MORE THAN CONQUERORS

Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us.—Romans viii, 37.

Big Bargain Wednesday July 18.

What tickles a cat more than seeing a dog muzzled?

Nothing tickles a rat more than seeing a dog chasing a cat.

The big picture hats are returning. They fit like parachutes.

The screen drawing the biggest crowds now is the fly screen.

When a thing isn't as bad as it is painted it is apt to be a girl.

Wouldn't it be great if you could send the baby to the laundry?

But being swapped for a nickle cigar makes a dime feel cheap.

It is hard on a girl to marry a man whose mother was a good cook.

The movies are popular because action speaks louder than words.

Germans wanting a ride no wdon't jump as high as they did when skirts were short.

This weather makes people so lazy they take short cuts when they go out walking.

They could take in more money by making world champ prize fights two out of three.

Vacations are dangerous. The firm may learn it can get along about as well without you.

Pretext you are going to kiss her. Hit her in the eye instead. Helps you stay single in June.

It's so hot in the big towns people look like poached eggs hunting for toast to sit on.

A good pedestrian once meant a good walker. Now it means a good dodger and jumper.

Besides helping grow crops a good hard rain may keep our ball team from losing a game.

Women will not be men's equals until you can slap one on the back and borrow a dollar.

The wolves of Wall street look almost as if they've been having the mange or something.

One of the strangest things in this world is how unuseful a cast off electric light bulb is.

Coal dealers don't make so much money during the summer, but they get their friends back.

California is excited about this truth serum. Something's needed to counteract the climate.

Cows used to get scared and run ed $80,000 counterfeit money on an honest Halifax bootlegger.

Of course the fly has many faults, but he can make himself at home wherever he happens to be.

Cows used to get scared and run when they saw an auto. Now they run when they see a horse.

Terrible news from Turkey. It has gone dry. Just imagine what Turkish bootleggers will sell.

A human heart weighs about nine ounces. While a sweetheart may weigh as much as 300 pounds.

A good way for the farmer to make the politicians leave him alone is to have himself disfranchised.

A new dance is called the Banana Peel Glide. Only a yellow bunch of doubtful standing would dance it.

A prominent doctor says 98 per cent of us overeat. Our prominent cook says this estimate is too low.

French helicopter went straight up, staying up nine minutes; possibly after hearing of the new German note.

Wonder if Edgar Hays will insist on a plank pointing with pride to what the G. O. P. has done in the movie business?

Remember Bargain day, Wednesday July 18th.

Britain likely to accept Hughes' idea on reparations.

What the country needs is rubber heels for picnic ants.

People who go away for a rest don't always get one.

Henry Ford can't play golf well enough to be president.

By the time a straw hat begins to feel good it begins to look bad.

Half our cuss words were thought up by people trying to keep cool in July.

Dog days are just about due. Don't treat your husband like a dog or he may go mad.

The possibility of U. S. aid in the reparations tangle is said to cheer the Germans.

Keep clean in summer. If flies washed their feet they wouldn't get swatted so much.

It is estimated some good looking girls have been taught to swim forty times this summer.

These are the days you miss a man about two weeks, then you see him sunburnt and broke.

When you see a man making faces at another man it may be the coal man at the ice man.

Summer is worse than winter. You can't throw a little ice upon the grate and keep cool.

When you slap a man on the back and he kicks you in the eye you can see he is sunburnt.

Governor Bryan is rapidly coming to the front as a candidate for the United States senate.

Every man thinks he would feel silly playing golf. After he starts he knows he was right.

More hammocks are being sold this year. Dresses are long enough to sit in hammocks now.

A rejected Spokane suitor put dynamite under her house because she had blasted his romance.

Bargains galore for the lucky purchasers on Bargain Day next Wednesday. Make sure to be here and get your share.

Also why doesn't Mr. Edison quit tinkering on laboratory currency long enough to invent a hard boiled ice that won't melt?

John W. Davis of West Virginia, one of the best lawyers in the country, is considerably talked of as a candidate for president.

An airplane parachute jumper landed astride a cow. Everything indicates it was a forced landing so far as the cow was concerned.

In Berlin a short time ago eggs were 1,000 apiece. And the marks we may be sure, had to be strictly fresh before they were accepted.

Mr. Harding's farm purchase will scarcely ingratiate him with the bloc until it is demonstrated he doesn't mean to make a golf course of it.

South America is available for all those European sailors who imagine they couldn't stand a few days in this country without regular drinks.

Well, those beastly republicans went right ahead and took their million dollar joy ride on the Leviathan despite our stern warning on the subject.

A brochure on precious stones says that diamonds feel cold to the tongue, a statement which doubtless will discourage a diet of diamonds wherever it has been taken up.

With the grandmas bobbing their hair they are likely to be engaged in elopements. It does beat all how entrancing the view is from the rear. One often sees a snappy dresser he thinks is a flapper only to note that the party must be one of the Colonial Dames when she turns around. Such are the times and the fashions.

M'ADOO'S DECLARATION

And now comes William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, director-general of railroads, and a democratic presidential possibility, with a frank and outspoken declaration that we can best get rid of the ills that beset us by getting back to God.

Mr. McAdoo says that the practice of the Ten Commandments by our people would work a wonderful transformation. There is nothing new in the thought, of course, but it is significant inasmuch as Mr. McAdoo has never been regarded as a religious man. Little is known concerning his religious convictions or church affiliations.

A few days ago Mr. McAdoo delivered the annual address at the commencement exercises of the University of California, and here in part is what he said:

Good citizenship begins with moral character and the church is the great teacher. The religion of Christ and the Ten Commandments are the very foundation of Christian character and the very Gibraltar of democracy and democratic citizenship. In no field would the Ten Commandments work such a wholesome transformation as in the political life of the nation. If each public official and candidate for office observed these great moral precepts:

- He would worship God;
He would not bow down to or serve any graven image;
He would not take the name of God in vain;
He would keep holy the Sabbath day;
He would honor his father and mother;
He would not kill;
He would not commit adultery;
He would not steal;
He would not bear false witness;
He would not covet his neighbors' possessions.

What a marvelous example this would set, and what a righteous citizenship would develop in this great democracy! And what would prove a more effective moral and political solvent than the universal observance of the Ten Commandments. There would be no wars if this great moral code were put into practice between individuals and nations. The unbearable burdens of armament on land and sea, the crimes and wholesale slaughter now justified in the name of war, and the unspeakable woes of humanity which have come from war, would be ended. Even our political campaigns would be devoid of calumny and great issues would be settled in the light of truth and fair discussion.

Democracy is the problem of the individual, and that problem the church and our schools and universities must apply themselves with unabated zeal and vigor if the demoralizing tendencies of modern civilization are to be arrested and a higher and nobler type is to be developed.

This is not a counsel of perfection. This is a call for the revival of these high standards of morality and religion which are imperiled by the demoralization and selfishness of the time and by national and international which must give concern to every lover of liberty and humanity. We must constantly strive to attain higher ground, not alone in the development of individual character, but in the perfection of those human institutions upon which the future of civilization depends.

"UNNECESSARY" BATHING

A standing committee of the house of commons recently debated the question of whether members of the English middle class needed to bathe, and decided, by a vote of 25 to 19, that they did not.

Englishmen can no longer accuse us of political action to private affairs in such little matters as the right of a man to take a drink.

The issue came during a discussion of the housing bill. One Captain Wedgwood Been moved an amendment to the effect that fixed baths should be installed in all houses converted or altered with the assistance of local authorities. One Colonel Newman immediately responded that "their grandfathers of the middle class only washed twice in their lives: once when they were born and again when they died; the process in both cases being entirely involuntary."

A certain Major Malone added that a bath was not a necessity, but a luxury, and that, "as a matter of fact, some of the most healthy people do not wash at all."

The opinion prevailed that the provision for a fixed bath would prevent the conversion of many houses and make it impossible to give the benefits of the bill to the middle class. So it was voted that the middle class should have the benefits of the bill, but not the benefit of the bath.

MORE NEBRASKA CITY COMMENT

From Friday's Daily

Last evening local radio fans were treated to an excellent program from the WOAW station in Omaha, when the Plattsmouth Eagles band and other local musicians put on the second radio program for that city.

Judge Begley delivered a short talk on the American Legion which was greatly enjoyed by the fans. The weather of the evening was ideal for broadcasting and no static interference was encountered. Plattsmouth can well be proud of her radio artists.—Neb. City News.

Plattsmouth's second community radio concert, featuring the Eagles band of that city and an address on "The Legion on Fatigue Duty," by Judge James T. Begley of the district court was intensely listened to by radio fans in Nebraska City Monday night in spite of the super-heated atmosphere and a broken heat record for the year.

Judge Begley's address, which occupied about ten minutes, briefly recited the purpose for which the American Legion was established and praised the former soldiers for their stand on public questions. The program given through Station WOAW, Omaha, was under the direction of the Plattsmouth American Legion Post.—Neb. City Press.

A BRILLIANT METEOR

Several of our citizens were given a great surprise on Wednesday morning between the hours of two and three o'clock. A tremendous meteor shot across the sky in the northwest and for a minute or two everything was intensely bright. The peculiar thing about it was that it remained in the heavens possibly for the space of five minutes and gradually grew dimmer until it faded away. This peculiar phenomena is hardly explainable and is a job only for the astronomer.—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

Tom Cromwell of Grant was here last evening attending to some matters of business.

A WORD WITH WOMEN

Valuable Advice for Plattsmouth Readers in Home Testimonial

Many a woman endures with noble patience the daily misery of backache, pains about the hips, blue, nervous spells, dizziness and urinary disorders, hopeless of relief because she doesn't know what is the matter.

It is not true that every pain in the back or hips is trouble "peculiar to the sex." Often when the kidneys get congested and inflamed, such aches and pains follow.

Then help the weakened kidneys. Don't expect them to get well alone. Doan's Kidney Pills have won the praise of thousands of women. They are endorsed at home—Read this Plattsmouth woman's convincing statement:

Mrs. S. L. Cotner, Marble street, gave the following statement February 23, 1916: "I am glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for I know from personal experience that they are a remedy of merit. I have taken Doan's on several occasions for backache and kidney trouble and they have always done me good. Doan's have been used in our family for a long time and the results have been very satisfactory."

On May 13, 1920, Mrs. Cotner said: "The cure Doan's Kidney Pills made for me has lasted." Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Cotner had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.
