considerable custom hatching. These custom hatchings have included such breeds as the Anconas, Campines and White Orpingtons. The incubator is heated by a hot water system, the heat being furnished by a hard coal heater.

Everyone admits that the temperatures of the incubators as used in hatching bear quite a vital relation to the vigor of the chicks and to the percentage of hatch. When we asked Mr. Nolte about the temperatures at which he kept the incubator he stated that for the first two weeks of the incubation period he tried to keep the temperature at about 102 1/2 degrees. The percentage of the hatch the past spring has been pretty good. Mr. Nolte has hatched 1,400 chicks of his own and the percentage ran about 83 which is counted pretty good by most poultrymen. In fact Mr. Nolte states that a hatch of from 75 to 80 per cent is counted a good average hatch.

Started with Good Blood

Mr. Nolte believes that "blood will tell" in the poultry flock. For that reason he decided when he went into the White Leghorn business that he would get some good stock. One of the best known White Leghorn establishments in the United States is the George B. Ferris establishment in Michigan. Some of the stock on the Nolte farm was secured from Mr. Ferris. Then again, some of the stock came from the state of Washington—some of the Tanager strain of White Leghorns which in that state made some records of over 300 eggs per hen per year. He also secures from time to time some of the eggs coming from high producers at the poultry farm of the state university.

These are some of the reasons why the best is filling the egg baskets. Mr. Nolte has shown his appreciation of the efforts of County Agent Snipes and the extension service of the state university to build up high producing poultry flocks by enrolling in the accredited flock project.

In fact he was one of the first in the state to start in this work. The first year of accredited mlock project his flock made an average egg laying record of 103 eggs. But that was only the beginning for when the results were all totaled up at the end of the second year of this work it was found that the egg average per hen had been increased to 113. The third year's work in the accredited flock project is now under way and there is little doubt that another record will be shattered when the year's records are all in.

The following is Mr. Nolte's record for the first six months of the third year's project beginning in November and ending in April. The returns given are for eggs and fowls sold.

Month Receipts Expenses

November	$101.96	$46.00
December	101.36	44.65
January	112.39	37.50
February	52.25	38.00
March	149.70	36.00
April	160.85	36.00

This makes total receipts of $678.61 for the six months period with expenses for feed, etc., of $238.25. The number of fowls laying during that time varied from 335 to 540.

Care of Chicks

In caring for the chicks on the Nolte farm, Mr. Nolte says that he leaves them in the incubator for 12 hours after hatching. After 72 hours they are given some water, charcoal and sand. They also receive some hard boiled eggs well chopped up. The hard boiled egg ration is given for about 10 days and then the chicks are put on a chick feed and on a mash which is self feed. This chick feed is fed for a period of four or five weeks and then such feeds as ground corn and whole wheat are out on the bill of fare.

The ration for the laying hens of the flock is a mash consisting of 1 part of corn, 2 parts of bran, 1 part of shorts, 1 part tankage and some salt. The salt is included in the mash at the rate of 10 pounds of salt to 400 pounds of the feed. The chick house on this farm is made of hollow tile, the tile being 5 inches thick. It is a single unit Nebraska type of house. The chicks are moved into this house when six weeks old.

"ON THE CORNER"

During the winter months, sprouted oats are in the ration. Mangel wurzels are also used as green feed during the winter months. Part of the garden on the Nolte farm is devoted to the growing of mangel wurzels and Mr. Nolte is well pleased with them. Besides these two green feeds, another very important feed is used—a feed rich in protein. We refer to alfalfa. In the feeding of alfalfa, Mr. Nolte prefers to use the fourth cutting of the crop. He cures it green and finds that it makes a very excellent feed. In the control of lice in the flock, sodium fluoride is used.

The editor of Paisa Akhbar, a native newspaper of Lahore, India, says: "I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy many times among my children and servants for colic and diarrhoea and always found it effective." Weyrich & Hadraba.

The Nolte farm is known as the Evergreen Stock Farm. Poultry is not the only product, but it is a very important one and the proprietor is finding out that attention to details and the proper choice of feeds and right methods is winning success in this important industry.—Stockman Journal.

FINE CELEBRATIONS AT WEeping WATER-MURRAY

Yesterday at Weeping Water there was held a very fine observance of the nation's birthday and which was attended by an unusually large crowd of the residents of the central portion of the county. One feature of the day was the double header baseball game and in which Cedar Creek defeated Louisville 12 to 8 and Weeping Water defeated the fast Eagle team by the score of 7 to 2. Hopkins pitched for Weeping Water and Trumble for Eagle.
